RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LAUGHNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules as committed, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 111, and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 1, 1943.

The oil reserves of the Nation are being used up faster than oil is being produced.

It has been stated by competent authority that there will be a serious shortage of oil in the future unless new wells are developed.

The development of new wells can be accelerated only by the raising of the present ceiling price on crude oil.

The present profit per well is now so low that there is no incentive for the assumption of the risk attendant upon the drilling of new wells: therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Office of Price Administration of the Federal Government to raise the ceiling price on crude oil so that there will be some prospect of profit held out to those who have oil land which could be developed, in order that the production of oil might be increased and the oil reserves of the country be raised, to normal levels; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, there is no one who could have any quarrel with any program that will help the Pennsylvania oil producers or in fact that will help oil producers anywhere in America, if the proven fact is that rationing did not permit oil producers to make a profit. The only difficulty I find with the resolution before us, Mr. Speaker, is not that it proposes a certain thing, but rather the national import of it to all of us. It is rather a serious sort of resolution to vote upon without facts, proven facts in regard to the subject matter of the resolution that will give us the information necessary to intelligently vote upon it. There is no objection, of course, to this side of the House voting "aye" on this resolution. However, we make the mental reservation that we trust everything possible is being done for the good of producers in Pennsylvania, and we trust that the general price structure on oil will help Pennsylvania's producers in line with a national policy of production. We in Pennsylvania, I do not believe, want to have any preference over oil producers elsewhere in the nation, and we think the mental reservation ought to be made that if anything can be done for oil producers in America, without necessarily giving Pennsylvania any advantage, and if the oil situation generally throughout the nation can be made better, if the facts support the premise, then I suppose this resolution has a place, and can have some helpful effect generally throughout the country.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 8, by striking out the following: "in cities of the second class"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 10, by striking out all of said line.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. What is the effect of the amendments the gentleman has just offered to House Bill 753?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, it makes the bill applicable as against first class cities exactly as the bill now reads.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman further explain to the House and to the Speaker what the effect will then be in the cities of the first and second class?

Mr. BRETHERICK. The first class cities will not be permitted to levy wage, occupation or sales tax, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I thank the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

Mr. Speaker, I think the House has some knowledge of House Bill 753 and these amendments. House Bill 753 reenacts and amends the Act of 1932. The Act of 1932 gave to cities of the first and second class the power to levy taxes on all subjects and transactions of matters not taxed by the state.

As to cities of the second class that power expired by virtue of a provision of the Act in 1935. It has continued on the books as to Philadelphia, and it is under that Act that the Philadelphia sales, wage and occupation tax is levied.

I introduced House Bill 753 in order that the city of Pittsburgh might once again have the power to levy taxes on subjects not taxed by the state as it had had in 1932 to 1935. It was not intended that any sales, wage or occupation tax should be levied in the city of Pittsburgh. It was a part of the Democratic platform that such taxes should not be levied. However, some questions sprang up because the Act is couched in broad, general terms that such a tax might be levied, and before the bill even came on the floor of the House, in order to put at rest all of those fears I amended House Bill 753 in committee, specifically providing that in cities of the second class under this broad general granting of power there should be no sales, wage or occupation tax.

It was also provided that the proceeds of any tax levied under the bill should go to the reduction of real estate taxes, and funds, of course, arising from this tax and going into the general fund as provided would necessarily involve a reduction in real estate taxes.

The amendments that Mr. Bretherick now seeks would extend the provisions of House Bill 753 to cities of the first class. I think it is only fair to comment that here is a bill which last week flared across the city of Pittsburgh newspapers as a sales, wage and occupation tax, and is now not being used as a sales or wage tax, but is being sought to be used as a preventative. I think that bespeaks volumes as to what the original intent of the Act was and as to what its ultimate intention will be.

On the amendments, Mr. Speaker, I have this to say; I hesitate to see the bill become embroiled in the Philadelphia situation. It was put in by me only to apply to the city of Pittsburgh. The amendments offered by Mr. Bretherick will not affect the situation in Pittsburgh, and I have no objection to them for that reason.

As a general proposition I am against wage and sales taxes and as a member of the Democratic party pledged to that program, and in that sense I am for Mr. Bretherick's amendments and I propose to vote for them. I ask the membership of the House to consider carefully the remarks I have made in reference to these amendments and the bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Bretherick a question or two. I do not want to interrogate him; I never interrogate anyone, but I would like to receive some information from the gentleman from Delaware if I can.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I never interrogate anybody. I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware what the purport of his amendment is.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I have already explained that once.

Mr. SALUS. Not to me, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. The purport of the amendments is to make the bill applicable to first and second class cities—first class cities as well as second class cities.

Mr. SALUS. That is all.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this is an effort to rehash a bill that has already been defeated in this House. I have no objection and will vote for any bill that Mr. Bretherick presents in this House affecting his own county, but when he introduces measures to try to rob the city of Philadelphia I think he is getting out of his own territory. His county is a rather large county, and I think if he legislates to put that county on the map I believe he will have all the work that he can do, and if he does that successfully, not only the people in his county, but the people in Pennsylvania will be very thankful to him. I ask him however, to stay out of the management of Philadelphia County. I have no objections to the bill so far as Pittsburgh is concerned. If Pittsburgh feels as though they want to tie their administrative bodies up, that is up to them; they have a perfect right to do it.

This wage tax or occupation tax that we have in Philadelphia has already been passed; it is a part of our budget system. The money is being allocated to places where the money should be placed in order to carry the expenses of Philadelphia, and I certainly object to this amendment, and I ask the Members not only of the Philadelphia delegation but all the rest of the Members to vote this amendment down.

Fundamentally this is against the home rule proposition. If the city of Pittsburgh wants this legislation and their Members want it, that is their say and we will be perfectly willing to go along with them. If Delaware County wants that kind of legislation, let Mr. Bretherick come in with a bill for Delaware County and we will be glad to go along with him. We will be glad to go along with any other county in the state that wants this kind of legislation, if they think it is beneficial to their county, but Philadelphia has its wage tax; it is important that it shall remain and that the money shall be paid in to our city treasury. When the time comes that we can conduct our city without the imposition of a wage tax we will be only too glad to do it.

The men in Delaware County who work there and come back to Philadelphia to live are perfectly willing to pay the tax. If those who live in Delaware County and work in Philadelphia do not enjoy that tax, they should find employment in Delaware County. We could very readily fill the kind of places that the Delaware County inhabitants have, places of importance in Philadelphia. Delaware County has replaced the kind of people we sent down there, but the group that comes from Delaware County are the clerks and the high salaried people, and we have people by the hundreds in Philadelphia that would love to have these jobs if they will only stay back home.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Delaware as to whether or not the effect of his amendments on the City of Philadelphia, it being a first class city, would be to prohibit it from assessing a sales, wage and occupational tax?

Mr. BRETHERICK. It would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as a member of the House representing a district in Philadelphia I want to make my particular position very clear. The amendments of the gentleman from Delaware are in strict conformity with what the platform in the Democratic party said prior to this last election, and it is appropriate for a member of the party to arise in support of the amendments of the gentleman from Delaware. I, therefore, would ask every member of the Democratic party in the House this afternoon to go along with the amendments of the gentleman from Delaware. I would ask the Members of the majority party to go along with these amendments in view of the fact that it is the proper kind of amendment inserted in the proper kind of bill.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, has again created the impression in this House that Delaware County is the only county affected by this Philadelphia wage tax. I think practically every county in the state of Pennsylvania is affected by this wage tax, and I previously so stated. The gentleman now makes much virtue out of home rule. When the Philadelphia wage tax ordinance was adopted, apparently they didn't give it very much consideration, because they attempted to and successfully affected those people living in the State of Pennsylvania who did not reside in that city, so home rule apparently didn't mean much to them at that time. It does now.

I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that we should not go into other communities and endeavor to legislate for them, but if they seem fit to legislate for us, and there is no other way by which we can protect ourselves except by offering legislation which adversely affects them, then I am going to legislate for my county even at the expense of Philadelphia.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has stated, as he did on other occasions that we have no right to do that sort of thing. He has stated that this House of Representatives has already defeated this legislation which, of course, is not correct. What we did was to defeat a bill which I introduced which would have made it impossible for Philadelphia to levy a tax on non-residents, a bill incidentally from which many members from Philadelphia, both on the Republican and Democratic side voted for in 1939 when the bill passed this House by a vote of 111 to 41.

Now, Members, on this legislation I say to you that during the last two or three weeks there have been suggestions since my wage tax bill was defeated in this House that similar legislation would be introduced affecting second class cities and third class cities throughout the State of Pennsylvania. This is an obnoxious form of taxation, and it will adversely affect every individual in this state that does not happen to live in a second or a third class city. Unfortunately the time has elapsed for introducing this legislation, but I intend to ask this House, if this bill is defeated,—I intend to ask this House for unanimous consent,—I know I won't get it,—to permit my county to levy an occupational wage tax on non-residents coming into our county and working in war industries, and I want to assure you that we are going to catch about thirty-five thousand Philadelphians who are making more money than they ever did in their lives.

I think the amendments are good amendments and I think it is a good way to eliminate this obnoxious tax,—if I may use that term again in reference to this wage tax. Personally I think I am rendering a service to the Republican party in Philadelphia in so doing.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TIEMANN. Is it not a fact, Mr. Speaker, that once a bill has been voted down by this House a similar bill may not be considered during the same session?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the only question before the House is on the amendments to section 1.

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, isn't this bill similar to the bill that was voted down?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia the Chair will read rule 60.

> Not in Order to Consider Bill of Similar Character After Being Once Defeated.
> When a bill has been defeated by the House, it shall not be in order to introduce and consider a similar one, or to act on a Senate Bill of like import, during the same session.

The Chair would also inform the gentleman from Philadelphia that it would require a comparison of the bills to determine whether they are similar. The Chair is not in position to make that comparison at the desk. The question should be raised on third reading and final passage.

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, I think the intend of the sponsor of this bill is to deal with second class cities, and while we in the City of Pittsburgh may have our troubles I am inclined to think we could settle them without involving Philadelphia.

I disagree very much with this bill for many reasons. I have been interested in the welfare of the home owners of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County for many years, and if I thought for one moment that this bill would be helpful to the home owners of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County I would certainly support it.

However, we have an administration at present in the City of Pittsburgh that is suffering from a disease known to the people of Pittsburgh as "squandermania", and we of Pittsburgh are very much afraid that if this tax base is now broadened that this squandermania will so spread under the present city administration that no man can tell where it will end or how many millions of dollars of the tax-payer's money will be misspent.

We of Pittsburgh feel that the first thing to do is to remove the taxation termite before we broaden the tax base. For instance, suppose this tax base was so broadened, isn't it reasonable for us, who have been penalized so much in the past, to suppose that possibly this administration or succeeding administrations would tax baby-buggies, sewing machines, washing machines, refrigerators, clothing, or if the State relieves us of the merchantile tax, it is quite reasonable to assume that the City of Pittsburgh would levy a merchantile tax in its place, or they might levy—

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I would like to know what is before the House for discussion at this time, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Bretherick to section 1 of the bill.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Is the gentleman speaking on the amendments?

Mr. HANNON. Yes, I am, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the gentleman from Allegheny is speaking on the amendments. The Chair has allowed wide latitude to other Members, and the Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman is speaking on the amendments.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Am I still recognized, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Only on the point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. O'BRIEN. The Chair ruled last evening, and did not permit any wide latitude in relation to amendments offered and I think the Chair should be consistent in its ruling, regardless of who—

The SPEAKER. The Chair will leave it to the membership of the House as to whether the Chair has been consistent. The ruling last night was on a motion to recommit, which did not permit wide latitude. The gentleman is certainly mistaken as to the nature of the motion made at that time. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, we in the city of Pittsburgh certainly do not want to become involved with the city of Philadelphia—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order because the gentleman is not speaking on the amendments. The amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware, have no concern with the city of Pittsburgh, and the gentleman's remarks have directly borne on the question of Pittsburgh. We are not concerned with Pittsburgh in the amendments offered by the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Hannon.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. LEVY. Is the Speaker going to rule on the point of order raised by myself or is he not?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman state his point of order?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I said quite distinctly that the reason for the point of order was because the amendments which are under discussion at this time offered by the gentleman from Delaware deal solely with the inclusion of cities of the first class, which is specifically Philadelphia. Now, the gentleman from Allegheny has been speaking for fully five minutes on the city of Pittsburgh. If that does not come within the purview of a violation of the rule and raise a question of order reasonably, then I don't know what language both gentlemen are speaking.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is rather surprised that the gentleman from Philadelphia would raise that point of order, because the gentleman from Philadelphia has been given a wider latitude than any Member of this House. The Chair ruled that the gentleman from Allegheny is speaking on the amendments. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed and confine himself to the amendments to section 1.

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, speaking further on these amendments, which certainly affect the bill that was introduced, which bill of course deals with the city of Pittsburgh, we are fearful and most fearful in the City of Pittsburgh to so broaden this tax base that these men who have misspent so many millions of dollars and so mismanaged the government of the city of Pittsburgh that they will through the broadening of this tax base possibly also tax mortgages and the Lord knows where it may end, so I request that every Member of this House vote against the amendments.

BILL AND AMENDMENTS LAID ON TABLE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I now move that House Bill 753, Printer's No. 310, together with the amendments be laid upon the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of information.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the Chair state what is now before the House?

The SPEAKER. The motion to lay upon the table House Bill 753, Printer's No. 310 together with the amendments.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. BENTLEY. I arise to a further question of information—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of information.

Mr. BENTLEY. —and parliamentary inquiry. Does the motion to lay upon the table take precedence over the action on the amendment to House Bill 753, which has been debated and is, I presume, ready for a vote?

The SPEAKER. A motion to lay upon the table is a privileged motion and takes preference over action on amendments under Rule 15 of the House.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Does the Chair make a practice of accepting motions without first recognizing gentlemen on the floor of the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes every gentleman on the floor of the House.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House, Mr. Rose, the gentleman from Cambria, made a motion without first being recognized by the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is postively in error. The Chair did recognize the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose. He heard his musical voice and recognized the gentleman from Cambria and the record so shows.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I beg to differ with the Chair, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, immediately made the motion with two Members on the floor of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the Reporter bring his notes to the desk?

(After consulting Reporter's notes.)

The Reporter's notes concur in what the Chair has said, that the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, was first recognized by the Chair.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I would like it to be a matter of record, Mr. Speaker, that in my humble opinion, and I want it to be recorded as such, that the Speaker did not recognize the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would also inform the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, that that does not alter the fact nor the record.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the roll be called on the motion to lay upon the table.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in order that the record be kept straight, and the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, be not misunderstood by anybody reading the record, I would like to say that I asked for recognition and that I was recognized, and that the recognition was heard by all those in this corner.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, may have missed it because there were a number of people engaged in laughing at the closing remarks the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon made, and that may have been responsible for his not having heard it, but I was recognized.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Bentley and Mr. Baker and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, on the motion just passed, the affect by reason of the parlimentary rules was that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon, made a number of statements, accusing me as sponsor of House Bill 753, and the city of Pittsburgh of being guilty of squandermania, as he puts it. As I say, by reason of parlimentary rules I was not permitted to answer the gentleman. I, therefore, as a matter of personal privilege request that I be given leave to answer the gentleman at this time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon, made an extravagant statement that the city administration of Pittsburgh is guilty of squandermania, and this bill is an attempt to enlarge their powers. Now, that indeed is most curious coming from him, who has always held himself out as a great reducer of real estate taxes. The gentleman knows as well as I do that any money which might be realized from the power granted by House Bill 753 would necessarily result in a reduction of real estate taxes. However, he disregarded that, said nothing about it and passed it over for the purpose of making a wild statement. There is another term that can be applied to that kind of a statement. It is a little pungent. Also, it is known as "baloney."

The gentleman does not know, or if he knows, does not say that the city of Pittsburgh under the present administration during the past fiscal year has for the first time in its history not issued a bond. I question seriously whether there is another city or township or borough of any comparable size, or anywhere near a comparable size, that has that record. I can say to the gentleman also that the fiscal affairs of the city of Pittsburgh, its debt limit, both our councilmanic borrowing and our people's borrowing is in the best shape. It has a larger balance under both of those privileges of borrowing money than it has had for many, many years. Still the gentleman says we have been guilty of squandermania. I think I can say without fear of contradiction that based on our record in the past the gentleman's statements that we might tax everything in sight under this broadened tax basis, are without any foundation in fact. The city of Pittsburgh had, and it was under Democratic administration, that very power during the years '32 to '35, the same power that House Bill 753 would give them, that is, the power to tax subjects other than those taxed by the state. Some of the councilmen that are in the council of the city of Pittsburgh sat as councilmen during those years. What were the things they taxed under this power? They placed the tax on utility properties and that was the sole tax they placed, a tax on electric light poles within the city of Pittsburgh. With that record behind them the gentleman stands up and says he is afraid under this bill the city would enlarge its tax power and tax everything in sight.

I say, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman does not appear consistent. He says in the one breath he wants to reduce real estate taxes. Every Member of this House knows, if he is honest and will say it, that the reason for taxing real estate and forcing it to carry the major share of taxes has a historical basis. It goes back to the feudal days of England when a man's wealth was measured by the land that he owned. In those days it was right and proper that it should be measured by that standard, that real estate should carry it. But today that is not a proper measure of wealth, but still by reason of the historical tradition real estate is forced to carry the load as it did before, and the means of avoiding that, proposed by every conscientious student on the subject, is that the basis for levying taxes be broadened, and yet this man will stand up on the floor of the House and say he wants to save the real estate owner, but refuses to go along with a bill that would do that.

I make these remarks at this time, Mr. Speaker, only because my answer to the gentleman was shut off by the motion to lay on the table.

Mr. Speaker, I think this record should show that the charges that we in Pittsburgh, or the city administration, which has carried on the government of the city in fine shape for the past eight years have not been guilty of squandering public money, and I offer the facts to prove it. Our bonded indebtedness, our fiscal management, our city taxes compare favorably, and most favorably indeed, with the fiscal situation as it was before the Democratic administration took over the city government in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Speaker, the truth of it is that today the city of Pittsburgh and for the past six years has been borrowing money at a better rate of interest than any other city in the state. We can borrow more money than we ever could under a Republican administration, and yet the gentleman has the audacity to stand up and say that we have been guilty of squandermania. Let him offer facts and figures to prove his statements.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon.

The SPEAKER. Does the Chair understand the gentleman to say that he wishes to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon.

The SPEAKER. That requires unanimous consent as there is no business before the House except bills on second reading.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the House for unanimous consent to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the House grant unanimous consent to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon? Is there objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections, and consent is not granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. LEONARD. I desire to make a statement. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. If it is a question of personal privilege the Chair will allow it. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, my statement concerns the city of Pittsburgh and the city officials of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. I am a taxpayer and a Member of this House, and I desire to make certain corrections here and find out whether or not a certain gentleman is proceeding according to law. Am I permitted to proceed, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny asked for the floor under a question of personal privilege, which the Chair has permitted. There is no other business before the House. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard, the Chair will read Rule 67 which might be beneficial to all of us.

> Any member may rise and explain a matterpersonal to himself by leave of the Speaker, but he shall not discuss any pending question in such explanation. Question of personal privilege shall be limited to questions affecting the rights, reputation and conduct of Members of the House in their representative capacity.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, may I have the floor before this session adjourns today?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will be glad to recognize the gentleman from Allegheny at any time.

Mr. LEONARD. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 592 Printer's No. 276 entitled:

An Act to further amend section six hundred twenty-one of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "Vehicle Code" by permitting certain minors under eighteen years of age to operate a motor vehicle as a paid operator was defeated on final passage in the House on Wednesday, March 31, 1943 be reconsidered.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Erb vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LEONARD. I arise to oppose the motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated. This bill has been before the House twice previous to this time, and the last time was defeated on its merits. I was under the impression and was given to understand that the bill was done for.

I again repeat what I said previously, that we have had a lot of talk here in the House about child labor and about child care, and here Members of this House are deliberating about putting sixteen year old boys on the spot, failing to respect the responsibility that goes with the operation of a motor driven vehicle and trying to cram down this House a bill that would jeopardize not only the young sixteen year old boy that is driving the truck but the older people who are on foot walking along the sidefalk or crossing the streets.

I presented to this House evidence of two tragedies that took place right here in Harrisburg, but apparently some people have no respect for the record. When they want something, they want it, right or wrong. I am asking those broad minded Members of this House who saw fit to vote "no" before to vote "no" again on the motion to reconsider.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion to reconsider this bill. That is one of the most flagrant pieces of maneuvering that I have ever seen in the legislative halls of Pennsylvania. I say this, Mr. Speaker, that acts of this kind will end the democratic form of government in the United States, and put us in the same category that Hitler is placed in. After a bill is defeated let it be defeated, and I urge the Members of this House to vote down this motion.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the fact that the gentleman was smiling during his remarks. I want to point out or call to the attention of the House the fact that this motion to reconsider is made so that amendments may be offered to the bill, which we hope and which we think will remove the objection. I urge the support of the House for the motion.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, I arise to clarify the record from the last time this bill was on the floor. The statement was made at that time that they could not see fit to leave a sixteen year old boy drive an automobile. At the present time they are driving at sixteen years of age, and within the law. This merely deals with those on the small trucks, and the question before was that they had to be eighteen to get a license in this Commonwealth. The Motor Code tells us that an unpaid driver can drive an automobile, if and when he or she has passed the test that would get that driver's license. I merely want that placed on record.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, so far as my knowledge goes "there aint no such thing" as an unpaid driver. Now you are going to pay him. As it now stands this boy that is driving a truck for his father has a responsibility that goes with the operation of that truck. This bill removes that responsibility. You all know as well as I know if you will admit it, that with this young boy driving this truck, he realizes that if anything goes wrong his parents will have to answer, but by enacting this bill you remove that. You tell this boy to go ahead and you all know that he will go ahead and tell you that he is within the law and he will do as he pleases. The people who are responsible for this act, and which I hope I am wrong, will regret it, because we know of accidents that have happened in the past. That is easy to understand. All you have to do is to check the records of the police department. As a further argument, there is nothing said in this bill about under sixteen, that nobody under sixteen shall be allowed to drive. Maybe they want to put eight or nine-year-old boys on these little trucks,—and I am asking the House to consider the matter from that standpoint and protect this boy that you are going to put on the spot and protect the older people, protect the people along the streets, who are walking on the pavement anticipating that they are in safety, and along comes a truck with a young boy driving it and they are run over. I know what I am talking about, I am not fooling about this thing. This is a serious matter. Never mind about the politics, whether it favors this party or that party. Think about the safety of the people when you vote on this question.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Levy and Mr. Dillon and were as follows:

Messrs. Leonard, Moran and Goodwin requested a verification of the roll.

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, in consulting with Mr. Erb in reference to this bill, my idea was to offer amendments making the age limit boys of seventeen years of age rather than sixteen, feeling that a boy seventeen years of age would have had experience for a year in driving a pleasure car. So there ought to be another amendment to this bill, which makes it mandatory for the applicant for an R. and S. license to drive a small truck to have proof of age, a birth certificate or some other form satisfactory to the department. With this idea in mind I offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 621), page 3, line 19, by striking out the following: "sixteen (16)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "seventeen (17)".

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 621), page 3, line 22, by striking out the following: "sixteen (16)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "seventeen (17)".

Amend Sec. (Sec. 621), page 3, line 27, by inserting after the word "operation" the following: "Before any person under the age of eighteen (18) years shall be issued an operator's license under the provisions of this sectiaon, he shall furnish proof of his age satisfactory to the secretary."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections, and consent is not granted.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as it is only necessary to reconsider the vote by which it was agreed to on second reading in order to offer amendments without unanimous consent, I would ask the gentleman, in order to save the time of the House and the cost of printing and everything else, if he will not permit the amendments to be considered at this time rather than to go though three or four more motions in order to do so without unanimous consent?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, repeat his statement, please?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman if he would not withdraw his objection and allow the amendments to be considered at this point, since it is only necessary for us to offer three more motions to reconsider the vote by which it passed second reading, the sections and the title, and then we can go ahead without his consent, which will add to the cost of printing and time of the House in order to do that. I merely asked him if he won't permit that to be done now instead of making us go though the parliamentary procedure to get back to second reading?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, I would like to ask a question. Is it the intent of the gentleman to put this bill back on the calendar for second reading?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, it would be my intention to get unanimous consent at this point instead of going back to second reading and offer the amendments at that point.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I do not have any objection to the bill going back to second reading.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I believe that I did not quite get my point across to the gentleman. I merely meant that if it is necessary for us to go through the procedure of going back to second reading it will take some time and some extra cost of printing, and at that point we can consider the amendments without the gentleman's consent. Now, in view of that, won't the gentleman withdraw his objection and allow us to consider the amendments on third reading?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I maintain my objection.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was agreed to on second reading be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the motion out of order. More than five days having elapsed since the vote was taken.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rule for the specific purpose of considering the amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in order to settle this without any misunderstanding I withdraw my motion to suspend the rule.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred fourteen Members having in the affirmative and seventy-three in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. COHEN. Will the Speaker tell us under the rule what part of the bill you have to shoot at before you can kill it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has often wondered.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 510, Printer's No. 153 entitled:

An Act to amend sections seven hundred thirty-one and seven hundred thirty-three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, (Pamphlet Laws 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth, authorizing the courts to issue writs of execution and attachment against the property, money and wages of defendants in separation and non-support cases, and the attachment of wages in desertion and non-support cases," was defeated on final passage in the House on Tuesday, March 30, 1943 be reconsidered.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. ROSE, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred fifteen Members having voted in the affirmative and one in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to compliment the gentleman who voted in the negative on the strength of his lungs.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

Section 10. This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall remain in effect so long as a state of war exists between the United States and any foreign country or until the State Council of Defense shall be dissolved by proclamation whichever first occurs

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, if ever a bill was ever debated on its merits by the time it reached third reading, I think that this bill is it. I do not intend to talk too much about the merits of this bill. We on this side of the House are convinced that it is not a good bill and we are further convinced that it in nowise represents an honest, sincere and fully understanding approach, and I use the term honest and sincere in connection with the term fullest approach and understanding of the problems of child care with relation to the war effort.

Mr. Speaker, we have been here now since the first week of January and as was so ably stated last night, we were requested by the Governor, and by that token dedicated to a program of cooperation to legislate Pennsylvania into a prime position to help to win the war. It is a matter of great regret to me personally, Mr. Speaker, and I know too many men in the House, that up to this point if all the efforts of all the Legislators, as expressed in the bills thus far having appeared on the calendar and acted upon, that if put up against the enemy to help win the war it would amount to almost a void, a small puff of a cartridge or a fire cracker against a steel wall of the enemy's position.

It is about time that we stop kidding ourselves; it is about time we got out of the idea that we have got to pass bills just because bills are introduced. It is about time that we ought to get behind Governor Martin and tell the people of Pennsylvania that we have got to be in a position of the greatest aid to the Commander-in-Chief, to the armed forces, to industry in Pennsylvania and to the people of Pennsylvania to win the war. I think to these things we are all dedicated, and I believe that in our hearts and in our minds there is no question about the fact that each of us is seeking the solution to that problem. I believe each one of us wants to accomplish that thing. I don't know why it is that we just don't get down to doing it. We, on this side have been waiting for the Governor to offer his war program. We on this side have not seen the Governor's war program. Don't ask me, Mr. Speaker, why we don't present a war program, because if you do I will have to become a politician and I will have to say to you that we have attempted on many occasions to have the Governor keep the promise that he made, "Come in and talk to me, talk to my department heads and cabinet members, accept an invitation to come in and sit down and talk about the problems that confront us." To this date, Mr. Speaker, despite the fact that we have publicly, to say the least, hinted that we were receptive to such an invitation, to this date the invitation has not been forthcoming. It may very well be that the Governor is preoccupied with the problems that confront Pennsylvania in war time. If such preoccupation is what prevents him from calling us in, then I hope the day is coming very soon when he will call us in and say, "Gentlemen, this is what I have been thinking of for three and a half months, this is what I have been pondering over, this is what I think a war program ought to be." But since that has not happened we find ourselves in the rather ridiculous position of having gone through several months of legislative turmoil, several months of legislative bickering, about almost nothing. So that without the guidance of the Governor, and the minority party said that they would like to have some guidance from the Governor, we find ourselves facing really the first important war measure on the calendar, and we find ourselves a house divided.

I might also say that the minority and the Governor see more closely eye to eye on this problem than the majority and their Governor, because as was publicly stated here last night, the Governor at least thought this bill should have been presented to the people of Pennsylvania for a public hearing to let us know what they think about this bill and this problem.

Mr. Speaker, I've always thought and I've always said that just because I was a member of the Joint State Government Commission, and that Commission might present its views to this House that I would not have the effrontery to say that the Joint State Government Commission knew everything and we should therefore be in a position to adopt its recommendations. Mr. Speaker, I now say publicly that I do not think that just because I am a Member of this House serving my fourth term, and having risen to the point which I now hold with the minority, that I know everything or almost anything. I wanted to sit down and listen to experts on the matter of child psychology and child care, and I think that every one of us ought to be big enough to be in the same position and find time enough to do that very thing.

I do not want to be in the position of chiding or scolding. There are too many people here whose wisdom I respect far beyond the point they might suspect I do. There are too many of my elders whose wisdom I should not dare to assail, but, Mr. Speaker, I think the difficulty is that we are not thinking war enough, that we are not thinking of this bill and its vital connection with the war effort sufficiently for us really to comprehend what it wants to do and what it should do.

I don't know that what I have to say is going to change a single vote. I regret possibly that it won't. I trust that perhaps maybe when the bill goes over to the Senate, what I have to say today may have some effect. I hope that possibly the gentlemen on the other side in the Senate might give a public hearing, and I would be very happy if they would, and I somewhat believe that almost every Member of this House would be very happy if they would. In the meantime the minority have no other choice. They find themselves in the position of thoroughly disagreeing with the draftmanship and with the purpose behind House Bill 849, but they cannot afford to be in the position of opposing even a poor approach to the subject of war cooperation. In fact this is the only chance we have really had to register an affirmative vote for what I hope is a part of a good program for cooperation with the Governor and with the Federal Government in the matter of winning the war.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire from the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether in his opinion child care and its problems is a war time necessity and a war time measure.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further inquire of the gentleman whether he does not believe that a public hearing, as expressed by the Governor of the Commonwealth, is of prime importance with such a very important war measure.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I wouldn't say that it was of prime importance.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire further to inquire of the gentleman whether or not he is of the belief that a public hearing in the Senate would probably be the correct procedure to take with this important measure.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think that if the requests are numerous enough throughout the State of Pennsylvania, if they are requests from proper organizations, people who are really and truly interested in child welfare, that they will be granted the opportunity to be heard.

Mr. LEVY. I desire to inquire of the gentleman as to whether or not he has received communications from organizations requesting a public hearing on the entire child care program.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have to this date received one telegram requesting a public hearing. I might say that there are many, many pieces of legislation concerning which I have received communications, but to date I have had only one on this particular bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, to the knowledge of the gentleman from Lehigh, have the various chairmen of the Committees which hold child care bills, to his knowledge been asked for public hearings?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman from Lehigh in the hall of the House last evening when the letter from General Martin was read in public, saying that he thought the Chairmen of the various committees of the House would be only too glad to hold public hearings on such important, vital war problems?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Then, Mr. Speaker, might I ask the gentleman from Lehigh as to wether or not he is in whole accord with the desires expressed by the Governor of the Commonwealth?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think in answer to a previous question I said that I felt that it is not of prime importance, the matter of public hearing on this bill, but that if the letters and telegrams become numerous and they are from the type of people and organizations that are truly interested in child welfare in Pennsylvania, if they come when this bill is in the hands of the Senate, I certainly feel that those people will be given the opportunity to be heard.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, might I again repeat the question, is the Majority Leader of the House in accord with the Governor's desires regarding child care?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think I am in accord with the Governor on the matter of child care from the standpoint of House Bill No. 849 which I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia last night said was an administration measure, and the answer to the problem of child care in Pennsylvania at this time. If the gentleman means am I in accord with House Bill 849 which expresses the Governor's and the administration's way of dealing with this problem, I am in accord.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, might I inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether he means in accord with the Governor's desire for the public hearing rather than in accord with the Governor's desire on House Bill 849? I am inquiring now on the subject of a public hearing and not as to the merits or demerits of House Bill 849.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state to the gentleman from Philadelphia, as I understood his question before, he did not mention the fact about a public hearing but he asked as to my accord with the Governor on child welfare and the problem in Pennsylvania, and I think I have answered, rather indirectly, I suppose, the gentleman's question, but certainly if there are proper requests made for a public hearing when this bill is in the Senate I will be in accord. However, I certainly do not feel that with only one telegram upon my desk, I believe from a man who heads an agency in Pennsylvania,—I do not want to attack that kind of an agency—but certainly I would not feel that a public hearing should be granted because I received one telegram. I do not see why that should particularly mean that we have to hold a public hearing on this particular problem when this bill is under consideration in the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Lehigh. I only want to say, Mr. Speaker that House Bill 849 clearly exemplifies the policy of the Republican party in this war. As I said last night House Bill 849 is another bill sponsored by the Administration which has on its door step the following term, and I repeat, House Bill 849 is a "save-the-penny-but-risk-losing-the-war" approach, and I call on the Republican membership of this House to renounce that charge.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Education, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the Chairman of the Educational Committee whether he received any communications requesting a public hearing on House Bill 849.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the Chairman of the Educational Committee how many communications he has received.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I did not keep count of them.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Blair say that he has received many communications?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, that depends upon how many "many" is.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Will the gentleman say more than one or two?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. There were, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Blair.

I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on State Government, the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARGE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, as Chairman of the Committee on State Government whether or not he received any communications requesting a public hearing on House Bill 849?

Mr. SARGE. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Were there more than one or two, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, I can not say exactly that there were more than two because I did not count them. There was quite a volume of telegrams that I received. In fact there were so many of them of a similar nature that I did not read them all.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman from Lebanon to say that he received so many telegrams that he did not read them all?

Mr. SARGE. Well, no, not that many. They could have been read except for the fact that I was busy on many other legislative matters. These telegrams were all of the same nature and you naturally do not give them the same attention that you would if they were composed somewhat differently. As a matter of fact, if you will allow me to enlarge on that statement I might say that most of the telegrams I received were not so much against House Bill 849 as they seemed to be in favor of Mr. Levy's bills 42 and 43, which possibly made the telegrams a little less important than they would otherwise be.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I desire to thank the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, is not the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, but the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, is.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Pardon me, Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Norman Wood, the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not in the Hall of the House the Chair is informed.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, is the Secretary of the Committee on Appropriations in the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not know who the Secretary of the Committee is. Is the Secretary of the Committee on Appropriations in the Hall of the House?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I plead guilty to the soft impeachment of being the Secretary of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the Secretary of the Appropriations Committee whether the Chairman of that Committee received any communications requesting a public hearing upon House Bill 849?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, he has not disclosed it to me if he has.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

Mr. Speaker, House Bill 849 has been before the Members of this House on the question of recommitting, I believe, on four separate and distince occasions. On each of these occasions the Members of the House were subjected to a long debate. I might say to you that this is perhaps the most important piece of legislation that has come before the House since we went into session early in January. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the citizens of Pennsylvania have felt that child care was so important to Pennsylvania that they have banded themselves into an organization called the Citizens Committee for the Care of Children in Wartime. They have elected as Chairman of this committee an eminent psychologist from the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Edward H. J. Pearson. This organization, together with many other organizations has sent numerous communications to the various Chairmen whom this bill might affect, asking for a public hearing on this bill, and these communications have practically been ignored.

I listened with a great deal of interest to the Majority Leader when he tried to wash his hands of a public hearing on this bill by joining the association of buck-passers. It seems that the Majority Leader of this House and the Members of this House are anxious to pass the buck on to the Senate. I do not think that this is fair to the people of Pennsylvania. This bill should have a public hearing in the House and the people of Pennsylvania should have the best bill on child care that is possible.

I want to close my remarks, Mr. Speaker, in speaking in favor of the recommission of this bill to the Committee on Education, by reading a telegram that was sent yesterday by Dr. Edward H. J. Pearson, Chairman of the Citizens Committee on the Care of Children in Wartime to the following persons: Mr. Sollenberger, the gentleman from Blair; Mr. Sarge, the gentleman from Lebanon; Mr. Norman Wood, the gentleman from Lancaster; Mr. Franklin Lichtenwalter, the Majority Leader of the House and Mr. Walter E. Rose, the Minority Leader of the House. This telegram appears in today's issue of the Philadelphia Inquirer and reads as follows:

> "A public hearing that will qualify and give to the people of Pennsylvania—"

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I do not want the record to show that I am the Minority Floor Leader.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the gentleman from Cambria.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman states he is not the Minority Floor Leader.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I stand corrected, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Rose is the Majority Whip. I am sorry that I referred to him as the Minority Floor Leader.

Mr. Speaker, I want to quote this telegram:

> "A public hearing that will clarify and give Pennsylvania real war legislation should not be delayed any longer. The letter of March 31st from Governor Martin recommends contacting you and other committee chairmen, and states 'I am sure that a request for a public hearing will be granted. Please advise.'"

With these closing remarks, Mr. Speaker, I wish to say, let us not make the mistake of passing the buck on this bill to the Senate. This is a very vital piece of legislation. We can perhaps go on talking for hours and hours about it but I am going to ask that each and every Member of this House, regardless of his political affiliation, vote to have this bill recommitted to the Committee on Education for a public hearing.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as we have voted, as the gentleman from Philadelphia just said, about four times to recommit this bill, would the gentleman withdraw his motion to save the time of the House? We know what the vote will be and why not let us save the time of the House? It is getting late and we have not yet reached the third reading calendar.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I cannot go along with the request of the gentleman from Allegheny. In order to make it clear to the membership of the House I feel personally that child care, no matter if we were to debate it from January 18th until April 29th, would not be a waste of time, and as to the request to do away with the motion to recommit, in view of the fact that it has been asked on two previous occasions, I would say to the gentleman from Allegheny that because certain developments have occurred between last night's session and the session this afternoon, I thought that there might be some change of heart on the part of the gentlemen on the other side of the House. First, in view of the fact that the Governor of the Commonwealth stated that it is his desire to give most careful consideration to this legislation, and secondly, in view of the fact that he expressed his desire that the leaders in the House would accede to the request for a public hearing.

I regret to inform the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, that I cannot go along with his request and I would ask, Mr. Speaker, that the roll be called.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I recognize that the majority of the Members desire to save time and that we have already consumed too much time in this unimportant matter, and I say that in contradiction to what Mr. Levy said.

I would ask you to hold yourselves to the firmest lines of cold logic to determine whether or not this bill or the bill of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, or any kindred bill, is inflated with too great importance, that it has been tinctured with. I am a father, my children are grown up, but the happiest time of my life were the days in which those children were young and in which they were growing up under my supervision in my home. I would dislike to the very last degree to visualize such a situation, where my children would be obliged to be taken care of in the day nursery. I would hate the situation to arise where your children would be taken care of in a day nursery and I question whether this situation is so acute as to demand the passage of just such a bill.

I want to quote a few lines that I have gathered in opposition to the idea of establishing these schools, or these nurseries or whatever you may please to call them. I believe that the present bill is faulty in that it assigns a child to an organization that was organized by the state for an entirely different purpose. If it is created for the purpose of protecting us and aiding us in cases of great disaster, that would be alright, but this situation is one that is more closely related to our present social life, it does not belong to this newly created institution, but rather it belongs to the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in cases of children requiring assistance.

I want to quote from a clipping that I have taken from a local newspaper, which contains a statement by Director Mason of the Federal-State Employment Service, which reads as follows:

> "There is sound wisdom in the remark of Director Mason, of the Federal-State Employment Service, in announcing that Pennsylvania mothers of children under 14 years of age are not being encouraged to take jobs in war or other industries.
> "We need all the workers we can get," said Mr. Mason, "but we don't want to penalize children who need their mothers' care."
> "Some of the mothers who have left young children at home and have gone into industry are sincerely patriotic, without a doubt. There is nothing more patriotic than rearing a family of good, healthy citizens, and no mother thus engaged need feel that she is not doing her part."

This question in itself has broader aspects and broader lines which those of us who are eager to pass legislation setting up these institutions have possibly ignored. We must remember there was a reason for the song which we sang during the last war, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Did that come from the hearts of those who were taken care of in the day nursery or did it come from the hearts of those who went forth to fight the enemy? We realize that the only thing that meant more than anything else to them was the continuance of their homes. Can you expect the continuance of your homes with the day nursery taking care of your children?

Mr. Speaker, let me read one more thing from this morning's newspaper which will explain this in greater detail than I can possibly visualize to you with my remarks. This is a quotation from this morning's newspaper, part of the testimony given by Mr. Hoover, who is the head of the FBI.

The paper states as follows:

> "Hoover Reports 'Alarming' Rise in Sex Crimes. Chief J. Edgar Hoover reporting an 'alarming' increase in juvenile crime, told Congress today that 'if, during this trying period, we forget the moral needs of the next generation we have not fulfilled the trust placed in us.'
> "'I think there is a very definite job to be done in every community in the country to combat this growing delinquency on the part of our young men and women,' he said in testimony made public by the House Appropriations Committee.
> "He reported that prostitution by girls under 21 had increased 64.8 per cent, as compared with last year, other sex crimes by girls 104.7 per cent, that arrests for assault by males under 21 had gone up 17.1 per cent and rape 10.6 per cent.
>
> "'And that,' he said, 'in spite of the fact that there is a large volume of young men who have gone into the military and naval services. These are practically all civilian arrests.'
> "He attributed the increase to high pay for youths, lack of recreational facilities, and decreased home influence because of the numbers of fathers and mothers both working."

I think, my fellow members, you can recognize that the establishment of these schools or these nurseries is a socialistic idea. It is intended to take children away from the home. Whether we say it is great or not, whether anyone else says it is great or not, I say when you vote today make sure that you do not hand your children over to persons who will do them more harm than good, not because they have the intention of doing so but because of their lack of motherly care and parental care. You can't hope to raise great Americans in institutions; it has not been done before and I do not think you can do it now. I see my friends wagging their heads but I say to them that it is my sincere conviction—I may go along with you on a party measure, but in my heart I feel that you are establishing a bad system and I do hope that the sincere Members of this House will think twice before they say yes or no on this bill.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to discuss a number of things which the gentleman preceding me has just discussed. Is it necessary to have unanimous consent to do that?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until we have disposed of the motion to recommit?

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to discuss the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, believing that some gentlemen may want to discuss this bill, I move that the motion to recommit be laid upon the table.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, that will not be necessary. I withdraw my motion until after the gentleman from Allegheny has spoken, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, withdraws his motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, the previous gentleman who spoke, I don't know his name, said that this particular type of legislation is not necessary, that the situation is not acute. I wonder if the gentleman knows that there is a war on. I wonder if he knows that before this war is over gas will be used, and I wonder if he realizes that we stand to be gassed. And what will he do with children who have not gas masks? If ever a piece of legislation is necessary, this particular type of legislation is. I will not say that this particular bill is the answer, I doubt it very much. The situation is acute and women are needed in industry, and mainly because those who can take a few hours from their regular work do not go down to the mills and elsewhere to do their jobs. There are plenty of men who could go into industry to work and relieve the home situation if they would, but they simply won't do it. They seem not to be interested. That is verified by the low number who go down to give blood.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has said, "Keep The Home Fires Burning." That is true. And this can be best done by men like us who can afford the time to go down to the mills and do the work that these women are doing because all of us do not do our job after our regular hours. Some people do but most do not. The day nursery is going to be very, very necessary.

This particular type of legislation must be enacted sooner or later. Down in the southern states where they have done it and have done it in a careless manner, they are very sorry for it. I do not want to speak for or against this particular bill just now, but I do urge you, not to consider this as a partisan measure, whether it is exactly what the Governor wants or whether it is not. We speak of elections next year, but how do you know we are going to have elections next year, we haven't won the war yet? It is only fifteen and three quarter hours to Berlin in a fast bomber and I know whereof I speak. You say we cannot do it. If you will read in the morning paper you will see that Mr. Kaiser has proposed bombers that can carry a pay load for 17,000 miles without touching the ground. We are very vulnerable. In discussing this bill, in considering it, let us not hold any grievances against anyone but let us remember that we hope that the time will not come when we will have to use it, but before the Axis is defeated it is going to make one last grandstand play and take its planes clear up into the substratosphere, that is about 22,000 feet, above the actual range where anti-aircraft guns can be efficient, and it is going to go places and maybe this is just where it is going to go—win or lose, the devil may care, but just to give us a taste of what has been going on in Europe.

In your hearts you know you must take care of these children as well as ourselves. Let us not be selfish. If it is necessary to put this bill on the postponed calendar or put it aside longer than that, let us do it. Let us when we pass this legislation make sure that it is right. I have investigated this matter and I do not think the Department of Welfare has studied this bill a whole lot. I do not know if it was consulted. I don't know if the Department of Health considered it. Whenever these centers are established in various places there must be definite health plans, there must be all kinds of precaution provided for the children, and the cost is going to mount into the millions and not $187,000. It would cost at least that much to get one building ready. We should not consider this bill from a partisan standpoint. Let us remember, we shall win this war or we shall die. We cannot afford to put petty legislation or petty politics in front of this war effort.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to say anything particular as to the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia. I have listened to a number of men on this floor and I think we have heard arguments that prove conclusively that this is a good bill. We have heard from a gentleman on the other side who warns us that we are doing the wrong thing in passing any kind of child legislation and the creation of child care centers. He branded it as a step toward socialism. Then we have also heard about the bills introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia which would go to the other extreme, which would establish child care centers and expend millions of dollars in doing so.

In this bill which is purely for the establishment of child care centers, because of the problems with which we are confronted due to the war in which we are engaged—and this bill is a war time measure—we are giving authority to the Council of Defense of Pennsylvania. The Council of Defense is not made up on lines of partisanship, it is in no way political, it has minority representation. It is a council that I feel has done a job in Pennsylvania and which I have been given to understand is enviable throughout the nation. The Pennsylvania State Council of Defense in its work has been an example to states throughout the nation. We say the thousands of people of Pennsylvania that they come under the rules and regulations and have joined the efforts of that Council in carrying out the job that they have set out to do for the citizenry of Pennsylvania. Are we saying to them now: "You cannot do a good and decent job for the people of Pennsylvania in this problem of child welfare and the establishment of child care centers?"

I think we will all agree that the volunteer efforts of the people of Pennsylvania in this war, offered under the guidance of the State Council of Defense are commendable and that their work is certainly worthy of praise. I am sure that if we will but give them a chance they will meet this problem that confronts Pennsylvania at this time in the establishment of child care centers.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to say anything more on this bill, and I would not except that I think the statement of the gentleman from Lehigh deserves an answer.

I trust no one got the impression during all the debate on this bill that the ability of the State Council of Defense or the record of the State Council of Defense has been assailed in any way. The point we have been making, the point we now make and the point we must continue to make if this bill must be passed in its present form is that you are not equipping the State Council of Defense or any other agency with the necessary equipment to do a proper job.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with the Majority Leader of the House when he says that the office of Civilian Defense and its district councils deserve the praise and the respect of every Member of this House of Representatives, but I do disagree when he says that this is the agency that should take care of the child care problem in Pennsylvania. I do not disagree alone, the Governor of Pennsylvania only one week ago apparently disagreed in the speech made only fifty miles from Harrisburg when he said, "There is not an acre of the soil in the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that is not capable of being bombed."

I say to the gentleman from Lehigh, if the Governor of the Commonwealth with such a brilliant military record behind him makes the charge that there is not an acre in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that could not be bombed, then, gentlemen of the House, is that not enough for the office of civilian defense?

The gentleman from Lehigh says, "Give the office of civilian defense a chance." A chance for what? A chance to care for children? What member of the Council of Civilian Defense or of the district councils throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have been schooled in the care of children? What officers in the whole agency has been taught what is right and what is wrong in the problem of child care? It is that line of distinction, Mr. Majority Leader that we quarreled with in House Bill 849; it is because House Bill 849 is not only inadequate, it is because House Bill 849 does not vest in the proper agency of the Commonwealth the adequate and the reasonable care of children in Pennsylvania.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 849, be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of a public hearing, and I would only ask for a voice vote.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was not agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I see in House Bill 742, Printer's No. 272, the execution of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Mihm and myself, and I know of no man in the House more able to give us help than the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix. I recall very vividly a session ago when the same thing that happened to us had happened to Mr. Dix, and how I consoled him after he had made his speech on "someone stealing my bill." I need an advocate, I need the benefit of clergy, and, Mr. Speaker, with your permission I would like to yield the floor to my friend from Wayne, Mr. Dix, so that he may petition in our behalf.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, it is with considerable satisfaction that I discovered that the Democrats were not the only people who are stealing bills. I regret to learn that the Republican Members are guilty of the same charge. I certainly sympathize with my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. I know that he is an authority on constitutional law and I have become sort of an authority on legislative law in reference to the stealing of bills.

You will not find any law against bill stealing on the statute books of Pennsylvania, but I believe that you will find a law, a sort of moral law, which was enunciated thousand of years ago by Moses on tablets of stone, which were known as the Decalogue, on Mount Sinai, according to Mr. Salus. That law very plainly states "Thou shalt not steal," and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I wish to join with my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and ask that the members of this House on both sides in the future refrain from any such practices. I don't know when those practices started. As a member of the House I came down here two years ago and four years ago, and I discovered there was very little bill stealing at that time, but two years ago the practice started among the Democrats, and now it has spread from one side of the House to the other. Evidently the members on the Republican side of the House have been contaminated by association with the Democrats.

Mr. Speaker, I don't know exactly who the representative was that stole the bill from Mr. Brown, and I would like to interrogate Mr. Brown for just a moment, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that my advocate be laid on the table.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the two gentlemen seriously consider bills to prevent "bill" stealing.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, may I ask Mr. Brown what he would consider would be the proper penalty for a man who would steal a bill such as Mr. Hannon has done from him?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I thought my advocate was here to defend me, instead of asking me to state what sentence is necessary. If my advocate wants me to say what the penalty should be, then I should fire my advocate. He started off by condeming the Democrats. I think if my advocate will yield, I will stop right here.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I regret very much that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, feels that I have not properly defended him, and if I have not, I wish to apologize. I would say this, that if I had the power, the judicial power, and could act as a jury, a judge and an advocate all at the same time, I would sentence Mr. Hannon to silence for the rest of this session, and I hope and believe—

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Somerset will state his question of inquiry.

Mr. HARE. Did the gentleman say Hannon or Levy?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman distinctly said Hannon. That does not sound like Levy.

Mr. DIX. And I would say further, Mr. Speaker, that not having received any fee from the gentleman from Allegheny for defending him that—

The SPEAKER. Possibly the Chair should move the previous question.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 315, entitled:

An Act prescribing certain fire and panic precautions to be observed in buildings occupied by night clubs or similar establishments imposing certain additional duties upon fire marshals, and other officials in the various political subdivisions throughout the Commonwealth; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, under this bill, it makes the fire marshal, all fire chiefs, assistant fire chiefs, captains, first lieutenants, second and third lieutenants in the fire department and all peace officers the arresting officers, is that right?

Mr. TAHL. That is right, Mr. Speaker, but the purpose of my wanting to put this bill on the postponed calendar is that I have had some objection to that provision, and my intention is to amend it. I will be very glad to discuss the matter with the gentleman after this session is over.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman admit that this is a bad bill?

Mr. TAHL. No, on the contrary, Mr. Speaker, it is a very good one.

The SPEAKER. The merits of the bill may not be discussed at this time. The question before the House is on the motion to postpone, and the gentleman should confine their remarks to that question.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred seventeen Members voting in the affirmative and fifteen in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 86, as follows:

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask support of this bill. Last evening, when Mr. Huntley was discussing the bill, he said it was a good bill and a good home rule bill, and I merely want to emphasize that today. In talking to some of the Members I find considerable support for the bill, but I also find some opposition to the bill with the intimation that it is gambling. Gentlemen, I wouldn't call bingo gambling in the sense that they imply, because nothing can be lost by those who play. The objection to gambling is not that some win, but that some lose money that could be applied to better purposes, such as living costs and expenses for one's family. This complaint can not be made against bingo as the maximum for an evening is limited to the cost of admission plus a small charge in some cases, in all not more than fifty cents or probably a dollar for an evening's entertainment or pleasure, no more than the price of a good moving picture show. With gasoline restrictions holding our people closer to their homes and their churches, this bill will legalize the practice of playing bingo which has been going on regardless of the law for some time. This bill will put the game under proper supervision and control, eliminating rackets. Give our people what they want, a chance to relax and enjoy themselves in their own pleasant way. Respond to their wishes and vote for this bill giving them the privilege and pleasure of enjoying the game.

I am grateful for the attention and consideration you have shown me, and I will appreciate your support.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tiemann.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TIEMANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GATES. I would like to know if in the opinion of the sponsor of this bill it permits bingo to be played on the Sabbath day?

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Armstrong, the bill does not specifically state, but it does not repeal the Sunday law, and I am of the opinion that the courts would not permit the playing of bingo on Sunday.

Mr. GATES. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, when the amendments were inserted in these bills last night we were told they were practically the same as far as the nature of the trucks is concerned as the original bill. If you will read the bill as it read before, you will find there is no maximum gross weight for "R" "S" "T" and "U" trucks. This means that a "V" truck is limited to nineteen thousand pounds, but the "U" truck can haul thirty to forty thousand pounds. The same way with an "R" or an "S" or a "T". I think it is very poor legislation when we allow a "U" truck to haul all it wants and limit the "V" truck to nineteen thousand pounds.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, two years ago the Assembly of Pennsylvania passed a big truck bill very similar to the one before you today for your consideration. That bill eventually found its way to the Governor of Pennsylvania, and I would like to read into the record excerpts from the Governor's remarks when he vetoed that particular bill.

MR. SERRILL IN THE CHAIR

Mr. GATES. If the Chair desires instead of reading I will turn this over to the Reporters to expedite the time.

> "From information received from the Department of Highways, it is clear that the highways of this Commonwealth are not sufficiently strong to accommodate any increase in truck weight or axle loading. Pennsylvania has greater mileage of low cost improved rural highways than any other state, and at the present time such highways are being subjected to heavier trucks and loads than the capacity for which they were designed. Even the main highway system of approximately 20 years of age is less capable than it was 10 years ago of sustaining the impact from heavy trucks, because the mere lapse of time has an adverse effect upon concrete pavements.
> "I am informed that the Regional Conference on Highway Safety and Motor Vehicle Problems, in a report dated February 14th and 15th, 1941, made a study of the trucking problem as it related to 10 northeastern states, which resulted in the recommendation that the maximum weight per axle on any vehicle be fixed at 18,000 pounds. This bill would permit axle weight in excess of the amount so recommended.
> "Some proponents of this bill have urged its approval in order to accommodate larger sized vehicles which might become necessary by reason of the present national emergency. However, under Section 905, of the Vehicle Code the Secretary of Highways and the local authorities, in their respective jurisdictions, may now issue special permits for the operation of vehicles of a size and weight exceeding the maximum specified by law. That provision is adequate to take care of any contingency which might arise. Therefore, this bill would not be necessary for that purpose."

However, yesterday it was decided, and properly so, and I want to congratulate the sponsors of this bill for not having a flag waving, tail twisting bill that would try to make out of this particular bill a war measure. Gentlemen, the real reason and the real need back of this particular bill is to increase the size of the large trucks and the tractor trailers, which will eventually cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania hundreds of millions of dollars.

I appeal to you for the sake of the thousands of farmers in the state of Pennsylvania to defeat this bill, for the reason that we have secondary highways that run into the farming communities over which the farmers are allowed to bring their produce into market, but if these large trucks, these extremely long and heavy trucks, are allowed to use the secondary highways, it will be but a short time until these roads are completely destroyed.

Then I appeal to you, Members of this House, in behalf of the million and a half car owners in the state of Pennsylvania and the small truck owners in the state of Pennsylvania who pay into the coffers of the state of Pennsylvania considerably more than $35,000,000 each biennium. I appeal to you in conclusion, gentlemen of this House, to vote against this bill, to save the roads for the purpose for which they were built, because I am satisfied that the Governor of the state of Pennsylvania could do nothing more than veto this bill if it reaches his desk.

Who elected Ed Martin governor of the state of Pennsylvania? It wasn't Philadelphia, it wasn't Allegheny County, it was the small rural communities in the state of Pennsylvania that marched to the polls that day and they elected him Governor of the state of Pennsylvania. So I appeal to you in behalf of the rural communities of the state of Pennsylvania to vote against this bill and save the roads for the purpose for which they were originally intended.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Forest for presiding.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to reiterate the remarks made by the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Barton. I believe that every member of this House ought to turn to this bill and see for himself that the sections imposing restrictions on the weights of the licenses which he mentioned are deleted from the bill. It makes it a very, very vicious bill and to my mind unconstitutional. I think you should think well before you vote for this bill as it stands now.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell me whether or not he contacted the Department of Highways in reference to this bill?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, whether he means prior or subsequent to the emasculation?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the gentleman contacted the Department of Highways at any time concerning this bill?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAXWELL. I would like further to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I am very hungry, Mr. Speaker, but I could stand another question, I believe.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell me what the opinion of the Secretary of Highways is concerning this bill?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Well now, Mr. Speaker, let me say that I cannot distinguish between the question that I answered and the one the gentleman just asked me. I stated "no" in reply to the question which in substance inquired as to whether or not I had undertaken to learn what the attitude of the Secretary of Highways might be on this bill. I have not been in touch with the Secretary of Highways, therefore, I cannot answer what his attitude may be.

Mr. MAXWELL. I thank the gentleman from Montgomery.

Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to take any more time than is necessary, but I do think the House should acquaint itself with some facts concerning this bill. In view of the fact that the Department of Highways is responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of our highways I think anyone who sponsors a bill should at least have the opinion of the Department or the Secretary of Highways on whether or not they think it will be a good bill or a bad bill.

In support of this bill I wish to read from the Governor's veto message, August 11, 1941, on a bill not nearly as vicious as this bill is, and I wish to give the Department of Highways' version of what a bill of this type would do. I quote:

> From information received from the Department of Highways, it is clear that the highways of this Commonwealth are not sufficiently strong to accommodate any increase in truck weights or axle loading. Pennsylvania has greater mileage of low cost improved rural highways than any other state, and at the present time such highways are being subjected to heavier trucks and loads than the capacity for which they were designed. Even the main highway system of approximately 20 years of age is less capable than it was 10 years ago of sustaining the impact from heavy trucks, because the mere lapse of time has an adverse effect upon concrete pavements.
> I am informed that the Regional Conference on Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles Problems, in a report dated February 14th and 15th, 1941, made a study of the trucking problem as it related to 10 northeastern states, which resulted in the recommendation that the maximum weight per axle on any vehicle be fixed at 18,000 pounds. This bill would permit axle weight in excess of the amount so recommended.
> Some proponents of this bill have urged its approval in order to accommodate larger sized vehicles which might become necessary by reason of the present national emergency. However, under Section 905 of the Vehicle Code the Secretary of Highways and the local authorities, in their respective jurisdictions, may now issue special permits for the operation of vehicles of a size and weight exceeding the maximum specified by law. That provision is adequate to take care of any contingency which might arise. Therefore, this bill would not be necessary for that purpose.

Gentlemen, in view of these facts, I do not think at this time that this bill should pass. The conditions now as far as our roads are concerned are more acute than at the time the former Governor vetoed a similiar bill, and therefore, I do not think the emergency is sufficient for the passing of this bill, and I would ask the Members to give their consideration before voting.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Perry, Mr. Barton, called my attention to an error in the draftsmanship of this bill. However, I believe the bracket could be easily removed in the Senate. I assured the House last night that the Legisltive Reference Bureau had only inserted these amendments making this a duration bill, and that was my understanding. If the House will recall, later in order to insert the amendments, we had to remove the brackets from practically every page in the bill. I do not think it is serious; I think the brackets can be easily stricken out in the Senate, and it will save us the cost of printing this bill again. I want to assure you absolutely that this was an error in printing the bill, and it was not the intention to do anything to the bill except what I said last night.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I am terribly sorry to hold up the dinner hour, but nevertheless, I think this bill is of such importance that we should spend an additional five minutes.

I want to call to the attention to the membership of this House that in June 1942 the Governors of forty-eight states met in Washington, D. C., with the Secretary of Commerce, and they agreed one hundred per cent that the specifications of trucks which were necessary should not exceed the weight upon a single axle of over eighteen thousand pounds.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Auker, Gates, and Pettit requested a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. HOCKE and GOODLING offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1943.

Thirty-two years ago today a new member of this House celebrated his first birthday as an Assembleyman. He was the youngest member to sit as a lawmaker during the Session of 1911. This down-chinned youth represented the second district of his native County of York. Long before the completion of his second term, he had attracted to himself a host of friends, and an enviable reputation as an aggressive and successful legislator.

He now serves the General Assembly again, but in a different capacity. As Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, the one time youngest member of the House is now as effectively carrying on the tradition of amiability, capacity and efficiency which he built for himself over a quarter of a century ago. He is today celebrating his sixtieth birthday; and in doing so, is still a young man at heart, in keenness of mind and in bodily vigor, with the added wisdom and usefulness that years of experience alone can bring; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Members of the House that we extend to our former Member and present Reference Bureau Director, the Honorable Robert S. Frey, our warmest and heartiest congratulations upon this the 60th anniversary of his natal day, wish for him many more happy returns of the same, and hope that they will often be celebrated here with us, and that as his days grow longer, the visions of his youth will draw ever closer to complete fulfillment; and be it further

Resolved, That as a lasting souvenir of this particular birthday, a copy of this resolution shall be prepared and transmitted to "Bob" Frey, our friend and counsellor, by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair presents to the House our good friend always, Bob Frey, Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. I was called over here about three quarters of an hour ago to draft amendments, and I certainly walked into this like a lamb to the slaughter.

I have been against these personal resolutions for a long time because I have to write so many of them myself, but now I feel that it is not so bad after all.

Nineteen hundred eleven was a long time ago, and I might tell a lot of stories in connection with it, but if the Members of the House feel like I do they would rather be headed for some place to eat.

I appreciate the resolution and I appreciate the spirit back of it. I hope it is all true. Possibly I can say more to you later. I thank every one of you.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. GORMAN offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1943.

Birthdays come and birthdays go, and we like to note them as they pass, especially when the natal day is that of a fellow member of this House.

On the sixth of April, 1890, was born the baby who later grew up and now occupies high office as the encumbent of seat number 46 in the great hall of Pennsylvania's House of Representatives.

Our friend and colleague, the gentleman from the tenth district of Philadelphia, not only was born on April sixth, but also was married on that day, which makes it a double anniversary. He married Miss Marian Yates in 1911. Both husband and wife are registered pharmacists, and operate a retail drug store in Philadelphia.

As diversions from long and busy hours of shop, John Walton is a Shriner and an ardent Kiwanian. His interest in the Kiwanis Club he brings with him, and exercises as a member of the Kiwanis Club of the House of Representatives. But for complete relaxation the Waltons like travel best, and have already covered the greater part of the United States in their peregrinations; therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby wish the Honorable John C. Walton a happy birthday and many more of them to come; and that we offer our sincerest congratulations and wishes for long continued happiness to the Honorable and Mrs. John C. Walton on the occasion of their 32nd wedding anniversary. May these birthdays and wedding anniversaries happen here often again, and always as most joyous occasions; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House certify a copy hereof and transmit the same to the Honorable John C. Walton and Mrs. Walton.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walton.

Mr. WALTON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I appreciate the remarks very much, and as Marian is with me today I would like her to stand and take a bow.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to present a resolution coming from a group in the western part of our state, District No. 6, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America. The resolution covers ten legislative points which we think are very progressive, and in the name of that organization those 50,000 members requested Mr. Heatherington and myself to present this resolution. Mr. Speaker, District No. 6 of the United Electrical Radio and Machine workers of America made the request that we present this resolution.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SERRILL, from the Committee on Education, reported as amended, House Bill No. 711, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand one hundred twenty-six of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. CADWALADER returned from the Committee on Counties with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, House Bill No. 502, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two, three, four and five of the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. The SPEAKER. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

HOUSE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 138, PRINTER'S No. 108 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 7, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That Senate Bill No. 138, Printer's No. 108, entitled "An act to amend sections six hundred four, six hundred five and six hundred seven and to further amend section two thousand four hundred seven of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by further defining the duties of the Department of Internal Affairs," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of further consideration.

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

MEMORIALIZING O. P. A. TO RAISE CEILING PRICE ON CRUDE OIL

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 1, 1943.

The oil reserves of the Nation are being used up faster than oil is being produced.

It has been stated by competent authority that there will be a serious shortage of oil in the future unless new wells are developed.

The development of new wells can be accelerated only by the raising of the present ceiling price on crude oil.

The present profit per well is now so low that there is no incentive for the assumption of the risk attendant upon the drilling of new wells; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Office of Price Administration of the Federal Government to raise the ceiling price on crude oil so that there will be some prospect of profit held out to those who have oil land which could be developed, in order that the production of oil might be increased and the oil reserves of the country be raised, to normal levels; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EDMONDS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, this bill is entitled "An act relating to reservation of powers of the Commonwealth with respect to lands purchased or condemned by the United States" and it is based upon an act which has long been in force in California whereby the state of California receives local taxes and state taxes upon all of the land that is purchased or condemned by the Federal Government for governmental purposes.

We have had a number of bills on our calendar by which the Federal Government acquires certain lands, and it seems to me to be perfectly fair that they should pay a tax and, therefore, I introduce this bill in the hope that it will help settle the question as to just what becomes of land which the Federal Government takes.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. During the last twenty years of my life I have had a sincere interest in penology, an interest which has taken me into the penitentiaries and into the reform schools of this state.

At the time the Parole Board ripper was presented, I, of course made a careful investigation of all the facts concerning parole supervision and the granting of parole. Mr. President, I am not going to make any detailed statement about that bill—I do not think it would be fair to the members of the Senate at this time to take their time to do that.

I will say that from the information that I have received relative to the whole correctional system of the Commonwealth, I have come to the conclusion that the thing that is indicated at this time is a careful study of the whole correctional system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. By correctional system I mean not only the supervision of paroled individuals who violate the law but I mean the arrest and incarceration, the manner in which we take care of those people when we incarcerate them and so, for that reason, I present to the Chair at this time the following bill, which will help in the study of the question of penal affairs.

I might say that my studies have indicated that there is a complete lack of unity in our Commonwealth with regard to these matters but I feel ultimately that this Commonwealth will rise to a position where we will have in Pennsylvania a department of correction, the head of which department will be a member of the Cabinet of the Governor.

Mr. COX read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 528, entitled:

An Act providing for the appointment of a commission to make a study of the whole question of crime prevention, incarceration, reform, probation, parole and pardon, as administered in this Commonwealth and in other states and territories of the United States and in foreign countries; defining its powers and duties, including the power to issue subpoenas, and to employ counsel and employes; and making an appropriation.

An Act making an appropriation to the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Waynesburg, Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

An Act to further amend section eleven of the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 1043), entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payment therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes; exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," by extending the service allowance of certain employes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. COX read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 531, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties of the second class to enter into contracts with any city within the county for the hospitalization of persons suffering from infectious diseases, and to make appropriations therefor.

An Act to further amend the last paragraph of section five of the act approved the twelfth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven, (P. L. 295), entitled "A supplement to an act, entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class,' approved the seventh day of March, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one; providing for the levy, collection, and disbursement of taxes and water-rents, or rates, and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer, the board of water assessors, and the collector of delinquent taxes; and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for," requiring the board of water assessors to furnish information to departments of the city government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week this body decided to hold four day sessions. This is the third day of the session for this week and we find that practically half of our membership is not present. I realize that many of the men who are serving in this body must be back at home to take care of their needs but that holds true for all of us.

Mr. President, I certainly have no intention of sitting here day after day and finding bills passed over in order for the simple reason that many of our members can not attend.

Next week, Mr. President, and this is a warning to all of the members, I intend to issue a call to the Senate and have the sergeant-at-arms bring back all members who are absent unless they have asked previously for leave of absence, so, commencing next Monday and up until the last day of the Session, I want to go on record as saying I shall issue a call to ascertain whether or not we can not conclude this Session in an orderly manner.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. HEYBURN and McGINNIS offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, The responsibilities of many of the Senators elsewhere has resulted in absences from the floor from time to time and such absenteeism is seriously impeding the passage of vital legislation, especially as we approach the closing Sessions of the Senate.

Resolved That a copy of this Resolution be mailed by first-class mail to each one of the members of the Senate at his home address.

SUSPENSION OF RULE 39

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I want to approve everything which has been said by the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, and also by the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, with regard to absentee members of this body.

I feel that if we had a full membership here that perhaps we could finish this Session in two or three weeks. I know the other side is determined to have this Session close as soon as possible. We are all busy back home and there is lots to do back home, and I feel that during the next few weeks the Senators should be here and attend to their duties.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no objection to the resolution nor to its immediate consideration and I shall vote for it, but I think it is a little bit unfair to suggest to the members that the absence of any member from this Senate has up until now interfered with the passage of any important legislation. I went through the Calendar on Monday night and I found that up until now we have passed about 52 bills, including those which have come over from the House.

From an examination of that list I would frankly like to say that I do not think the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would have suffered one bit if any one of those bills had not been passed, outside of three deficiency appropriation bills.

I have voted for most of those bills, with the exception of four or five, but even if I had not voted for any one of them, or anybody else in this Senate, I think the State of Pennsylvania would have been just as well off.

Of course, I believe when important bills come along for passage that all of us should be here.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I intend to vote "no" on this resolution, as I could not with consistency vote for it as I have been absent sometimes and therefore I want to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The vote of the gentleman from McKean will be so recorded.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, since this resolution is now before the Senate for action, I want to be explicit and to repeat what I have previously stated, that unless members ask for leave of absence, it is my firm intention to issue a call of the Senate and have them brought here by force.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the resolution?
It was agreed to.

RECESS

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a short recess for a meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 18, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to parole; abolishing the Pennsylvania Board of Parole; reestablishing the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the courts and of the Board of Pardons with respect to parole; and authorizing the employment by the Attorney General of a Supervisor of Paroles and field agents.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in absence of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 71, on third reading, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section four, article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, providing for annual sessions of the General Assembly, salary of members and an annual budget go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 177, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred one of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six (1937, P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties." providing for the payment of contributions by employers in accordance with an experience rating system; and providing for and regulating such experience rating system and the terms and procedure to effectuate the same

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in connection with this bill, I should like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, because I think this information ought to be furnished to us so that we can study the matter over the weekend.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Homsher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it is my interpretation of page 3 of this bill, section 4, at the bottom of the page, that if this bill means what I take it to mean, there will be refunds to manufacturers running into millions of dollars on taxes paid by them under the unemployment compensation law for prior years, that is, years prior to 1942-1941-1940.

Mr. HOMSHER. No, Mr. President, there will be no refunds possible to any manufacturer under this bill, as it simply sets up a method by which his contributions will be calculated in the future.

Mr. SHAPIRO. May I refer the Senator from Lancaster to paragraph 4, which reads: "A basic rate of two and seven tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the year 1944 and for each calendar year thereafter"—that is the basic rate set up within the provisions of this section—"but the rate of contribution of each employer who has paid contributions under this act for at least four full calendar years whether prior or subsequent to the adoption of this amendment shall be subject to adjustment for each such calendar year between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum."

I construe that to mean that for the four calendar years prior to the adoption of this act, every manufacturer, according to this bill, may come in and ask for adjustment, which in my opinion means repayment of any moneys paid during those four years, of the difference between one per cent and two and seven-tenths per cent, according to the record which he himself might have established.

If it is not intended to do that, then that ought to be cleared up, because at first reading it gave me that impression, and I read it over five or six times on five or six separate days, and today I have come to the conclusion that it is subject to that interpretation.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia is in error, because this simply sets up the machinery for the operation and the carrying out of the provisions of the bill in the future.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this section as I have read it—and I very seriously call it to the attention of the Senate—has nothing to do with the setting up of methods—set up as a system whereby there shall be an adjustment for four years, whether it be prior to or subsequent to the act, and the method of obtaining the adjustment is set up in the supplementary procedural provisions of this bill. It is for that reason I call it to the attention of the members of the Senate today.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 177

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 177 passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. FARELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HOMSHER offered the following amendment:

Amend Senate Bill No. 177, printer's No. 178, by adding (k) on page 10 after line 24: (k) The provisions of this Act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment, and shall remain in effect for the duration of the present war and thereafter until the end of the calendar year in which occurs the beginning of the first regular session of the legislature which meets after the President of the United States declares that the present state of war no longer exists.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 193, entitled:

An Act to amend Section six hundred fifty-one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" permitting persons under the age of eighteen years to be present in bowling alleys

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 211, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine hundred eight subsection A of section one thousand six subsection A of section one thousand twelve and subsection B of section one thousand one hundred nine of the act approved the fifteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 624) entitled "An act relating to the business of banking and to the exercise of fiduciary powers by corporations providing for the organization of corporations with fiduciary powers and of banking corporations with or without fiduciary powers including the conversion of National banks into State banks and for the licensing of private bankers defining the rights powers duties liabilities and immunities of such corporations of existent corporations authorized to engage in a banking business with or without fiduciary powers of private bankers and of the officers directors trustees shareholders attorneys and other employes of all such corporations or private bankers or of affiliated corporations associations or persons restricting the exercise of banking powers by any other corporation association or person and of fiduciary powers by any other corporation conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts prothonotaries recorders of deeds and certain State departments, commissions and officers imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts" further regulating the amount and maintenance of reserve funds by banks and banks and trust companies and authorizing certain loans by banks and banks and trust companies which are guaranteed against loss by certain Federal agencies investments in second liens in cases and under conditions herein specified and further providing for the powers and limitations upon powers of corporations with fiduciary powers.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 211 contains amendments to the Banking Code of 1933, four of them, as a matter of fact. One of these amendments, which provides that a bank or a bank and trust company under certain circumstances may invest in certain liens where the same are second to a first lien, held by a bank, has been objectionable and it is the desire of the Banking Department, sponsoring this bill, that the objection be met by eliminating this feature from the bill.

For this reason, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendments:

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 2, by striking out after the bracket the following: "subsection A of"; Amend the title, page 1, line 3, by striking out at the beginning of the line the following: "section one thousand twelve": Amend the title, page 2, by striking out lines 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17; Amend the title, page 2, line 18, by striking out at the beginning of the line the following: "ditions herein specified and"; Amend the title, page 2, line 18, by inserting before the word "further" the word "by"; Amend the title, page 2, line 19, by inserting after the word "powers" the following: "and duties"; Amend the title, page 2, line 20, by striking out the entire line and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and persons authorized to engage in a banking or fiduciary business or both"; Amend Section 1, page 3, line 25, by striking out after the word "Board" the following: "not exceeding"; Amend Section 1, page 3, line 25, by inserting before the word "however" the word: "provided"; Amend Section 1, page 3, line 25, by inserting before the word "fifteen" the following: "that such reserve fund shall not be required to be established and maintained in an amount exceeding"; Amend Section 3, page 9, by striking out lines 19 to 28, inclusive; Amend Secton 3, page 10, by striking out lines 1 to 29, inclusive; Amend Section 3, page 11, by striking out lines 1 to 28, inclusive; Amend Section 3, page 12, by striking out lines 1 to 10, inclusive; Amend Section 4, page 12, line 11, by striking out after the word "Section" the numeral 4 and inserting in lieu thereof the numeral "3"; Amend Section 5, page 14, line 25, by striking out after the word "Section" the numeral 5 and inserting in lieu thereof the numeral "4."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 88 on second reading, entitled:

be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I understand that this bill is being recommitted to committee in view of the fact that a bill is coming from the House to repeal the Eckels Milk Bill.

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President, I have been notified that a bill is on its way through the House to amend the Public Assistance Law, which has in it amendments striking out the so-called Eckels milk law.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Delaware have in mind House Bill No. 1071, introduced by Mr. Van Allsburg?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, our Caucus was notified that a bill was on its way through the House, but I am sorry that I just can not tell the gentleman from Allegheny what number it is; I understand it was introduced by Mr. Van Allsburg.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I carefully checked with the House and find that there are two bills repealing the Eckels bill, one introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Curley, which is an outright repeal of the Eckels Bill, similar to the one that we now have before us in the Senate; the other is House Bill No. 1071, presented by Mr. Van Allsburg. The Van Allsburg bill couples with the repeal of the Eckels bill a number of changes in the Department of Public Assistance.

Mr. President, those of us who wish to repeal the Eckels milk bill, and when I say "us" I refer to the people of Pennsylvania, particularly mothers who are now on aid for dependent children, are asking for a repeal of this bill in its entirety. Now, for us to vote for a repeal of the Eckels bill in the Van Allsburg Bill, it will be necessary to vote for the return to the counties of ten per cent of the total cost of public assistance. This ten per cent will be placed on the small home owners of Pennsylvania.

Yesterday I had the pleasure of visiting the Governor's office, and while there I told the Governor's secretary that a bill to repeal the Eckels bill was now on the Calendar, and the Governor's secretary stated that the Governor was in favor of the repeal of the Eckels Bill.

Mr. President, this session will go down in the history of Pennsylvania as one of the biggest do-nothing sessions in its history. I have served four terms in the House, and in those four terms I do not know that in any of those terms I have done less for the people of Pennsylvania that I have in this session we are now in. When this session started we were led to believe it was going to be a war session, it was going to be a session of quick action; it was stated by the Governor, speaking as a soldier, that it would be a win-the-war-session. Up to date I say that this session has been far from winning the war. We have done nothing to back up our boys at the front, in fact all we have done is to pass bills helping certain interests of Pennsylvania.

We have, Mr. President, at this time the Majority Leader of this Senate asking that we return to committee a bill that would save the tax payers of Pennsylvania $75,000 a month. We have been in session three months, and in those three months we have wasted nearly one-quarter of a million dollars. Are we going to add on the month of April to the three months that have passed and add $75,000 to the tax bills of our people of this great Commonwealth? The Eckels bill never was wanted by the people of Pennsylvania. It was put there by a pressure group, the milk trust, and the members of this Senate know that it is impossible at the present time to give one pint of milk a day to children under sixteen. Milk must be bought now by the quart, and with the coming of hot weather, are you going to appropriate from the funds of the State of Pennsylvania sufficient money to buy for those poor unfortunate people, and in these times it does not only apply to the people on relief, it applies to widows, because milk today is being distributed among orphan children.

It has been stated on this floor in this Senate only last week, that one of the reasons why the Eckels milk bill was not repealed was that those people receiving relief moneys would buy liquor. I went to the trouble of checking up those people who do receive milk, and I say to the gentlemen of the Senate, that when a statement like that is made, it is attacking every widow whose children are receiving milk, and I say it comes in poor taste.

Yes, I agree with the gentlemtn from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that whiskey is in poor taste too, and I hope some of the members of the Senate listened to the words of Mr. Walker when he said that.

Mr. President, this is not a laughable matter. Mr. President, I demand order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Senate will be in order.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, this is one of the ruses used in this Senate many a time when important bills are up before the Senate that concern the poor people of Pennsylvania, but I have never heard any laughing or any redicule from certain members of this Senate when we are passing bills to favor the utilities or the special interests or the people that the Republican Party is in hock to, the Pews and the Grundys.

Yes, Mr. President, I say to you that this bill should not go back to committee; in going back to committee it is not carrying out the wishes of the people of Pennsylvania. This bill should be passed speedily and put into effect immediately so that we shall not continue to waste money.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President. I suppose it would be asking too much to be quoted accurately by the Senator from Allegheny County, or even by some of the newspapers in his vicinity, but just to keep the record straight, I would like to point out that last week when this topic was discussed, I said it was the policy of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, when it passed this Eckels bill, to make sure that the poor people of Pennsylvania received at least that much food, and that they would not divert that money into liquor and other channels. That was the policy of the Legislature when this bill was passed, and those conditions did exist then.

I also stated that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was not losing this great amount of money every month, but that it was the Federal government, which was failing to give us that money because it wanted to dictate the policies of this Commonwealth, to tell us what to do, to bribe us to make laws that the bureaucrats in Washington wanted rather than laws that the Legislature of this state thought were right.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would hate to follow the philosophy of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart. I have more faith in the common man than to stand on this floor and say that the common man of Pennsylvania would buy liquor with money that was given to him due to the collapse of our economic system. The men or women who were on relief were not on relief due to their own choosing; they were on relief due to the false wisdom, the false guidance that brought on this great depression. The foundation of that depression was laid during the administrations of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. It was the do-nothing administration of Coolidge that caused the false prosperity in this country, which caused us to go into that depression, and why should we not give to these people moneys which they had earned to create wealth in America and spend as they thought fit? I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, thank God for the bureaucrats in Washington who have that confidence in the common man and who knew in their wisdom that if they gave money to men of his type, they would use that money to promote special interests and force men and women who are denied the right to vote to buy things that they wanted to buy and help special interests make more money.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair wishes to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that we are on the question of whether or not this bill should be recommitted.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny for his very enlightening argument as to the sins and problems of the world. Nevertheless, I would like to just take a minute to tell the gentleman from Allegheny why I am moving that this bill go back to Committee.

I received a telephone call this morning from the Majority Leader of the House, in which he told me that this bill is in conflict with the public assistance law, so he had been told, and this other bill introduced by Mr. Van Allsburg, I think, is on its way through the House.

Therefore, Mr. President, the only thing to do, it seems to me, is to put both bills into committee and determine which of the bills does the job best, and then put that bill out and pass it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I press my motion that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, we only have three bills on the postponed calendar, and my suggestion is that we put this bill on the Postponed Calendar for a day or two because, when this bill was considered in committee, I was one of the members of the committee, and we were aware of the fact that the Van Allsburg bill was over in the House; we discussed it and we came to the conclusion that the Van Allsburg bill has matters in it that are quite controversial and that we might not agree with the passage of that bill, and therefore, since this bill has but one subject, we were all in agreement that this bill should be passed and recommended that it be reported out.

Now, if there is a question as to whether or not this other bill should be the one adopted—I understand it has already passed or is about to pass the House—we could put this bill on the Postponed Calendar for a day or two, and I suggest to the gentleman from Delaware, that he might adopt that suggestion.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I think the argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia falls of its own weight, because I say we could not very well consider one bill on the Calendar and one bill in committee, and I certainly think it would be much better to consider both bills in committee, and therefore, Mr. President, I press my motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I regret very much that it will be necessary for me to vote against this bill. This bill could have accomplished a very meritorious purpose, a purpose that I think every member of the Legislature would have been in favor of.

I regret, however, that as the bill has been amended, it does not accomplish the things that many of us would like it to do.

Mr. President, if you will bear with me, I would like to discuss some of the aspects of the bill that I think are defective and should be corrected. In the first place, as you well know, I believe that in order to have an efficient government, you must have efficient employes, and if the employes of government are constantly changing with each change in political power, the result will be a diminution of the effectiveness and ability of the people employed. It is an obvious fact that if a man does not have job security that out of fairness to that man and his family he can not engage in any industry, or in any employment in which his security will be of possible brief duration. That is my reason, in the first instance, for being for civil service.

Mr. President, in this particular bill there will be three types of employes employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. One group of employes will have complete civil service protection; the second group of employes, those employed subsequent to March 16, 1942, up until a date which would be the effective date that this legislation becomes a law, would have what the bill calls, war duration employment. After the war is over, these individuals will be compelled to take examinations, just as every other individual living in this Commonwealth must do.

Very frankly, Mr. President, I am in favor of that section of the bill; in fact, if it were pactical, I would like the date, March 16, 1942, to be changed to the date when the first conscription act was passed by the Federal Government: that perhaps would be the better date because if we set that date, then we would afford an opportunity for all the men and women in the armed forces of the United States to have an opportunity to take civil service examinations, so that they would be enabled to have employment in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have been informed, however, that for certain reasons, primarily that we perhaps would run into conflict with the Federal Government, that it is necessary to set March 16, 1942, as the date. The third provision of this act, and this is the provision that I feel is unnecessary, certainly not in keeping with the preamble of this bill, is that after this act becomes effective, any individuals employed then by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will not be employed through civil service. We know that there are certain departments of our government in which employes have civil service protection.

There are other departments in the Commonwealth in which people do not have civil service protection, but this bill provides that after the date of the passage of the act, that any individual employed in a department which now has civil service will no longer have it.

The argument has been used that this section is necessary, because there are departments of the government in which the civil service lists have been exhausted, and for that reason it would be impossible to obtain employes to work in those departments if this provision was not in the act. Perhaps that is so, but the number of those departments are relatively few as compared with the great number of departments which have civil service lists from which employes can be taken, and in order to protect the departments which have not sufficient lists or not sufficient persons in employment, this act could have been amended in an entirely different way, so that those departments could have the employes which it would be necessary for them to have. I understand that the Federal Government is confronted with that same proposition and that same problem and that the Federal Government is meeting it, and I am satisfied that if we would take two or three days, we could get the Federal enactments, and if they would be satisfactory to the sponsor, those provisions could be inserted in this bill and give us an opportunity to employ people who otherwise could not be employed under the provisions that I spoke about.

The preamble of this bill states that it was introduced for the purpose of giving the men and women in the armed forces of the United States an opportunity for employment in the Commonwealth, and our States Government.

Mr. President, there are other matters which have been brought to my attention. For instance, this act is going to affect men who were in the services of this country in other wars. Those men have a preferred rating in the State of Pennsylvania, they are given an additional ten per cent credit in every civil service examination that they take, and if they are on the list of candidates who passed the examination, it is mandatory that they be given that preference rather than some person who has not seen service in the armed forces of the United States.

Mr. President, I have not any particular objection to that state of affairs; it seems to me that the men and women of this country and of our state who have sacrificed their employment and their security and are risking their lives are entitled to every gift that the Commonwealth or the people of Pennsylvania can possibly give them. I would like to point this out to you, however, that when this war is over, it will be almost an impossibility for any person who has not been in the armed forces of the United States, either in this war or any other war, to be employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because of this legislative preference which the Legislature has given to them, and that means that too many men and women who are engaged in war industries which play a vital part in the preparation for this war and the conduct of it, are not going to have an opportunity to work for their Commonwealth. That, of course, is a matter not particularly pertinent to this bill, but it is a matter which I certainly think should be considered.

I certainly hope that the sponsor of this bill at this time instead of proceeding to force the members on the Democratic side of this Senate to vote against this bill, will withdraw his desire to have the bill considered, and send it back to the committee and let the many members of this Senate on both sides of the Senate propose those things that perhaps we all can agree on. Regardless of the vote today, regardless of whether this bill passes or not, I want to say this for the Democratic members on this side, that any negative vote is not a vote against giving employment to the men and women who are engaged in the armed forces of the United States.

We have heard many speeches on the floor of this Senate which were prefaced by a passionate appeal to the patriotism of the members of this Senate, who had a deep concern for the men and women who were in the armed services of our country and out of the Commonwealth, but I say, unfortunately, in many cases, those appeals had no relation whatsoever to the legislation under discussion.

It is true that every member of this Senate is sincerely interested in winning the war, but I sincerely hope in winning this war that we do not destroy many of the great things for which this war is being fought, and I believe that civil service is one of the great things which we have accomplished by legislation, and I certainly hope, under guise of a war measure, that there can be no destruction of the little civil service that we do have.

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rev. Chester S. Simonton, D.D., Pastor St. Paul's Lutheran Church, York, a guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

"O Thou, in might so very far,
In love so very near,
Above the realm of sun and star—
And yet, beside us here."

We thank Thee, our Heavenly Father, for the intimate sense of Thy presence. We thank Thee for the many expressions of Thy love, the evidences of Thy guiding hand and constraining spirit.

Look down upon us this day as a group of Thy servants assembled in this legislative body. Inspire us with true patriotic zeal and the privilege of serving this great Commonwealth and humanity everywhere for Thy Name's sake.

Especially at this sacred Lenten Season would we pray that the spirit of Him who came "not to be ministered unto but to minister" may take such possession to our minds and hearts that, purged of every selfish motive, we may lay our best—our all upon the altar of right and truth and everlasting justice.

Bestow Thy protecting providence upon the President of the United States. Give wisdom, O God, and an understanding of Thy will to him and to all those associated with him in government.

Undergird with Thy sustaining grace the Governor of our State, the members of Senate and House of Representatives. Impress upon our people the solemn responsibility of their citizenship and unite us in the glorious bonds of undying faith and unswerving loyalty.

Remember, we pray Thee, all peoples everywhere upon whom have fallen the calamities of war and oppression. Lay Thy comforting hand in benediction upon the innumerable homes and hearts that have been torn and broken by loneliness and separation. Draw near O God, in Thine infinite comradeship, to millions of young men and women scattered across the world in the military service of our country. Protect them from all danger both of body and soul. Give them courage for every duty, and strength and skill for every task.

Hasten, we pray Thee, the day of Universal Peace, and so prepare the hearts of men that when it comes we may be ready to receive it, and to cherish it, and to preserve it forever.

All this we ask in the name of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr.

HOUSE BILL No. 1092.

An Act to amend section twelve of the act, approved the fourteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 710), entitled "An act allowing and regulating boxing, sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions; estabishing a State Athletic Commission; making an appropriation therefor; and appropriating moneys received for monument and memorial purposes; and prescribing penalties," changing the minimum age for participants in amateur boxing, sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions and providing a penalty.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WALLIN. RESOLUTION No. 54.

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1943.

The House of Representatives of the General Assembly on Thursday, April 1st, unanimously passed House Bill No. 816 granting a much deserved pay increase to school teachers throughout the Commonwealth.

There are other employes of the various school districts of the Commonwealth however who are salaried and who by reason of the increased cost of living have found themselves financially embarrassed.

These persons are the non-professional employes, the janitors, caretakers, clerks, secretaries and stenographers whose labor contributes also to the successful operation of the school system.

An attempt was made to amend House Bill No. 816 by including therein an increas of fifteen per centum of present salaries for those employes but the plan failed due to the added burden it placed upon the Commonwealth, which would probably have caused the final defeat of the increase for the professional employes.

The Commonwealth having decided to increase the salaries of the teachers it seems eminently fair that the local boards of school directors should assume the burden of providing a living wage for those other employes of the school districts; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, That while it recognizes the need of the non-professional employes of the school districts throughout the Commonwealth of an increase in salary of at least fifteen per centum of existing salaries in order to maintain a proper living standard, it feels that the local authorities should assume this added cost of administering the system; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall forward a copy of this resolution to each board of school directors within the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

By Messrs. READINGER, SCANLON, STOCKHAM and BRETHERICK. RESOLUTION No. 55.

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1943.

Whereas, The House of Representatives of the General Assembly at the Regular Session of 1941, adopted on January 7, a resolution (Serial No. 12), whereby a special committe of five members was appointed to investigate a threatened discontinuance of W. P. A. sewing projects in Pennsylvania because of the refusal of this Commonwealth to contribute certain funds therefor as required by the Federal Government; and

Whereas, The Honorable William A. Shaw was designated as chairman of said committee; and

Whereas, The entire appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) made to such committee under Appropriation Act 63-A, to cover the expenses of that investigation, was duly paid to the aforesaid William A. Shaw by the State Treasurer; and

Whereas, The investigation directed to be made by said committee was completed and a preliminary report filed with the General Assembly on February 17, 1942; and

Whereas, The chairman of the committee has never made any accounting of the disposition of the three thousand dollars ($3,000) appropriation turned over to him; and

Whereas, The remaining four members of the committee have not received any reimbursement for the expenditures actually made by them in connection with this investigation; now therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five members be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to investigate immediately the expenditures by William A. Shaw of the appropriation above referred to; and be it further

Resolved, That William A. Shaw shall forthwith file an accounting of the uses made of such funds.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

By Messrs. MORAN and HEATHERINGTON.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 56.

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1943.

Ten Point Legislative Program

Whereas, Winning the war is our number one job today, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can contribute most to our speedy and total triumph over the Axis by ensuring support to every phase of our war effort. This can best be done by strengthening within this State the democracy we are fighting for, strengthening the morale and health and working efficiency of our people, by strengthening our resources for Victory; and

Whereas, All groups within this Commonwealth have expressed their desire to win this war, the labor movement, the Governor of the Commonwealth as the leader of the party in power, the leaders of the minority party, and the people as a whole, have pledged themselves to support the cause of Victory; and it is therefore resolved that to secure this objective in the shortest possible time, it will require the carrying out of the following legislative program in this Commonwealth:

One. State aid in industrial areas, with full attention to mining communities, for health clinics through the Department of Health; for recreational facilities for war workers and their families as a contribution to production efficiency and morale; and to establish child care centers or nurseries to enable maximum use of all available workers. Federal funds are available if the State takes initiative and assures administration of a program.

Two. Extension of our political democracy to ensure the right to vote to all citizens who have reached their eighteenth birthday. We are inducting eighteen-year-olds into our Army, and we can surely therefore grant them the franchise.

Three. No legislation designed to crack down on the working people and their unions; such legislation merely threatens disunity, weakens our production drive, and is no fitting answer to the all-out effort being given by the war workers and their organizations. Vigorous opposition to the Woodward Bill, the Tyler Bill, the McMillen Bill in the House, and similar measures.

Four. Maintain and extend our economic democracy as a bulwark for Victory; liberalize the Unemployment Compensation Law to include partial unemployment compensation, extension of benefit payments, increase in benefits, and reduction of the waiting period; improvement of the workmen's compensation legislation, to assure particularly employers' financial responsibility; an amendment to the Female Labor Act to provide that women shall receive equal pay for the same work; other measures in this direction include health insurance, restoration of the Anti-Injunction Act and the Labor Relations Act to effectively outlaw company unions; pay increases for teachers and other public school employees and maintenance of an adequate educational budget; and action to remove humiliating provisions from present relief acts relating to public assistance.

Five. No return of the Department of Public Assistance financial burdens to the Counties. This measure would discriminate against those who require and will require this assistance, and create chaos in financing and administering a real public assistance program.

Six. Aggressive action by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in behalf of the working farmers, directed toward increasing agricultural production to win the war and assuring decent conditions to the small farmers. This must include State action for full use and pooling of machinery, State maintained repair stations, and fair distribution of repair parts; State action to assure enlargement of small farms for greater production, shifting farmers from poor to better lands where greater production can be secured, and State aid for low cost credit facilities for the farmers; State assistance for aid in marketing facilities for small producers, including transportation assistance where necessary; a State farm relief program for working farmers threatened by sheriff sales, mortgages, and other financial crises. Plans for maintaining the post war farm market by providing adequate security and continued employment; plans for post war extension of rural electrification and cooperatives through State aid.

Seven. Vigorous action for legislation to assure American rights to national and religious minorities by outlawing discrimination in employment in war industry, public agencies, utilities, mines, and other enterprises, and legislation to make it illegal to include discriminatory references in advertising for employment.

Eight. A democratic State tax policy, which will further tap profits and assure revenues to carry out this program without imposing new burdens on the common people. Opposition to proposed large reduction in corporation taxes to shift the tax burden to the common man; no sales tax.

Nine. Action against stream pollution to conserve the health and natural resources of our Commonwealth and to assure more easily available areas for Pennsylvania sportsmen; extension of flood control.

Ten. A comprehensive and adequate plan for post war security with a place in the budget for such planning; with attention to the problem of industrial workers, farmers, miners, and the people as a whole; It is therefore further

Resolved That the adoption of this program by the legislature will assure the maximum mobilization of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, its people, and its resources, behind the effort of America and the United Nations for a speedy Victory over the enemy.

By Mr. HOLMES. Concurrent (Not printed).

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1943.

Carbon County was created by an act of Assembly of March 13, 1843 more than one hundred years after the arrival of a group of Moravians in search of a haven of safety.

From the time of the arrival of that interpid band of white men and women who later survived the great Gnaden Hutton Massacre in 1755 the territory they settled has prospered.

In this territory Benjamin Franklin, recognizing it as an outer defense of Philadelphia, personally supervised the building of Fort Franklin in what is now Weissport as a protection and a barrier against the Indians of the North.

In 1791 Philip Ginter discovered anthracite coal and started one of the great industries of the Commonwealth and which led to the building of the Lehigh Valley Railroad in 1855 by Asa Packer who later built and heavily endowed Lehigh University.

From this county came men who have contributed greatly to the development of the Commonwealth. They marched and endured with Washington, their sons answered the call of Abraham Lincoln, and fought in France and their grandsons and great grandsons are now scattered over the battlefields of Europe and Asia and are demonstrating the same bravery and fortitude that marked those heroic founders of this county.

On Monday, March 8, 1943, the Carbon County Historical Society petitioned the Court of Common Pleas of Carbon County to hold a special session of the court on Saturday, March 13, 1943, in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of Carbon County.

The court granted the prayer of the petition and on March 13, 1943, a special session of the court was held in the Court House with Judge James C. McCready presiding.

Fred Brenckman, formerly of Hudsondale, representative of the National Grange and author of the History of Carbon County was the principal speaker. Congressman Francis E. Walter, Judge Samuel Shull, Monroe County, Judge Frank McClusky, Northampton County, State Senator M. F. Crowe, Hon. Elmer Holmes of the House of Representatives and others also spoke.

It was an impressive, instructive and successful celebration of an important happening and those responsible for the preparation of the program and the carrying out of the plans are deserving of great credit. It was an occasion of which some permanent record should be made; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly extends to the people of Carbon County its congratulations upon the successful celebration of the one hundreth anniversary of the founding of their county, it congratulates also those who planned and carried out the celebration and those who took part in it; and be it further

Resolved, That in order to make a permanent record of the occasion it is ordered that this resolution be printed in the Legislative Journal and that a copy thereof be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Honorable James C. McCready President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Carbon County.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SARGE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and fellow statesmen of the House, I want to quote to you very briefly from an article in the Philadelphia Inquirer, I think it was, dated Washington, D. C. The article is as follows:

> The traditional Easter Egg rolling on the White House lawn, called off last year has been cancelled again.
> This was disclosed today by the Agricultural Department in an appeal to parents, children and dealers to prevent the wasteful use of eggs, live baby chicks and ducklings during the Easter season.
> The announcement described cancellation of the White House egg rolling as "an example for the nation."

Mr. Speaker, in this manner I desire to call attention to Resolution No. 53 which I introduced in this House Thursday of last week. I think in view of the fact that we have a food shortage certainly this Legislature would be guilty of a great misdemeanor if it did not take action on this resolution immediately. The resolution will not do much good this year unless it is passed immediately because of the proximity of the Easter season. It has been estimated that perhaps if this resolution is not enacted we may again see the loss of over one million chickens and ducks in Pennsylvania which otherwise could be used for the Army which is now engaged in war. This is a patriotic measure and it is a war measure. It is not a political measure. It has often been said by the leaders of this Legislature that this is to be a war session, and I want to say that we have passed many bills that have nothing to do with the war. Here is an opportunity to balance the situation. There is need for this legislation to be passed promptly, and I say again if we don't pass this resolution we are only giving lip service in our effort to further the prosecution of the war, and I appeal to the Agricultural Committee to bring this resolution out immediately so that the people of Pennsylvania will know that we really are war conscious.

RESOLUTION

Mr. SARGE offered a privilege resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1943.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 836, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and sections four, six, seven and eight of the act approved the nineteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 6) entitled "An act relating to national and State defense, providing for the establishment of a State Council of Defense and of local and district councils of defense, prescribing the powers and duties thereof, and making an appropriation therefor," by conferring certain powers and duties upon the State Council of Defense, local and district councils of defense; eliminating certain provisions no longer in effect; and providing penalties.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered the following amendments:

Amend section 2, page 4, line 27 by striking out at the end of the line the following: "[matter deemed by the]," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "matters directly or indirectly."

Amend section 2, page 4, line 28 by striking out at the beginning of the line the following: "[State Council essential]," and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "related."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1003, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the Department of Highways to erect and maintain as a post war construction project a toll bridge over the Allegheny River between a point in or near the Borough of Tarentum Allegheny County and a point in Westmoreland County and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways providing for the acceptance of Federal aid empowering counties to pay certain damages providing for the collection of tolls on such bridge and making an appropriation

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LOVETT offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "County" the following: "to be selected by the Secretary of the Department of Highways with the approval of the commissioners of Allegheny and Westmoreland Counties."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LEYDIC. Mr. Speaker, I rise on this occasion to ask the membership of the House to vote down these amendments. This bill has been carefully prepared by the different departments and has been given approval by the Secretary of Highways, the Attorney General and the Administration. They are all of the opinion that no further amendments should be added to this bill and I, therefore, ask the membership of the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leydic.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEYDIC. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker I would like to ask the gentleman if the Commissioners of Allegheny County have been consulted on this bill.

Mr. LEYDIC. Mr. Speaker, I have talked with the Commissioners of Allegheny County.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if the Commissioners of Allegheny County have approved the present bill?

Mr. LEYDIC. They are in favor of the present bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker may I ask the gentleman if the Commissioners of Westmoreland County have been contacted on this bill.

Mr. LEYDIC. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is the Representative from Westmoreland County.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is the sponsor of the bill. Does he know that the Commissioners of Westmoreland County have been consulted on this bill?

Mr. LEYDIC. Not as far as I am concerned, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman take his bill up with the Commissioners of Allegheny County?

Mr. LEYDIC. Mr. Speaker there is a copy of this identical bill on their desks, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker may I ask the gentleman if he took it up personally with the commissioners of Allegheny County.

Mr. LEYDIC. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman if he gave the same consideration to the Commissioners of Westmoreland County?

Mr. LEYDIC. I did not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman if he does not think that it would have been fair at least before this bill is passed that he gave the same consideration to the Commissioners of Westmoreland County?

Mr. LEYDIC. I think, Mr. Speaker, perhaps as a matter of courtesy, but I did not have the time. Furthermore inasmuch as the state is furnishing the funds for the building of this bridge I felt that the entire situation should be handled by the Secretary of Highways.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he would agree to hold this bill over, and give the same consideration to the Commissioners of Westmoreland County that he gave to the Commissioners of Allegheny County?

Mr. LEYDIC. I will not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. That is all.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that since Mr. Leydic has given consideration to the Commissioners of Allegheny County in contacting them on this particular piece of legislation and they have agreed with him, since this bill affects Westmoreland and Allegheny counties I feel that it is only fair and just that the gentleman give the same consideration to the Commissioners of Westmoreland County. I feel that the people of Westmoreland County are vitally interested in this piece of legislation. I feel sure that they would like at least that their Commissioners be given the same consideration as has been given the Commissioners of Allegheny County. I, therefore, ask the membership of this House to support the amendment to this bill in order that the Commissioners of Westmoreland County may be given the same consideration as the Commissioners of Allegheny County.

Mr. LEYDIC. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the Commissioners of Westmoreland County have had proper notice. These bills have been printed and the Representatives should have taken these bills home; there has been plenty of time. In 1941 this bill passed the House unanimously. Three or four weeks ago I presented a bridge bill in the House and it reached second reading, at which time there were no amendments offered. I produced this bill which has the proper stamp of approval, and I feel that the membership is justified at this particular time in voting down this amendment, and I shall request the membership on both sides of the House to support my plea.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOVETT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett state whether or not this bridge will be a detriment to Westmoreland County?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I do not think a bridge anywhere in Westmoreland County would be a detriment to Westmoreland County.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman admit that this would be beneficial to Westmoreland County?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that I got the gentleman's question.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman admit that this bridge will be of benefit to Westmoreland County?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say that this bridge will possibly be a greater benefit to Westmoreland County if we have the advice of the Commissioners as to the location of the bridge.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, have the County Commissioners of Westmoreland County been down to this session of the legislature while this bridge bill has been pending?

Mr. LOVETT. To my knowledge, Mr. Speaker, the Commissioners of Westmoreland County have not been in Harrisburg while this bill has been pending.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, was the gentleman from Westmoreland at the Municipal Authorities hearing down in the Caucus Room last week or the week before, one of those two weeks?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, no, I do not think I was at that hearing.

Mr. DENMAN. The County Commissioners of Westmoreland County were there, Mr. Speaker. I wish to thank the gentleman from Westmoreland Mr. Lovett.

Mr. Speaker, I know of no reason why this bill should not pass or why the bridge should not be constructed on the part of Westmoreland County, and I ask the members of this House to cooperate with the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Leydic.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Denman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, was the particular bill on the calendar and before the House at the time the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Denman saw the Commissioners here in Harrisburg

Mr. DENMAN. This particular bill was on the calendar, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. At that time, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. DENMAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to explain to the membership of the House that these amendments only give the right to the Commissioners in Allegheny County and Westmoreland County to have a voice in saying where this bridge should be located in Westmoreland and Allegheny Counties.

Mr. Speaker, I think this is a fair amendment and I think that the Commissioners of Westmoreland County and the people of Westmoreland County through some representation should be given some say in the location of this bridge. I ask the membership of the House to vote for these amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say at this time that under House Bill 1003, Printer's No. 292, amendment to which have been offered, here is a measure which deals entirely with the welfare of the people in that sector of Allegheny County and the welfare of the people in that sector of Westmoreland County who would be most interested in the proposal which has been sponsored by the gentleman from Allegheny.

I wish to say, Mr. Speaker, in my humble estimation that certainly the more direct governmental bodies which have the welfare of those two counties in their hands in regard to governmental procedure should be given a hand in deciding where the bridge is to be constructed. I feel that on a direct home rule basis a local county certainly would be able to show the Department of Highways the best possible location for such a structure inasmuch as those authorities are much more acquainted with the problem in their individual counties than the Department of Highways located in Harrisburg. I feel that the amendment should be placed in the bill specifically for the purpose of guaranteeing to the people of each of these several communities a voice as to the proper place in which to construct the bridge. In regard to this, Mr. Speaker, may I point out that we have in each sector some progressive community which will be greatly benefited by such a structure, but certainly they will not be benefited by this structure if it is not placed at an advantageous point wherein the people would be taken care of. I feel that if those local bodies of the government the privilege of sitting in with the Department of ways' agents that they would more nearly come to fect conclusion as to where the greater good would be derived from the construction proposed by this measure.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask the Members of the House to vote for the amendments in regard to home rule and in regard to the welfare of the people in the County of Allegheny and the welfare of the people in the County of Westmoreland who are affected by this proposal.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Lovett and Mr. Modell.

L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" providing for the salary of the controller

Section 1 Section one thousand one hundred two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Winner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WINNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Montgomery as to whether or not this bill provides an increase in the salaries of first class township controllers, and various scales of raise in pay.

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, I would say that this bill does grant an increase in pay to the controllers in townships of the first class by ordinance passed by the township commissioners, the governing body of the township.

Mr. LEVY. May I further inquire of the gentleman from Montgomery if this particular measure, House Bill 851, would ask the Legislature to correct a situation in the particular case that requires the permission of the Legislature for the township to do so, is that correct?

Mr. WINNER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bill 851, about which we are debating at the present time, is apparently a very innocent piece of legislation, and knowing the gentleman from Montgomery as I do, I know that he means it to be as such. Yet, Members of the House, I regret that I cannot permit this bill to go on to final passage without commenting on both the purpose of the measure and the results which it attempts to attain. Certainly, very obviously, gentlemen, we are very gradually, rather slowly, of course, but very gradually seeing a certain pattern being evolved in the Commonwealth, the same sort of pattern about which I spoke a few weeks ago, relative to candidates who run for office on one promise and the same candidates when elected adopt another kind of performance.

Mr. Speaker, at the outset I wish to say that I am not referring to the gentleman from Montgomery, but it is a bill that he introduced into this House and a bill which he asks the House to approve that makes the issue before the House become quite clear. The bill provides that there shall be a raise in pay for politicians. Gentlemen, we had before the House for two weeks at least what is commonly called the Teachers Bonus Bill of Pennsylvania. I listened rather attentively to the Republican proponents of that bill when they refused on this floor an amendment introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien, which would give the school teachers of Pennsylvania an added rise-in-cost-of-living wage that was not brought up by the particular bill on debate. The same Republican majority now brings House Bill 851 out of committee. The same Republican majority that permits House Bill 851 to be placed upon third reading in this House is the same political party, gentlemen, that deprived the teachers of a little more money during war time. Unfortunately, gentlemen, the two bills are not on the same level, primarily because House Bill 851 has nothing to do with the war emergency, which in my opinion deserves less attention than the bill which was discussed last week relative to the teachers. Yet, within the wisdom of the Republican party they have seen fit to bring this bill out on the floor of the House and deny the same right or less right to the teachers of Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. Speaker, what does this bill propose? It proposes to give the first class townships of Pennsylvania the right to grant the following increases: those controllers making three thousand six hundred dollars a year are to be given four thousand dollars a year.

Last week when the plea was made on this floor for another one hundred dollars for teachers earning up to twenty-five hundred dollars, the Republican party said, We cannot do it. Oh, I know what might be the answer of the gentlemen on the other side. They may say that the one bill would cost the State of Pennsylvania some money, while on the other hand House Bill 851 only places the obligation upon the local community. I say to you, gentlemen, spending money by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or by the local community in first class townships of Pennsylvania, is still spending money, and the money comes from the taxpayers of Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. Speaker, House Bill 851 provides money for politicians. House Bill 816 provided money for teachers. That may be the difference. That, gentlemen, is what compels me this afternoon to arise in opposition to House Bill 851. Is the Republican party going to say to the people of Pennsylvania that they are following the Republican party in the United States by serving politicians and politicians only to the detriment of the teachers in their state or any other state? I say to the gentleman from Montgomery and I say to the Republican majority in this House, let us be clear on one issue without raising the cry of politics, let us be clear on the issue of what we mean. If House Bill 851 provides money for politicians and the Republican party favors House Bill 851, the amendments of House Bill 816 last week provided less money for the smaller bracket teachers in their own sphere of earning capacity, so then I say the Republican party has brought the issue clearly home. They are for politicians frankly and honestly, and are not for the teachers of Pennsylvania. They are not, I might say, for any other group that do not concern themselves with a political flavor.

Mr. Speaker, I say for the Members of my party our position is clear, we were for amending House Bill 816, we were forgiving the smaller bracketed teachers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania another $100.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his point of order.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not speaking on the bill before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is very well taken. The gentleman will confine himself to the bill before the House.

Mr. LEVY. In regard to your interpretation, Mr. Speaker, or rather your ruling on the point of order, might I only suggest that I am attempting to point out to the membership of the House the similarity in the two bills, one having been discussed and the other which is before the House at the present time, and I feel that I am within the purview of what we call order in the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no recourse. The question before the House is on House Bill 851, Printer's No. 304. There is nothing in this bill concerning House Bill 816. The Chair has only the recourse of stating the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I might only add in support of my argument, that House Bill 816 which was discussed before in the House, only amended a former Act of this House, and I am certainly in order, I believe, when I discuss the amendments to an Act that was passed a session ago.

The SPEAKER. The Chair insists that the gentleman confine himself to the question before the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is it within the rules of the House to discuss on the floor of the House the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

The SPEAKER. The Chair for the information of the House will read Rule No. 3, as follows:

> He shall preserve order and decorum and in debate shall prevent personal reflection, and confine members to the question under discussion. When two or more members shall rise at the same time, he shall name the one entitled to the floor.

The Chair will also read rule 63 for the information of the House, as follows:

> When a member is about to speak in debate, or to communicate any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," confining his remarks to the subject before the House, and avoiding personal reflections.

The Chair will also say to the gentleman that the point of order having been raised, the Chair had no recourse. The Chair is of the opinion that House Bill 816 has no direct relation to this bill. Certainly the gentleman would be allowed to discuss the laws of the Commonwealth; but he also would be confined by the point of order raised by the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand then, I did not get the Speaker's statement quite clearly, but I think I heard this part of it, that the gentleman would not be out of order if in his remarks on the present bill he were to discuss the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is trying to make clear to the gentleman from Philadelphia, providing the law relates to the question before the House, then the gentleman certainly would be permitted to discuss the law.

Mr. COHEN. Am I to understand then, Mr. Speaker, that there can be no debate on any bill before this House that touches any of the laws, including the constitution of Pennsylvania, or any reference thereto, if it does not specifically refer to the bill in question?

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not state it that way, and the rules do not read that way.

Mr. COHEN. I am trying to be clear, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The rules deal with the subject matter before the House.

Mr. COHEN. Do I understand then, Mr. Speaker, in any debate on a bill before this House, that should it in any way refer to any law of the Commonwealth, such other law cannot be discussed?

The SPEAKER. The Speaker believes he has answered that question. If the law is germane to the subject, if it pertains to the discussion of the subject which is primarily before the House.

Mr. COHEN. May I then ask this, Mr. Speaker, would the point of order raised require the Speaker to impose his judgment as to whether or not the bill under discussion was germane to the other laws being discussed?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to understand that query. Will the gentleman please repeat it?

Mr. COHEN. The question I asked was this, Mr. Speaker: when a point of order is raised that the person on the floor is not debating the subject before the House, or if in debate reference is made to any other law of the Commonwealth, then is it within the right of the Speaker to decide whether or not the two matters are related?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Philadelphia that is the intent of the rule. The rule says that the Speaker shall endeavor to have the Member confine himself to the subject.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in the discussion of a subject before the House, is it permissible to make comparison of facts which are known to the Members of the House, although no reference is made to any particular legislation?

The SPEAKER. Any member in discussing a question before the House naturally can compare facts, if those facts are necessary to prove his point, if they are germane and if they are pertinent to the subject before the House.

Mr. COHEN. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 851 is a bill to increase the salary of politicians. You will note, gentlemen, that the bill makes no reference to the war emergency; the bill makes no reference as to a temporary period of time. The bill is apparently an effort to give politicians more money. Now, how could the leadership of the Republican party dare come out in the open and ask for support of a bill to raise wages of politicians, and understand me, gentlemen, in the $3600 bracket, when they have denied by their own action the right to give teachers a smaller raise in pay who are only making up to $2,499? Then, gentlemen, remember that their denial to the teachers was for a limited period of time only, for the duration of this present emergency.

I say this afternoon we are establishing a very dangerous precedent. I think that history books will prove that dictatorships in Europe were started by favoritism to politicians and denial of rights to the people. I charge this afternoon that this is exactly what House Bill 851 does when we know the action which this House took a few weeks ago on other legislation. I say, gentlemen, like one of the Republican Members said only yesterday, maybe we have to be bombed, maybe we have to have something serious happen to our own soil and our own people, our own children, before the Republican majority in Pennsylvania wakes up to the fact that we are fighting a war, that we have pledges of the Governor to keep. I say to you, gentlemen, House Bill 851 should be defeated on the ground that it serves politicians to the detriment of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia how he voted on the bill that raised the salaries of teachers of the Commonwealth, which was before this House last week?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. COHEN. I yield, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The interrogation is out of order.

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his question of inquiry.

Mr. CORDIER. The gentleman, Mr. Speaker, in his remarks has been given very wide latitude on the question of discussing any bill which is not germane to the subject before the House. He was allowed to use the increase in the salaries of teachers in his argument, and I think I am entitled to have the gentleman give me an answer to my question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, raised the point of order against the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, but is certainly out of order in his present interrogation. The Chair so rules.

Mr. CORDIER. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. May I say, Mr. Speaker, "Let he who hath not sinned cast the first stone."

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, has picked on an innocent bill introduced by myself in order to make his daily hour speech. This bill, gentlemen of the House, is a bill which would give the commissioners of first class townships the right to fix by ordinance the salary of the controller.

I come from the county of Montgomery, which has a goodly number of first class townships which are known throughout the state of Pennsylvania, first class townships which have no bonded indebtedness and which run their government in a way that government should be run. Montgomery County has no bonded indebtedness, it has the lowest tax rate of any debt-free county in Pennsylvania. When Mr. Levy, the gentleman from Philadelphia, says that this is a bill to raise the salaries of politicians, then it would be a good thing if other political subdivisions of this state would have the type of men to run their government that we have in Montgomery County.

This is a home rule bill. It leaves entirely to the political subdivision and their governing bodies the right to raise salaries and put a ceiling on the salaries which they are to receive. I ask the Members of the House to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Montgomery very clearly stated his position on this bill. Frankly I don't know, but I don't think there is anyone on this side who has any quarrel with this bill as a bill and for the practical result to be obtained. I am very much in accord with the gentleman from Montgomery when he says this is a home rule bill, and we have no quarrel with home rule. I have been on the floor many times during the past sessions and in this session and I have been talking home rule. As a matter of fact I was interested in home rule particularly in the Charter Act for Philadelphia, but the gentlemen on the other side would not give us that in 1939. Home rule ought to mean that the commissioners of first class townships ought not to have to come to Harrisburg and ask to get their salaries raised. If they have good people in Montgomery County who know how to run their government, and I can attest the fact that the gentlemen in Montgomery County do know how to run their government, why is it necessary to have every two years pleas in Harrisburg from these men to get permission to do what they ought to be able to do themselves? That is home rule, and not this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Schuster, Bentley and Lovett asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, a member who was in the hall of the House at the time the roll was called and did not vote, left the hall of the House and then returned on verification, is he permitted to vote?

The SPEAKER. A Member who was in the hall of the House at the time the roll was called is entitled to vote.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, does that ruling apply even though he did not vote at the time he was in the hall of the House?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the privilege to vote.

Mr. LEVY. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 67, Printer's No. 173, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 756, as follows:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 1172) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 208) entitled 'An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words "drug" and "poison" and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity' requiring permits to conduct pharmacies provdiing for the revocation thereof and prescribing penalties" by adding to the qualification required of applicants for a pharmacy license

Section 1 Section two of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 1172) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the seventhteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker there is no objection to this bill as to the proposed amendment, but I wish to call the attention of the sponsor to what I consider to be possibly poor wording. I trust that the gentleman will take it up subsequently with the Senate.

The amendment to the bill appears on page 1, line 21 after the words "good moral character." Those words immediately follow the word "corporations." Since corporations have no soul or flesh or blood, I am just wondering what gives the corporation good moral character. I trust what the gentleman means is that the officers of the corporation are supposed to have good moral character. I merely call that to the attention of the sponsor of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSON TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COOPER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that today House Bill 486, which amends the Building & Loan Code, has been reported out with amendment. I do not think I am breaching any confidence of the committee when I say that this bill is to be recommitted Monday night for the purpose of a public hearing next Wednesday morning in the House Caucus Room at 10 o'clock:

I am making this announcement because this is a very important bill. It is the only bill which has come into the Building & Loan Committee, and any Member of this House who is interested in building and loan legislation should make it his business to be present at the hearing. The Senate members will also be notified of the hearing, and as much publicity as possible will be given to it.

RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules as committed a House Resolution (not printed) and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1943.

The Honorable Samuel J. Perry a former Member of this House from the 19th District of Philadelphia County died on Monday, March 29th, at the age of seventy-one years.

He was a Member of this House during an uninterrupted period of twenty-two years, and since his retirement in 1932, he has been employed in the office of the sheriff of Philadelphia County.

He was a member of the Republican Executive Committee of Philadelphia, president of the First Independent Club of the 25th Ward, and the founder of the Westmoreland Republican Club.

As a Member of this House he was in constant attendance during its sessions, and displayed keen interest in matters affecting the welfare of his constituents; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives marks with sorrow the passing of one who devoted so much of his life in attending to the duties of his office as a Member of the General Assembly and extends to the surviving members of his family its most sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall forward a copy of this resolution to those who survive him.

RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules as committed Senate Concurrent Resolution Serial No. 117 and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the Senate, March 30, 1943.

Whereas, Pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution of March 5, 1941 adopted by the Senate on March 5, 1941 and concurred in by the House on March 17, 1941, a Commission was appointed by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania known as the "Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania" for the purpose of eloving plans in collaboration with the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission established by U. S. Congress in order that same may be submitted to the celebration of the Bicentennial of the birth of Thomas Jefferson on April 13, 1943;

Whereas, The Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania evolved elaborate plans long before the entry of the United States into the present global war calling for a grandiose celebration throughout the entire breadth and length of our Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Our present war-efforts call for an avoidance of any and all detractions from our total war-efforts needed for the attainment of victory and thus preclude local celebrations in each one of the thirty-six districts originally designated by the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania as well as the execution of the maximum program, the blueprint whereof was submitted to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on March 11, 1942, and

Whereas, The Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania decided to recommend to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to limit the celebration of the Bicentennial of the birth of Thomas Jefferson to (1) a Joint Commemorative Session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on Wednesday, April 14, 1943 at 12 P. M. noon, Eastern War Time, to receive appropriate messages from His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania and many other dignitaries, (2) for the issuance of Commemorative Certificates for distribution among the members of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and collaborators of the Commission, (3) To distribute 21 prizes in War Bonds totalling $700.00 for the best essay to be entitled "The Spiritual Legacy of Thomas Jefferson" in a state-wide contest, to be conducted autonomously in each one of the seven districts designated by the Commission and (4) to ask His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania to issue an appropriate Proclamation in Commemoration of the Birth of Thomas Jefferson and his immortal contribution to the American ideology of Government, now be it therefore

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Senate and the House of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania hold a joint session on Wednesday, April 14, 1943 at 12 o'clock P. M. noon, Eastern War Time, to hear the commemorative messages of His Excellency Edward Martin, Governor of Pennsylvania, His Excellency Colgate Darden, Governor of Virginia, Dr. Robert L. Johnson, Chairman of the State-wide Committee of Educators and other dignitaries; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of Pennsylvania be requested to issue an appropriate Proclamation commemorating the Bicentennial of the Birth of Thomas Jefferson on April 13, 1943.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. LOVETT and PETROSKY offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1943.

The frequency of the appearance of birthdays in this House leads to the presumption that most of the members were winter or spring babies.

The latest to claim special legislative attention is of most tender age, because it is stated that life begins at forty, and it was only that long ago that Roy C. Haberlen let out his first lusty cry at Latrobe in Westmoreland County.

He graduated from Hursts High School and Gettysburg College, and then returned to the farm where he has since been feeding the cow and pushing the plow, except when his duties of office bring him to Harrisburg.

The Honorable Roy is a member of the United Farmers, Kiwanis International, and the Loyal Order of Moose, and of this House of Representatives since 1934.

His continued appearance here as a member indicates that he maintains the same popularity at home as is his here in this House, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives is delighted that the life of one of its members has at last begun, and that from now on he can be expected to progress rapidly if what has happened during the post two score years is any indication of his ability to get ahead, and that it extends to him its most ardent wish for many returns of the day, each one marked by a greater achievement; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be furnished to the Honorable Roy C. Haberlen by the Chief Clerk of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Haberlen.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, I really want to thank my colleague from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, and my colleague from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, for this resolution. They say, I don't know, because I am just starting—they say that life begins at forty. If I am back here in two years I will tell you whether or not that is true. I want to thank you gentlemen again.

BILL ON THIRD READING

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will return to the third reading calendar, page 24, Senate Bill No. 112, Printer's No. 189. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 112, as follows:

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Ealy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Lord our God, how excellent is Thy name in all the earth. The mention of that name should evoke our adoration, and remind us of our dependence upon Thee. We live because Thou hast breathed into our nostrils the breath of life. Teach us how to live so that we do not mar our spiritual inheritance.

Through all our years we have been sustained and provided for by Thee. May we never be guilty of the ingratitude that fails to thank the Giver of all good.

And now we thank Thee for life, for health of body and mind, for the opportunities being given to us to work with Thee for a better world. May the heroic efforts now being put forth by our nation to improve human conditions be approved of God. Out of the present turmoil and carnage may there come a new world "wherein dwelleth righteousness."

In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, Amen.

ARRANGING FOR JOINT SESSION TO HEAR ADDRESSES ON BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF THOMAS JEFFERSON'S BIRTH AND URGING APPROPRIATE PROCLAMATION

In the Senate, March 30, 1943.

Whereas, Pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution of March 5, 1941 adopted by the Senate on March 5, 1941, and concurred in by the House on March 17, 1941, a Commission was appointed by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania known as the "Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania" for the purpose of evolving plans in collaboration with the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission established by U. S. Congress in order that same may be submitted to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania preparatory to the celebration of the Bicentennial of the Birth of Thomas Jefferson on April 13, 1943;

Whereas, The Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania evolved elaborate plans long before the entry of the United States into the present global war calling for a grandiose celebration throughout the entire breadth and length of our Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Our present war efforts call for an avoidance of any and all detractions from our total war efforts needed for the attainment of victory and thus preclude local celebrations in each one of the thirty-six districts originally designated by the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania as well as the execution of the maximum program, the blueprint whereof was submitted to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on March 11, 1942, and

Whereas, The Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania decided to recommend to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to limit the celebration of the bicentennial of the birth of Thomas Jefferson to (1) a Joint Commemorative Session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania on Wednesday, April 14, 1943, at 12 a. m. noon, Eastern War Time, to receive appropriate messages from His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania and many other dignitaries, (2) for the issuance of Commemorative Certificates for distribution among the members of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and collaborators of the Commission, (3) to distribute 21 prizes in War Bonds totaling $700.00 for the best essay to be entitled "The Spiritual Legacy of Thomas Jefferson" in a state-wide contest, to be conducted antonomously in each one of the seven districts designated by the Commission and (4) to ask His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, to issue an appropriate Proclamation in Commemoration of the birth of Thomas Jefferson and his immortal contributions to the American ideology of Government, Now Be It Therefore

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senate and the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania hold a joint session on Wednesday, April 14, 1943, at twelve o'clock a. m. noon, Eastern War Time, to hear the commemorative messages of His Excellency Edward Martin, Governor of Pennsylvania, His Excellency Colgate Darden, Governor of Virginia, Dr. Robert L. Johnson, Chairman of the State-Wide Committee of Educators and other dignitaries; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of Pennsylvania be requested to issue an appropriate Proclamation commemorating the Bicentennial of the Birth of Thomas Jefferson on April 13, 1943.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire at this time to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the Senator from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, whether or not at this time he desires to make any statements with regard to absenteeism. I listened with a great deal of interest to the speech which he made on the Senate floor yesterday relative to absentees who did not ask for leave of absence.

At the order of business of leaves of absence in the Senate proceedings this morning, there were two members of the Senate from whom leave of absence was requested, Senator Ziesenheim and Senator Jaspan. I heard no request for leave of absence for Senator McCreesh, Senator Mundy, and some of the other members who are not in their seats and who are not in the Senate Chamber. I just want to know if the gentleman from Cambria is still interested in the subject matter that he so profoundly discussed yesterday.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, once I am interested, I am always interested; I never back down on anything. I have no desire, however, to take undue advantage of my colleagues, and that is the reason I announced yesterday that commencing next week I would ask for a roll call if I find any of the members absent from their seats. If I did that this morning, it would be unfair, because my colleagues had no warning I was going to do that until next week, so I want my good friend from Allegheny, Senator Walker, to know that next Monday or Tuesday he wants to make certain that he will be in his seat.

Mr. WALKER. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to ask my colleague from Cambria if it is going to be Monday or Tuesday. I think we ought to have it definitely stated whether the roll will be called Monday, whether the roll will be called Tuesday, or whether the roll will be called up yonder. What is it "Johnny," Monday or Tuesday.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will answer that in this way. I was talking to a friend one day who played a great deal of poker, and he said, "If you show your hand, you are bound to lose; never show your hand." I have no intention of showing my hand now.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would just like to call the gentleman's attention to the fact that he stated that he did not want to take undue advantage of his colleagues, and now he is going to keep it a dark secret.

HOUSE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 130, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred thirteen of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," by prohibiting the sale of or offering for sale of bait-fish or fish-bait taken from the waters of this Commonwealth, when not artifically popagated and sold pursuant to an artificial propagation license granted by the board.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL No. 133, NON-CONCURRED IN AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

He also informed the Senate that the House insists on its amendments to Senate Bill No. 133, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (c) of section two hundred two of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law; providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," by authorizing casualty companies to insure against loss and damage to certain machinery and equipment of mines while located underground, and to underground passageways, gangways, airways, slopes, shafts, overcasts, and stoppings of mining operations.

and has appointed Messrs. Kline, Tiemann and O'Neill as a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (if the Senate shall appoint such committee) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COLEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, last Thursday, the Senate of Pennsylvania adopted a resolution expressing its sorrow on the death of former Senator John W. Howell, and this morning I received a communication from Attorney Esdras F. Howell, a son of the late State Senator, and I would like to have it read into the record. It reads as follows:

Scranton, Pa., April 7, 1943.

"Dear Senator Coleman:

"On behalf of my mother, my sisters, my brother and myself, I am writing this not to express our sense of honor and appreciation for the fine tribute your fellow colleagues of the Senate of Pennsylvania and you paid my late father, former Senator John W. Howell.

"His associations with each and every member of the Senate from 1929 to the day of his death were most joyful and a distinct honor to him. He loved the human bonds and ties which made the members of your honorable body friends in deed and in fact despite the partisan battles in which you and all the Senators become engaged on the floor of the Senate. To him all of his colleagues and all of you present members of the Senate were and are carrying on the noblest traditions of our American Democracy by your expressing without fear or favor your attitudes on problems which involve the welfare of all of us.

"May the Almighty Maker guide all of you constantly in your great work.

"Sincerely yours,

"ESDRAS F. HOWELL,"

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The remarks of the gentleman from Lackawanna together with the communication will be noted in the Journal.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WORLEY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 57.

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1943.

Whereas, Because of the lack of materials and equipment during the present wartime emergency, no new highway construction can be undertaken until after the victory, when the post-war reconstruction and readjustment period will begin; and

Whereas, Numerous public improvements are being projected for that anxiously awaited period when materials, supplies and equipment will once more be available, and when the problem once more is likely to be to find work for the man rather than, as now, to find a man for the work; and

Whereas, Many of the contemplated projects are buildings or other structures at the State Capitol or other localities where they benefit comparatively few of Pennsylvania's millions of citizens, while hard surface highways throughout the State benefit every man, woman and child who has the use of an automobile, and brings back to those who pay the bills, through taxation, a far greater share of the advantages derived from the expenditure of his money than any building in any one locality possibly can do; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby go on record as favoring the construction of hard surface roads throughout the State as the most desirable and equitable means of providing employment during the readjustment period that will immediately follow the cessation of hostilities in the present war; and hereby urge upon the Governor who shall be in office at that time, and upon the Secretary of Highways appointed by him, that, as soon after the return to civilian life of the men from Pennsylvania now serving throughout the world in the armed forces of the United States, as materials and equipment therefor can be obtained, a State-wide program of highway construction be formulated and put into operation by the building of hard top roads in all rural communities and in all other communities where such needed roads are yet to be provided.

Referred to the Committee on Highways.

An Act abolishing the entire Mercantile License Tax System repealing the various license taxes under said system except as to taxes already due abolishing certain offices and employments, providing for the collection of delinquent taxes providing for the final settlement of accounts between the Commonwealth and county treasurers and making certain repeals.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. COHEN and HERMAN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the words "forty-four" the following: "and neither the Commonwealth nor any political subdivision thereof shall thereafter levy any such tax, notwithstanding any existing law which otherwise would permit such levy by any political subdivision."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, so that the purpose and intent of these amendments should not be misunderstood, it seems to me they do deserve some comment. Behind this particular amendment is our firm opinion on this side of the House that the entire tax program advanced by the administration, to put it charitably, we say is a negative program; it is considerably off base, and it is positively out of line with what we would consider to be the wishes of the people in Pennsylvania, and certainly away off base and away out of line with the promises of the Governor of Pennsylvania when he asked the people to elect him.

More will be said about the entire tax program, Mr. Speaker, at the right time. This particular bill, I believe, is bad because not only are the promises of one Governor being broken, but the promises of two Republican Governors are being broken, because emergency taxes were the onerous taxes which the people were told would be taken off their backs.

Now we have a permanent tax being taken out of the tax system of the Commonwealth. I should have no quarrel with reducing taxes, because my party campaigned on a pledge of tax reduction, and we state again very emphatically that we are, we were and we will be for tax reduction, provided the tax reduction takes care of the vast majority of people in Pennsylvania and not the cream of corporate taxpayers. I charged on this floor several times that this tax should have been allocated for a very worthy purpose, and for fear of offending some of the gentlemen on the other side, who might suspect that I was discussing a bill that had quite a stormy life in this session last week, I will not talk about school teachers, but I think we can now make the challenge, and I think we can now start to fight.

I am almost convinced that there is no desire on the part of the Governor or the administration to get down to wartime business, and at this late date, when our aims are all sighted on an early adjournment the latter part of this month, this bill, together with some of the others, is the definite statement of this administration that wartime measures are out, and by all means politics are in. If we are to fight on a political front, I am satisfied to fight on the political front and I am willing to start the fight on this bill and on these amendments.

The people of Pennsylvania were promised tax relief, so were the corporations, and we agree that the corporations have been taxed for emergency purposes too long and we pledged to reduce those taxes, but our tax program had a heart and it had a soul; we felt that the little people also should be relieved of taxes. But this bill digs into a prominent part of our tax program and will relieve, if anybody at all, a few wealthy merchants in Allegheny County, in Philadelphia County, possibly Montgomery County, Dauphin County, and maybe Cambria County, and those counties where some large mercantile establishments are located.

This is probably the closest approach, if we may give a charitable interpretation to that term, to a tax reduction away from purely corporate relief. It is the purpose of this minority, Mr. Speaker, to make sure that the political tinge to this bill cannot be carried out in full effect. We do not complain at this point that because of the abolishment of this tax, which might deprive some Democrats of jobs that the bill ought not to pass, but we are certainly prepared to tell the people of Pennsylvania that the desire to abolish this tax is no part of any man's program or any party's program for tax reduction to the people, that it is just another way of playing the political game with the American flag wapped around it, and we intend to unfurl that flag today and take it off the political body and expose it for what it is worth. We want to be sure that if this administration sincerely feels that this is a tax reduction, that it is going to stay a tax reduction and that it is going to stay a tax reduction because we are not going to have the politicians in all the counties in Pennsylvania chasing down to their councils and their commissioners and their taxing bodies the minute this bill is signed, and impose taxes in every county in Pennsylvania for the tax hungry counties, for additional revenue and additional political jobs.

This bill stands unmasked as a political job grab, not by the trick ripper method of ripping jobs out by transferring the departments, because you will remember in the 1939 session even the Republicans of that time could not stand for ripping, but by abolishing the tax on a statewide basis because it is supposed to be a tax reduction measure only, and leaving the way open for political subdivisions to remake the jobs on any terms that they wish to make the jobs, and in that way not bear the stigma of low political ripping.

I am willing to accept the charge that the pattern of ripping started in 1937, and that I voted for the then so called Earle rippers, but let me put the matter clear in everybody's mind, if I may digress only briefly and without intending to offend the rules, in 1937 we had an accumulation of fifty years of what we believed, and the people who elected us believed to be bad governmental management, and the only way that you can get rid of a cancerous growth and a bad situation is by a severe surgical operation, and that is what we intended.

But, Mr. Speaker, despite the fact that politics may have been a motivating cause, I insist that it was not the cause, but in this bill the main cause is politics pure, and plunder pure and simple, and we want the record to show that from this point on in, if this is all this administration can offer in the way of cooperative wartime legislation, if this must be the measure of the standard by which we are to judge our conduct for the remaining days of the session, the challenge is accepted, and we will be political until such time as the majority tells us they are ready to sit down and be non-political.

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia concerning the amendments to House Bill 1056 which he has presented, I appreciate the fact that the gentleman from Philadelphia has gone far afield in the amendments which he has presented, and that the Chair has allowed him great latitude in discussing his amendments. However, at this time I do not propose to go into the matter of the tax program. We will take care of that when it appears on third reading, but I believe we can tell the House at that time that we will have one of the best tax programs that has ever been presented to this body.

Concerning the amendments, however, the gentleman from Philadelphia is trying through his amendments to prohibit the levying of a mercantile tax by the Commonwealth or any political subdivision. I don't know whether the gentleman from Philadelphia knows, but several subdivisions of the Commonwealth are now levying such a tax, and his amendments would make them discontinue that particular tax and throw their budget very much out of balance. It is not the intention of House Bill No. 1056 to disturb any political subdivisions in their home rule, and I ask the members of the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether it is the intention of the administration by the passage of this act to do away with mercantile taxation in Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. As far as the Commonwealth is concerned.

Mr. LEVY. Mr Speaker, does the gentleman from Lehigh mean to infer to the membership that the Republican leadership then might approve the imposition of a mercantile tax in political subdivisions of the Commonwealth?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, that is already being done. There are many political subdivisions in Pennsylvania that are today levying a tax of this kind.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Lehigh mean to infer that there are several political subdivisions in the Commonwealth that are levying a mercantile tax on the same principle that a mercantile tax is levied by the Commonwealth under the authority of the Auditor General of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. There are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I want the gentleman to get clear, does the gentleman mean to infer that we in Pennsylvania assess a mercantile tax on residents in a political subdivision and that same political subdivision through local taxation assesses the same and the one tax?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. They do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lehigh then inform the membership as to which particular subdivisions in the Commonwealth assess a local mercantile tax in addition to the tax imposed by the Commonwealth?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Practically all the third class cities, Mr. Speaker, in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEVY. Would the gentleman make clear to the House what is the nature and subject of that tax? and what is the name of it in the particular community.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It is under a mercantile license obtained in those particular political subdivisions, and I will say very, very similar in every manner to the state mercantile tax except that it is not under the Auditor General's department of the Commonwealth.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether he is prepared to say that this tax in the local community on merchants of that particular community is assessed on the same basis and by the same means as the taxes assessed by the Auditor General's department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It is my understanding, and I cannot answer whether it is done in all cases, but certainly in many, many cases in exactly the same manner. I believe here in Harrisburg it is done in exactly the same manner and the same amount as that which the Commonwealth levies.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I am not inquiring of the gentleman as to the nature of the collections. All taxes are collected eventually. I am talking about the base and the means and the basis on which these taxes are levied.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to hear that the gentleman in his remarks made the statement that all taxes are eventually collected. I think that will remove a lot of the difficulty we have had in the past. But I also want to say that the basis upon which this tax is collected and the manner in most political subdivisions that levy such a tax is exactly the same, at least to the best of my knowledge, as that of the Commonwealth in the levying and collecting of such a tax.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I then want the majority leader to give me one specific community in Pennsylvania where the identical mercantile tax is levied by the individual political subdivision the same as the one levied by the Commonwealth in the same political subdivision.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. To the best of my knowledge, Mr. Speaker, I think we could include the cities of Harrisburg, Johnstown, Allentown, Altoona, and many, many more in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire then to inquire from the gentleman upon what basis is the mercantile tax levied in Harrisburg.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I just did answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know on what basis is the tax in Harrisburg levied? It is not levied on assessments by mercantile agents of the state. I want to know what agency in Harrisburg levies it, who assesses it, who collects it and the nature of the tax.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I might say that the tax is collected and based on the duplicate mercantile report to the Commonwealth, and not only am I informed that this is done in Harrisburg and other third class cities, but I can point out to the gentleman counties that have levied that tax on the duplicate report to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, are the business men in Harrisburg then paying a tax on the gross amount of business, retail business and wholesale business, per year in the city of Harrisburg, and likewise paying the same tax to the Auditor General in Harrisburg?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I think, Mr. Speaker, that that answered clearly before when I said that the tax was based and paid on the duplicate report made to the Auditor General's Department of the Commonwealth. Certainly I think they would pay the same fee for the same business that they were engaged in if they paid it to the city or if they paid it to the Commonwealth.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is the majority leader of the Republican party equipped and prepared to state to this House the provision of the Sterling Act of 1933, is the majority leader of the House prepared to give the House a resumé of the Sterling Act of 1933 in regard to such taxation?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am not, Mr. Speaker, but in regard to the problem with which we are confronted here, I believe, of course, that applies only to first and second class cities.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, may I inquired of the gentleman from Lehigh if he recalls in the Sterling Report that it is not legal for a local subdivision of the state to assess a tax that is assessed by the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTEI. As I just mentioned before, Mr. Speaker,

Mr. LEVY. Get your advisers together.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I just stated that it applied to the best of my knowledge only to first and second class cities, and up to this time we haven't mentioned that this tax was levied in first and second class cities. I mentioned third class cities and said that I would be glad to mention a specific county that was levying this type of tax upon the duplicate report of the Mercantile Appraisers.

Mr. LEVY. Do I understand then, Mr. Speaker, that—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, just made a remark to the affect that the Majority Leader should get his advisers together. We on this side resent that remark because the gentleman from Philadelphia has continually been receiving—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia yield to the gentleman from Delaware?

Mr. LEVY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. We on this side resent that remark because the gentleman from Philadelphia has been continually receiving slips containing advice from the Minority Leader, which is entirely satisfactory, we have no objection to it, but that remark was entirely uncalled for.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, are we not discussing the amendments to the bill?

The SPEAKER. We are discussing the amendments to section one of House Bill 1056, Printer's No. 383.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I raise the point of order that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, is not discussing the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the amendments for the information of the House:

> "Amend Section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "forty-four" the following: "and neither the Commonwealth nor any political subdivision thereof shall thereafter levy any such tax, notwithstanding any existing law which otherwise would permit such levy by any political subdivision."

The Chair is of the opinion that the interrogation is pertinent to the subject. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, has the floor.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Lehigh said that it was in his belief, or rather he has stated that up until now he had not mentioned a similar tax in first and second class cities but in third class cities, or something or other. I am not so particularly interested in that statement because I know that this tax is not levied in first class cities. However, I desire to inquire of the gentleman further as to whether or not in the Sterling Report of 1933, taxation by a local community is prohibited when it is the same tax in nature and subject as the tax levied by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, to the best of my knowledge that applied to first and second class cities.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether or not first class cities are political subdivisions?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. They are, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. I might inform the gentleman that the Sterling Report, I believe, speaks of political subdivisions and does not differentiate between first, second and third class cities.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have before me House Bill 753 which I believe is an amendment to the Sterling Act, approved the fifth day of August, 1932, P. L. 45, entitled:

> An Act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced.

I think that that title to the Sterling Act will definitely show that it only affects cities of the first and second class.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I could not get the entire drift of the act of 1933 that the gentleman read but I did gather this, that the nature of the tax I failed to hear. What tax is the gentleman referring to? Is it a tax already imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or is it a tax imposed by the various political subdivisions?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I didn't say Mr. Speaker, it referred to any tax.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, well then, what is the gentleman attempting to prove?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am under interrogation. I am not trying to prove a thing. I am trying to answer the gentleman's questions.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman voluntarily read a portion of some act or some report in 1932. I assume it was in answer to the interrogation as to the Sterling Report. Will the gentleman kindly inform the House as to what he wishes to bring before the House and what information he wishes to convey?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have heard during this interrogation reference made to the Sterling Report. I don't know that any reports in the history of Pennsylvania have authorized or given authority to any political subdivision to levy or collect any type of tax. When the gentleman talks about the Sterling Report, what particular authority that report can give to any political subdivision and how it should collect the money or the tax is something new to me.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, this question might be a little easier. I see on the same calendar a bill introduced to reenact and also to reduce the corporate net income tax as imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Will the gentleman from Lehigh tell the House if he feels that third class cities might be in a position according to the laws of the Commonwealth to impose a tax individually upon the local subdivisions, political subdivisions, expenditures and revenues on corporate net income tax returns.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I again say that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, is not speaking on the amendments, he is speaking on another bill on the calendar.

The SPEAKER. The point of order in this case, the Chair thinks, is well taken. The Chair would caution the gentleman from Philadelphia to confine his remarks to the amendments to Section 1 of the bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I assure you that I will not refer to a particular bill on the calendar. I merely wanted to ask the gentleman from Lehigh if he feels that cities of the third class in the Commonwealth could impose a local tax on corporations in regard to their net corporate income.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery will state his point of order.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask whether a Member, once the Chair has ruled that he is not confining his remarks to the amendments can do so in another way by reframing the question in the interrogation before this House?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman kindly repeat his question?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, The Chair has already ruled that the gentleman is out of order on this particular question.

The SPEAKER. That is correct. Will the gentleman yield? The Chair will request the gentleman from Philadelphia to repeat his question?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I am inquiring of the gentleman from Lehigh whether he thinks it is legal under the laws of the Commonwealth for cities of the third class in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to assess a tax on corporations within the boundaries of the third class cities on the basis of corporate net income?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I submit that the gentleman is out of order because he is not confining his inquiries to the amendments before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the point of order is well taken. The Chair insists that the gentleman base his interrogation strictly upon the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. I realize, Mr. Speaker, that I have somewhat placed the Republican leadership in the position of finally not being able to answer the question. I only want to say that yesterday in the debate on second reading on amendments, when I myself was on the floor, the Minority Leader rose and inquired of the Speaker as to whether it is not always in order for Members of the House to discuss the laws of the Commonwealth, and the Speaked ruled in that instance that discussing the laws of the Commonwealth would be in order, but directing—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LEVY. Yes, I will Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The point of order was raised while the bill was on third reading. The Chair is quite certain that that is the fact. The Speaker also ruled that it was proper to discuss laws of the Commonwealth if they were germane to the subject.

The Chair desires to read for the information of the House a ruling from the national House of Representatives—our rule is very similar to the rule of the national House of Representatives since it is based on that rule. The Chair would like to read this paragraph for the information of the House:

> "He shall confine himself to the question under debate." Much meat is packed into this simple statement. and if the discussion is to be kept from aimless > wanderings over an indefinite territory, this rule must be observed. If it is not, the debate ceases to be a logical discussion on the particular subject and becomes a rambling and incoherent medley of unrelative statements. Of course, discretion is called for. Where there is plenty of time for debate and it is of a general character more leeway is necessarily expected and allowed.

The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed and confine himself to the question before the House.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that we are debating the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, which tend to prohibit the reenactment of this tax which we are attempting to abolish, by any political subdivision in the state hereafter, is that not true?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has repeatedly informed the House that we are debating the question on the amendments and also read the amendment for the information of the House to section 1 of the bill. The Chair insists that the gentleman confine himself to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is not the question that I have propounded to the gentleman from Lehigh in relation to section 1 of this bill now under debate?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would again inform the gentleman from Philadelphia that section 1 is not the subject of debate. The question before the House is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, to section 1.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do not the amendments to section 1, offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, have relation to the question I have asked the gentleman from Lehigh in regard to taxation in the Commonwealth?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled that the point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, is well taken. The Chair insists that the gentleman confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Winner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WINNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of clarifying the issue, did I understand the gentleman correctly when he said that this amendment which was offered should be voted down because it would upset the already adopted budgets of many of the political subdivisions in Pennsylvania?

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I said that it would interfere with home-rule and more than likely upset the budgets.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I therefore desire to withdraw the amendments which I have offered, and now offer the following amendments to section one.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COHEN and HERMAN offered the following amendment:

> Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the words "forty-four" the following: "The abolition of such tax system shall not be construed to authorize any city of the first class to levy any such tax under the provisions of any existing law."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it was not my intention in offering the first set of amendments to embarrass the budget makers of the little subdivisions, particularly the groups under discussion, the budget makers of the cities of the third class. We have had our troubles with budgets and I know what troubles budget makers must have, and I should not like to have them thrown into a tail spin by amendments of that kind. But these amendments affect a political subdivision which we have heard time and again from the Members on the other side is in a very fine financial condition, which does not levy such a tax, and such a tax does not form any part of their tax program. I have been assured by many Members on the other side that there is no intention that that political subdivision should levy such a tax. I am sure that if the people in that city who are affected by this tax are to be given a guarantee by us that they are to be given a tax reduction, then I don't see how any objection can be possibly raised because of these amendments, and I therefore urge that they be adopted.

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, for the same reason that I opposed the original amendments which Mr. Cohen offered, the fact that they tend to obstruct home rule in the city of Philadelphia. Mr. Cohen himself is not consistent in offering such amendments because only yesterday he spoke in behalf of home rule.

Mr. COHEN. I spoke yesterday, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of home rule and I think I can talk in behalf of home rule until my tongue and my lungs both give out. But we have to admit and bow our heads in shame, that we have not in Harrisburg ever given our political subdivisions home rule. The reason now for throwing the home rule issue into this controversy is the fact that I said in my original remarks in regard to this first set of amendments that this is a political grab. Mr. Speaker, it is not a ripper, this is a zipper. We are just zipping open the back and putting it right together again, to give the Republican machine of Philadelphia a lot of jobs. I have just had a lot of meetings with the Appropriations Committee and as a result of inquiries made there, I was told outside of that Committee, and I trust I am not divulging Committee secrets, that many of the department heads on Capitol Hill are complaining that they are having a heck of a time getting personnel and they cannot find people to do the work for them. I don't know where the Republican machine in Philadelphia is going to get its personnel, because the Secretary of Revenue tells me that they cannot get people to fill the jobs they have now. If that is true, if there is a manpower shortage, and the efforts of a lot of his people should be diverted to the war effort, if we are to honestly say today that the mercantile tax is to be abolished, which means wiped out, which means off the books, which means that we are through with it, which means that we ought not to bother about it anymore, then, Mr. Speaker, we ought to be honest with the mechants of Pennsylvania and tell them that when the next year rolls around they won't have to sit around waiting for the Republican City Council of Philadelphia to levy another tax upon them, because I am afraid the money would go down the same rat-hole that so many hundreds of millions of dollars have gone down before.

I said again and again that we have a good situation in Philadelphia. It is true that we imposed taxes upon people who were least able to pay them, but at least we have money in the bank. If we are going to abolish the tax because it is not a proper tax, then let us abolish it, if we can.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I sympathize with the gentleman from Montgomery. I sympathize with the gentleman from Lehigh County. I sympathize with them because they are on the wrong side of the question. The gentleman from Montgomery said on debate on the first amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, "We cannot take them because they will throw the budgets of the third class cities out of line."

When the Majority Leader of the House was pressed with the question as to where and how and when mercantile taxes were assessed in Pennsylvania, and was asked the question whether mercantile taxes can be assessed and corporate net income tax cannot be assessed, then the point of order was raised to save the situation. I tell you honestly this afternoon that you are not going to save your face. I am for House Bill 1056, because it abolishes a tax. Sometimes I doubt whether this tax might not be logically another tax, a tax that would affect probably the small people of Pennsylvania. However, I say that I am for House Bill 1056 because it does affect a small group of Pennsylvania businessmen. This afternon I have seen the show of how the majority is cringing on the subject of taxation. Now, I know they do not believe in House Bill 1056. It is only a program to get rid of Democratic employes and replace them with Republicans, and by their silence, by the fact that they cannot answer the questions propounded by the gentleman from Philadelphia, it makes it very evident that what they want to do by House Bill 1056 is to abolish the tax as far as Democratic office holders are concerned and give the same authority to an office where a Republican can put more Republican politicians in.

I say, gentlemen, that is the charge and you cannot deny it and I defy you to deny it, from the Majority Leader to the newest neophyte on the Republican side. I am going to tell you something further which you may not like. House Bill 1056 not only takes a crack at Democratic officials in the state of Pennsylvania in order to get what you could not get through the people of Pennsylvania, but it is a slap—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Somerset will state his point of order.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, we on this side are getting tired of the gentleman straying, like cattle, far afield, and I feel that he is not talking on the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the gentleman shall confine himself to the question before the House. The Chair insists that the gentleman from Philadelphia confine his remarks to the amendments to Section 1. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, at the very start of this session I raised the same point of order and the Speaker ruled then that he encourages debate—

The SPEAKER. The Chair now insists that the gentleman confine his remarks strictly to the question before the House, which is on the amendments to Section 1 of this bill.

Mr. LEV. Mr. Speaker, I say this afternoon—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to read for the information of the Members of the House a part of Rule 4:

> "On questions of order there shall be no debate except on appeal from the decision of the Speaker or on reference of the question to him by the House."

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia yield to the gentleman from Venango?

Mr. LEVY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I now move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman to kindly refrain from making that motion now. The gentleman from Philadelphia has yielded the floor to the gentleman from Venango, but not to move the previous question, and the Chair suggests that the gentleman from Venango permit him to continue for a limited time.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw the motion temporarily.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Venango.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I regret that the majority party takes the position it does. I don't know, Mr. Speaker, why on one day we are permitted to speak—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not talking on the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not speaking on the amendments. The Chair would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, to confine his remarks to the question before the House. The gentleman from Philadelphia is imposing upon the patience of the Members. Will the gentleman kindly confine his remarks to the subject before the House?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I will continue my remarks when this bill is on the third reading calendar. I thank you.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in the interest of order throughout the calling of the roll, and so that there shall not be a repetition of what occurred on previous roll-calls in this House, I request that the Speaker direct the Sergeant-at-Arms to close the doors of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the request is in opposition to the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cohen and Mr. Modell and were as follows:

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, this bill is designed to keep a lot of people honest and therefore the sponsor feels that he should start the bill off with a good example of honesty.

During the process of amending this bill a printer's error has been made. On page two, the last line, the printer failed to strike out two words. Those words are "more than" where they first occur.

I ask unanimous consent of the House to act upon the bill as it now stands with the understanding of course that these strike-out brackets will be inserted when the bill goes to the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, certain amendments were offered by myself to section one of House Bill 1056, Printer's No. 383, on page twenty-seven of the calendar. Those amendments were voted down. I had an agreement which I neglected to carry out because of the swiftness of the movement of the House when I presided during first reading bills. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman, co-sponsored those amendments and I was wondering whether or not it would be in order to have the record so marked.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to have the name of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman, added to the amendments as co-sponsor? The Chair hears no objection and consent is granted.

Messrs. O'BRIEN and TIEMANN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1943.

The marines will land in Philadelphia on Saturday of this week, and will have not only the situation but the entire city "well in hand."

In this case, the marines will be exemplified and impersonated by that No. 1 Marine, and World War Hero No. 1, Sergeant Albert A. Schmidt of Philadelphia.

Sergeant Schmidt will be the first person to receive the war-time Inquirer Hero Award of one thousand dollars, and the specially designed medal that accompanies it. The award will be presented at ceremonies arranged for Saturday, starting with a parade which will terminate at Reyburn Plaza at 12:30 o'clock P. M.

Jeeps, peeps, scout cars and other mechanical units will roll along with the infantry detachments and marching units of the Marine Corps, Navy, WAVES and SPARS who will form the procession following Sergeant Schmidt, the hero of Guadalcanal.

The award will be presented by General William G. Price, chairman of the Inquirer Hero Award Committee. Sitting on the platform with the marine hero, in addition to his wife, will be several of his Guadalcanal buddies, who are now patients at the United States Naval Hospital.

The principal address will be made by Judge Vincent A. Carroll after the program has been opened by Mr. Kloman and Mayor Samuel. Another address will be made by Brigadier General Clifton B. Cates, Sergeant Schmidt's commanding officer on Guadalcanal, who will make a special trip to this city from Quantico, Virginia, to attend the ceremonies.

These ceremonies and the award constitute a most fitting tribute to the youngman whose courage and bravery have not only reflected credit upon the Commonwealth, but have been an inspiration and an incentive to thousands of youngmen throughout the Nation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates Pennsylvania's hero of Guadacanal not only upon the bravery he displayed in battle, but upon the results that must arise from his example to the great benefit of our war effort; and that the example he has set of willingness to sacrifice, coolness in action, and dauntless courage will for all times be an inspiration to every one in the armed forces of the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to Sergeant Albert A. Schmidt at his home in Philadelphia.

SENATE

MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1943.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Dr. RUTH.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the services we have been able to render to our people over the past week-end. We thank Thee for the opportunity to render service to our people during the early part of this week. We pray for Thy Spirit to guide us in true co-operation and in the type of loving which Thou didst exhibit on the Cross of Cavalry.

We ask it in the name of Him who has taught us to pray:

Our Father, Who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our debts as we are willing to forgive our debtors; and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil, and Thine shall be the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. EDMONDS the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. TAYLOR, on account of illness.

He also asked and obtain leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained leave of absence for himself for Tuesday, April 13, 1943.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WOODWARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODWARD, Mr. President, concerning leaves of absence, I feel it is my duty to correct a mis-statement made in the Philadelphia Record, by Mr. O'Neill, I think it was, who had my name advertised as one of the absentees.

I was absent, but I would like for the sake of the record to say this, that my absenteeism was caused by the death of the wife of my brother, and I had to leave here on Tuesday to attend the funeral on Wednesday. Therefore, it is hardly fair to advertise me as an absentee.

The PRESIDENT. I am sure he will be glad to correct that.

The PRESIDENT. (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, last Thursday, speaking in this Chamber, I told the Senate that, starting with the Session of April 12th, today, I would call for the full observance of the rules of the Senate which carry out the provisions of Article III, Section Four of the Constitution, providing that every bill before us be read at length on three successive days.

I particularly want to call the attention of the gentlemen of the press to the fact that I am not conducting a "filibuster"—rather I am asking that the provisions of the Constitution be observed.

Today I press my insistence, because I believe it is time the people of Pennsylvania, through action in this Chamber, learned what has been taking place in their Capitol.

The Majority Party and the Majority leadership has relied upon the fog of war to obscure its invasions of the peoples' rights and its shoddy political trickery. It has relied upon the natural concern of our people with the great events now taking place all around the world to provide it with a cloak of silence and obscurity. With the stealth of hypocrites the Majority Party came here with fine protestations about its desire for a harmonious, nonpolitical session. Piously, you spoke of your desire to win the war of your hopes to further national unity.

Those were fair promises, only you didn't mean them.

You are not concerned with winning the war against the foreign enemies of the United States, you are too busy fighting a war against the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania, a Party you hate, because it champions the people of this State. You are not here to contribute to unity. You are here to create discord, to stir up party bitterness, to grab patronage, to pass sneak ripper bills, to disfranchise Pennsylvania voters.

You are here to pay off debts, to serve the men who own you, to dip your hands into the pockets of the people of Pennsylvania to help the utilities and the oil gang and the manufacturers' association, the people who finance your Party and buy elections for you.

You are here to hold Committee meetings in a telephone booth and to put bills out on this Senate's floor without even a moment's consideration by the Senators whom the people trust to study and to scrutinize legislation.

You are here, for instance, to install an insurance man as head of the Insurance Committee, to make sure that the bills the Chairman releases are bills which serve the companies, not the policy holders.

To prove what I have said is true, I quote the words of the Senator from Allegheny County, Mr. Geltz, who told me in this Chamber last Thursday:

"We have the House, we have the Senate, we have the Governor, and we have the Courts, and we will pass any bill we want."

In other words, "the people be damned."

I want to tell Mr. Geltz and the rest of you Senators on the Majority side that we Democratic Senators, numerical minority as we are, are here by the votes of 1,588,372 people in Pennsylvania. You Republicans are here by the votes of only 6,000 more people than we represent.

That is how successful you have been in gerrymandering this State and, if yqou doubt my figures just take out your Pennsylvania Manual and your Legislative Journal and add the votes cast for Senator in the two party columns in the two elections which have sent us to this Body.

If any Senator is too busy to do that, I have the figures right here.

Now you are trying to do the same thing to the Congressional delegation from Pennsylvania.

You cannot win elections as you please. You cannot even buy them all. So, you are resorting to legislative juggling to bring you election victories you can not get by any other means.

You want to divide this State on the "rotten boroughs system, as it once existed in England, and you want to govern our country with men who do not represent the people of the nation.

You come into Pittsburgh, you come into Allegheny County, and you skip up and down and across the map. You span rivers and you delete adjoining wards, and the only rule you follow is to isolate, to separate, to discriminate against the Democratic voters and the Democratic areas.

You segregate the Democratic voters of Pittsburgh and you pull them in from across the Monongahela Riiver, and across the Allegheny River, and you create a district which contains every heavily.

You forget all about the disproportions in Luzerne County and in the central county districts wherein you make two Luzerne County voters equal one rural Pennsylvania voter. You are not trying to reapportion the State honestly, you do not dare to, because you do not believe in, nor do you trust, democracy and the people.

Oh, no gentlemen of the Senate, you of the majority are too busy carving up Allegheny County so that the Democratic majority of that county is dissipated through crowding it together in one unnatural district. This bill, Members of the Senate, creates one district in Allegheny County with 105,000 registered Democratic voters and 49,000 Republican voters. It cancels out the votes of that overwhelming Democratic majority, so that they do not apply, as they should, to the general representation of the county in Congress.

You are enacting a jim-crow law for the Democrats of Allegheny County, so that you may create preserves where the Republican minority of the county may exist pure and lily-white, and send Republicans to Congress who do not, under any application of democracy, deserve to be in Congress.

You are setting up a system under which a 75,000 Democratic majority in Allegheny County will elect only two of the county's five Congressmen. That is a travesty on democracy. It is a mockery of everything we are fighting this war to preserve.

You know whose amendments these are. They are sponsored by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, whose present solicitude for the Republican Party is passing strange, because only two months ago, John M. Walker was not so positive in his political affiliations. Perhaps when his political aspirations are stacked against party principle his affiliations become flexible. I believe the gentleman knows what I am talking about without further elaboration.

Now, he is playing the dirty game of the young Republicans in Allegheny County, those young Republicans with old ideas of power, money, and jobs.

Those so-called young Republicans, most of them between forty and fifty, are perennial candidates for office in Allegheny County, and every time they stick up their heads, they get them chopped off.

They go into the Republican primary and see what they can get from the Republicans voters. Usually they get set down. Ask the Republican County Chairman and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth what kind of people they are.

If they are nominated, the general electorate takes great pleasure in defeating them, as it did their candidate for Mayor and their candidates for Congress. This bill has been drawn to the measure of those defeated candidates whom the people have rejected. Its only purpose is to return to Congress two men who so conducted themselves in that body that the people of their districts rejected them because they were men who submerged their patriotism to their pacifism, their love for their country to their hatred for its President.

We have a country dedicated to the principle of majority rule. I subscribe to that.

We have another sacred principle: that is, the protection of minorities in all their rights as American citizens. I subscribe to that also.

The day this Senate uses its power—like a Hitler Reichstag—to take away from the people of Pennsylvania the right to elect Congressmen who represent the peoples' will, we strike a treacherous, an assassin's blow, at the Amercan system of representative government, of democracy as an expression of the people's will.

That must not be done by the Senate of Pennsylvania. When it is attempted, I believe it is the right, the sacred obligation, of Senators to use every weapon at their command to arrest the blow, to stop such action.

That I intend to do and I know many men in this Senate, even on the Republican side, who agree with me.

This is an issue of paramount importance. It is the kind of issue which determines the success or failure of democracy.

We live under a government of laws and this Senate operates under the Constitution of Pennsylvania and its own rules. Those laws, that Constitution, these rules, were written for the protection of minorities. I invoke them today and I will continue to invoke them until this vicious, this contemptible, sneaking, cowardly and corrupt attack upon the people of Allegheny County and the people of Pennsylvania is killed in this Senate Chamber.

My friends on the majority side, and I have been happy to enjoy the friendship of many of you, have come to me and told me that my stand would cost their affection, that it would make me unpopular, very unpopular in the Senate.

I am sorry about that, but I do not intend to waive principle for friendship's sake.

This is a fight for the people.

I am going to fight with every weapon that the law allows.

General Eisenhower and General Montgomery, and the armies they lead, are undoubtedly unpopular with Erwin Rommel, but they are not letting that stop them from fighting for the cause they know is right.

And those men across the seas are fighting for a principle which is being mocked and derided in the Senate, the principle of fair play, of even-handed justice, of democracy in action.

Their war, their sacrifice, is being used as a "curtain of concealing smoke" for the political conspiracies of this Legislatve Session.

It is time that the Republican majority in this Senate stopped hiding behind the war, where better men than we are go into daily battle to preserve the things some Senators would destroy.

I, as one Senator, will do everything within my power to pull you of the majority side out into the open where the people can get a look at you and pass upon your works.

And this fight is just beginning.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to say to the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, and to the gentleman who wrote his speech, that I appreciate it very much, and I do think that very commendable effort is worthy of more careful study and consideration. It appears to me at first blush to be a Democratic political speech, and I separate "Democrat" from "Democracy" because I want to announce to the gentleman from Allegheny that perhaps directly this congressional reapportionment bill, which is the subject matter that he is attacking is not of serious moment to General MacArthur or the other fellows who are fighting the war. You might say offhand, perhaps, this will not assist in winning the war. On the other hand, at the proper time, I propose to discuss the merits of this bill and the merits of having few Republicans in Congress and whether or not that will help win the war.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, has discussed my motive, my political history, the political shortcomings of those I am associated with, but very carefully he has not as yet discussed the merits of this bill. In due course that will come and when that time comes I shall be very happy to cross verbal swords with the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

He has suggested that he is going to use every statesmanlike trick or lure at his commond to delay, hinder or stop the passage of Senate Bill No. 272. May I say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that is fine, I think he should, if he does not like the bill, do everything in his power to defeat it, and my love and affection for the gentleman has not been lessened one iota, regardless of what he said both on and off the floor, or what he shall say from now untl sine die adjournment of this session.

There is one thing I would like to read into the record, Mr. President, because I think the gentleman from Allegheny should make this the subject of round two of his discussion of this bill, Senate Bill No. 272.

It is an editorial and it is taken from the Post Gazette, which I would like to read to him. The Post Gazette is a newspaper published in the city of Pittsburgh:

"Without going into all the details of the proposed Congressional re-apportionment plan which last week almost turned the staid state Senate into a Donnybrook Fair, we should like to trace the history of re-apportionment in a single Allegheny County District—the old, and the proposed new, Thirtieth.

"In 1941 and prior to that time, this district consisted of the Pittsburgh wards, boroughs and townships north of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers. By and large it was a Republican district—except when Mr. Roosevelt was running. The residential boroughs and townships outweighed the lower Northside and industrial areas.

"By the makeshift agreement of the special session of 1942, the Democratic organization was permitted to recarve Allegheny County pretty much to its heart's content. And the Thirtieth district thereupon jumped across the Allegheny river and took in two more normally Democratic wards, the Sixth and the Ninth.

"Under the plan now before the Senate and backed by the Republican organization, the boundary not only skips back across the river, excluding the Sixth and the Ninth Wards, but also takes the usually Democraitc Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards of lower Northside out of the Thirtieth and puts them in with the already overwhelmingly Democratic Thirty-second Congressional District.

"Obviously the Democrats don't like that. But there's no need for them to get so indignant about it. They did the same thing when they had a chance, even to jumping a river. And of course Democratic State Chairman Lawrence's accusation that this re-apportionment plan is designed to oust Democrats who voted for the Roosevelt war program and replace them with "isolationists" is a blatant piece of demagoguery. As a matter of fact, the present Democratic Congressman from the Thirtieth District voted against the extension of the draft, one of the most important of the pre-war military measures.

"However, there are undoubtedly some inequities in the re-apportionment program before the state Senate, which a reasonable approach and a willingness to compromise could correct. The Republicans have the majorities in Harrisburg and will have the principal voice in re-dividing the state—and there's not the shadow of a doubt that it should be re-divided. But we think they would be willing, for the sake of harmony, to accept almost any fair amendment which the Democrats might propose.

"Certainly if the Democratic leaders persist in trying to intimidate the Senate and House Republican majorities with bitter reproaches and charges of "isolationism," the chances are excellent that the present plan will pass. Democratic policy would appear now to dictate the presentation of reasonable amendments, and a persuasive rather than a threatening tone in their part of the debate."

Mr. President, that concludes the reading of the editorial—which was not written by me—and I would like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny County, Senator Barr, that I hold no pride of authorship of that editorial; I merely say to him that he should take as food for thought some of the suggestions made therein.

MR. BARR. Mr. President, I think I can express myself in fewer words than my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker. I would like to read three lines from an editorial, which I did not write either—it happens to come from Scranton, about this congressional re-apportionment bill. It says this: "Insofar as Allegheny county is concerned the proposed redistricting goes beyond anything which might even remotely be branded as political decency. Steal is the word for it."

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I suppose it would be expecting too much to expect a New Dealer to quote anyone properly and truthfully, but just so that we get the record clear, and that is the only reason I am making any answer to the statement of my good friend from Allegheny, Senator Barr, so that no one will misunderstand the situation and will not take my silence as an admission for his quote—I made no mention last Thursday of having any court, Supreme Court, or any other court.

I did make this statement and I am perfectly willing to have it of record, and make it again: I told the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that I could not understand why he was so hot and bothered, that what we were doing with them was nothing to what they did to us last year, and that even at the time when we had a Republican Senate and a Republican Governor and they had but the Democratic House, we still did not squeal when they did it to us.

This year we have a Republican Governor, a Republican Senate and a Republican House, and I said to him no matter what we want to do, he could not stop it, but we could have stopped it if we had not been willing to agree last year.

Just to follow that out a little bit further and in connection with one of the parts of this editorial which Senator Walker read, Mr. President, referring to the Thirtieth Congressional District, which is the district in which I live, in the last election in that old and regular Congressional district, the Republican candidate had a majority of 2,500, and if the Democrats had not run wild in the last session, our district would now be represented, as it should be, by a Republican Congressman, but instead of that, as the editorial says, they either jumped, swam or got across the river in some way and took in two strip wards, the sixth and ninth, which are heavily Democratic, and which with those two wards, returned a majority of 6,000 for the Democratic nominee, so that the Republican nominee lost the election by 3,500.

This bill, Mr. President, restores that district, that one district, to a point a little more nearly where it should be, as I also said to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, last week, and I want to repeat, you boys are certainly good at handing it out but you can not take it without squealing.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I think that the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ought to be informed as to what the purpose of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is and the result it will have on the work which we are doing here in Harrisburg.

It has been customary in the past, by consent, to have the first three readings of bills, because the bills are on the desks of every Senator, given in a cursory manner and not read at length, and the same is true on final passage of the bills.

At this time we have a Calendar consisting of twenty-two pages of titles of bills only; the bills themselves are at least one and a half-inches thick, and that is what the Senator from Allegheny County desires to be read at length—in other words, it will take a matter of a couple of days each day to read the bills on the present Calendar.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, says that he is protecting the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and that his method of attack is in favor of democracy. I disagree with him; I do not think it is democratic for him to insist on this requirement, because the result of it will be that the bills on the Calendar today will not get read and they will not get proper consideration; other bills that are in committee will not be reported out if there is not time to have them read at length, and the final result will be that on this bill on congressional reapportionment and the other bills, we will be intimidated into passing something just because the minority wants it and not because the majority wants it.

Democracy is a rule of the majority and not the minority, and the minority has no right to intimidate the majority in this Senate and in this Legislature by conduct such as this.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, since the last reapportionment bill has been brought into the picture, as a member of that Committee I think perhaps it might be fair to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that what was done by the Committee that studied reapportionment all summer was done by mutual agreement. The Republicans were given the right to remove one Republican Congressman from whatever district they chose; the Democrats were given the same right. The Democrats choose to take one out of Allegheny County. At that time all the Congressman in Allegheny County were Democrats. They did not steal anything; they did not pull a fraud; they only lived up to their part of the agreement.

It was also understood that the parties in power, the two major parties, would nominate on the "at large" ticket a person for Congress from the district affected. The Democrats lived up to their part of the bargain and they nominated a person from Allegheny County. Whether the Republicans forgot their part of the bargain or not, they did not nominate a candidate for Congress from Allegheny County on the at large ticket, and they certainly can not now come here before the Senate and say that the Democrats deprived Allegheny County of its proper representation. I take it that an agreement between men, even Senators, is something to be lived up to.

Your party fell down on its part of the bargain. What you are doing now has nothing to do with what we did last year. We worked hard and tried to arrived at some conclusion. The fact that you were tied up by having a Democratic House and a Republican Senate is perhaps the reason we stayed all summer on the job, but I want to remind you Republican Senators now of this, you are starting something in Pennsylvania you will live to regret. You can not correct one evil by creating two evils. You know and everyone knows that the gerrymandering being done on this bill which you propose will not be left unanswered by the Democrats, if they do gain control of this State again, and at that time instead of the State of Pennsylvania getting what it deserves from the General Assembly in the way of legislation, you will have a General Assembly coming here with the primary purpose in mind of passing congressional reapportionment bills to strengthen their party lines in Congress.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, said that General MacArthur and the rest of the generals fighting with our boys overseas are not too much interested in this particular bill. Allow me to remind the gentleman from Allegheny that a seven vote majority exists in Congress between the policies of the so-called isolationist party and the party of preparedness. What little preparation there was before this war, was done because the leader of this nation, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the Democratic majority had the foresight and the courage to put into effect acts that created some armament for our soldiers and created some army to contend with the enemy, and the seven votes you intend to steal would give a majority to that party that has primarily in its mind a hatred of Roosevelt, a hatred so deeply imbedded that even the conduct of the war takes second place, and so I say to the members of this Senate that this bill is important to General MacArthur, it is important to my brothers, your brothers, your sons and your fathers, if need be, that are in this army. It is important to them to see to it that the delegation from a county so strongly Democratic in its makeup of registration should be a Democratic delegation.

Section 1 Section four hundred and twenty A of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" which section was added to said act by section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 625) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 420A Minors May Enter into Insurance or Annuity Contracts and Have Full Rights Powers and Privileges Thereunder That all minors in Pennsylvania of the age of eighteen years and upwards shall have full power and authority to make [all needful] contracts [to become members] of insurance or annuity with any life insurance company authorized to do business in the [State] Commonwealth of Pennsylvania either domestic or foreign and [shall have] to exercise all the powers rights and privileges of [ownerships] ownership conferred upon them under the terms of any and all such [life insurance annuity] contracts [or otherwise] applied for or issued to them and with full power to surrender assign [pledge or receive dividends or] modify pledge or change such contracts and to receive any dividends thereon and generally to have the full power and authority in the premises that persons twenty-one years and upwards could and would have relative to any and all such contracts

Section 2 This Act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I insist that this bill be read at length.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, House Bill No. 388 is on final passage. The record shows that this bill has been read at length on three different days and is now before the Senate on final passage.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, this bill gives the right to minors of eighteen years and upward full power and authority to make contracts of insurance and annuities with any life insurance company.

It seems strange that this Senate should be passing a bill recognizing that a boy or a girl of eighteen years has the power to enter into a contract when we have a bill now being held in committee giving the right to boys or girls of eighteen to vote.

I feel that it is inconsistent to pass a bill giving the right to one of eighteen years of age to enter into a contract, and at the same time, we reason that one who is eighteen years of age is old enough to fight for his country, but can not vote for his country.

I say it is very inconsistent, and it follows the lines emphasized here today, that you are more interested in serving special interests, to make profits for certain companies, then in protecting a boy or a girl to whom the government says, "You must fight and protect this democracy, but we, the government, will not permit you to take part in electing the officers who pass the laws and who tell you that you are old enough to fight."

This bill certainly shows the inconsistency of some members of this Senate, but, as usual, it does permit some company to make a little more money.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am not going to talk long on this bill, because I am sure that it is going to pass, I am waiting for the day when a bill comes out of the Committee on Insurance which will be for the benefit of the policy holders.

May I just point out that this bill, giving a minor the right to make insurance contracts for life insurance, does not change the existing law which makes a minor unable to contract. I raise the question whether this changes the law that a minor will not be able to dispose of his assets by will. There are many things that a minor still can not do, and there are many things that this minor will not be able to do after he gets his policy of insurance. The only thing he will be able to do will be to take out a policy and pay the premiums. What he will be able to do afterwards is questionable, because there are still inhibitions against the right of a minor to make contracts, which are not cured by this bill.

However, this will give the insurance companies a great deal of business and it will give them a great many more premiums and it will do them a whole lot of good because they will make more money.

This bill ought to help policy holders but why a minor who has no dependents should make a contract of insurance is more than I can understand. My idea of insurance is that it is made for the benefit of dependents and persons who will have added responsibilities, that he wants to provide for after his death and he takes out a policy of insurance to insure against the catastrophe that he would die.

The eighteen year old boys who are going to war will be provided with insurance by the Federal Government. The amount of insurance that they will be permitted to take or that they can take will depend upon their income, but even if it were necessary, this bill does not correct the law, which is that minors generally can not make contracts and the things that flow as a result of making a contract for insurance, the rights, responsibilities and liabilities, are not protected in this bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, my colleagues who have spoken on this bill have gone rather far afield. This bill we have before us, House Bill No. 388, amends an amendment passed the twenty-second day of June, 1921, which in turn amended an act passed the seventeenth day of May, 1921, and corrects the amendment passed in 1931, as interpreted by the Attorney General's department, which has ruled that because of the wording it was questionable whether or not these young men and young ladies had the privilege of buying from stock companies as well as mutual companies—there are no doubt about their privilege of being able to buy from mutual companies—but this now makes it possible for all Pennsylvania life insurance companies to enter into contracts of insurance with minors aged eighteen and upwards.

Mr. President, if my memory serves me correctly, and I assure you, Mr. President, I looked it up, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, was a member of the Senate at that time and voted for this amendment that he now talks about. The amendment, may I say again, sets a precedent, and the gentlemen have gone far afield in talking about this bill and I hope that they will again assure me there are enough votes to pass this bill, because it is good legislation and should pass.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, after listening to the explanation of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, I may be wrong in my reading of this bill, because I thought perhaps this bill legalized contracts of minors between eighteen and twenty-one years of age. As I understand the insurance law now, they can have insurance policies, but when they reach the age of twenty-one they can be voided upon suit, they can sue and receive their full moneys paid in on the contract, without any charge for coverage during that three year period.

That is as I understand it, Mr. President. If I am wrong I am willing to be corrected.

I wish the gentleman from Cumberland would explain to me why I am wrong. Is it not true that a lad of eighteen can buy insurance, but until he is twenty-one years of age that policy can be set aside upon suit by his parents? Is it not true at the present time that he must have the signature or the approval of his parents?

If that is true, then this is a bad bill, because under the conception of family life that I was born and reared into, a son or a daughter belonged to the family until they were twenty-one years of age, or married before then and that the father should have some say and the mother should have some say over all the destinies of that lad or young lady until they are twenty-one years of age.

If this bill does not set aside that particular provision in this law I will vote for it, but if it does, I point out to you that it is a bad piece of legislation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Under the law which this bill attempts to amend, Mr. President, was a minor permitted to buy an annuity?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President, as I understand it, an annuity from a mutual company.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does it provide they can buy annuities which they could not buy before?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, that depends entirely upon the interpretation of the present act passed on the twenty-second day of June, 1931.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Scetion 1 Section eleven of the act approved the seventeenth day of February one thousand nine hundred six (P. Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is one of the most important pieces of legislation we have had in the Senate so far—of course that is not saying much for the rest of the legislation we have passed.

This bill transfers the right to issue advertisements on the accounts audited by the Auditor General from his hands to the hands of the Treasurer.

I hope that you will give it the consideration that this important piece of legislation merits—purely political, purely vindicative. The people elected this man to the office which he now holds and all of the powers that he has, of appointments, are piece meal being taken away from him. Even advertisements in the newspapers must be taken away from him.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggests that the Clerk read the bill and when the question has been put, the Chair will always give opportunity to Senators to debate or make remarks.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, for one Senator I am grateful to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, for demanding that bills be read at length, because I have never heard this bill before and had never read it before—of course the reading clerk's voice is not perfect—but I gather that there is a transfer of patronage—the advertising in these newspapers—from the Auditor General to the Treasurer. I think the Democratic Party is safe because they are both Democrats.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, early in the session this afternoon our great constitutional lawyer, Senator Kephart, turned around and was a little bit sad because I was going to use the Constitution and he said in doing so we would hold up progress of the Senate.

We have been here three months and the only bills which we have passed so far have been bills such as this and other bills paying off political debts. I do not know whose political debt this is. The man that introduced it said he had never read it before—he thanked me for having the bill read. I am happy now that he knows exactly what is in it.

Mr. DENT. The fact that this bill transfers patronage from one Democrat to another Democrat does not justify the bill. The man that was elected to the office of Auditor General was entitled to certain rights by that election, the people said when they elected him that he should administer the law governing that particular office; they did not say that he would be elected and that someone else would have the patronage.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, is not justified in his stand when he says that the Democratic Party is safe. I am not worrying about the Democratic Party being safe, I am worrying about the principles of democracy being safe. If a small majority in the Senate of Pennsylvania can take their election as a dictate from the people to juggle offices controlled by the minority in the State to their will and their wishes, I can easily see that the things and principles that Jefferson fought for and, I would say, gave his life for, I would say that they are not safe in the hands of the Republican majority in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I entirely agree with my colleagues on the other side. This is a very poor bill and I am very sorry I ever introduced it.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in view of the expressed attitude of the sponsor of this bill, I move that the bill, Senate Bill No. 243, be recommitted to commiteee.

Mr. COX. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to speak for one minute on the motion to recommit.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Delaware may proceed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, this bill was handed to Senator Woodward by me. Some very prominent Democrats in Pennsylvania brought this bill to me and they suggested that for the good of the party and the Commonwealth, this change should be made, and they asked me if I would see that the bill was introduced, which I did. The Republican leadership has nothing to do with this bill whatsoever.

Therefore, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. DENT. When the Republican Floor Leader of the Senate of Pennsylvania becomes solicitous for the welfare of the Democratic Party it behooves every Democrat to be suspicious of his motives.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think it would be well for the gentleman from Delaware to tell the public and the members of the Senate who the Democratic leaders are that have influence sufficient to have the Republican Floor Leader introduce legislation. It would be helpful to the people, too. If there is any skullduggery in the Democratic Party, the minority who are here fighting for the public ought to know it; if we have any leaders who should not be leaders, we should know it, and I think it would be a good idea for the gentleman from Delaware to tell us who it was and why it is that they are so solicitous to transfer the power to place advertisements in the newspapers from the office of the Auditor General, whom the Republicans do not like, to the office of the State Treasurer, whom apparently they do like. Those are things the public ought to know. Vermin do not thrive in the light of day; they ought to be brought to the light of day.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to recommit?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred.)

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as "present."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

PRESENT—1

Woodward.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, a short while ago we all listened to some very pertinent remarks concerning the rights of majorities. At no time in my short political career have I ever heard defended the right of a majority, because of their majority, to control the business of a minority.

It would be an interesting and probably a new phase of governmental control if the majority members of this Senate would tell the Democratic members why they take it upon themselves to pass legislation which they will admit is only passed because one particular member of the minority group does not like another member of the minority group.

You can easily understand what justice we in the minority can expect from the majority group of the Senate and the House of Pennsylvania, when they will take it upon themselves to fan a fire that is not of their making. We Democrats admit that we fight amongst each other. The only difference between the Republicans and the Democrats, as I see it, is that our fights are taken up by the majority and made a part of their fights, whereas their fights they keep in their party councils. They have an iron clad rule in their party that when a Caucus action is taken, no man breaks it, and when they give orders, no man is strong enough to defy their orders.

We Democrats who were probably blessed with more personal independence, even in the hey-day of the Democratic Party under Governor Earle, were never able to pass this type of legislation, because we felt that it was not the business of the majority to delve into minority intra-party struggles, and I do not believe the sponsor of this bill, whom I have always believed to be a sincere legislator—I have always talked to him on the basis of one Senator to another in relation to legislation upon the Calendar and I never knew that he would allow himself at his age to become the dupe for politicians.

Mr. President, you can pass this bill, but again I say to you, as I have earlier in the evening, you are setting up another precedent that you will rue some day. Remember that the people of this nation and particularly of this state are not so set in their political feelings as they were in years gone by when the promise of a full dinner pail and the threat of high tariffs kept the people who worked for a living and the persons who worked on the farms within the Republican party's lists of voters. There has been developed a new type of citizen in this state when it comes to elections, and what may be your hey-day today may some day turn out to be our hey-day.

I was here when we were in the minority, I was here again when we were in the majority, and I am here now when we are in the minority, and by the Grace of God, I may be here when we are again in the majority, and I say to you members of the Republican party you will rue the day when you interfere with the rights of the minority.

Mr. HEYBURN. I think the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, has given a very excellent plea for the helpless minority and that it is very much to the point, and I am all in favor of it, and that is one reason why this bill was introduced.

These few Democratic leaders who came to me told me that there is nothing they can do with their party now because, as they expressed it, "Dave" and "Clair" were in control of the Senate on the Democratic side and they had no one to sponsor this bill for them and all that was done was that the bill was introduced in the Senate. There was no Caucus action taken or anything else to pass it, it is just here for the action of the members of the Senate.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I simply want to say that when one has lost a friend it is very difficult to bear, but it is made doubly difficult to bear when one loses one's life long friend, as I have just evidently lost my friend, Johnny Dent.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I view this piece of legislation as very instructive and very illuminating. This side of the Senate does not want it; the Republican side of the Senate was given an opportunity to send it back to committee; it denies ownership or sponsorship of the bill except at the request of individuals who are unnamed. They can free themselves from this nonsensical piece of legislation, which has no place on the Calendar, by voting against the bill. If they vote for this bill it will strike me that their interest is a little deeper than merely a so-called difference between two political office-holders in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

If this were a good bill I would not mind introducing it—I am not a Lawrence or a Ross or a Wagner Democrat—I am supposed to be a Guffey Democrat, I think one newspaper said. But whatever kind of a Democrat I am, I can recognize something like this when I see it. Either the Republican party defeats it or it passes it, and if it passes it, it is because of more than a mere request by some Democratic leader.

I remember the days of bi-partisan rule in Philadelphia, I remember the days when the Republican party controlled the Democratic Party, and if this is the beginning of the Republican Party's attempt to control the Democratic Party, we ought to know it now.

I therefore desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Will the gentleman from Delaware be committing a breach of confidence if he tells us who it was in the Democratic party that gave him the bill to introduce.

Mr. HEYBURN. Oh, Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia ought to know that is an improper question. I am not going to divulge all the conversations or the names of people I have talked with up here in Harrisburg during the last six months. If the gentleman themselves have no objection, I will tell him, but I will not otherwise.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I have no objection, except I want to be sure I am not asking the gentleman from Delaware to do something I know he would not ask me to do, namely to violate a confidence. If it is not violating a confidence, I am prepared, ready, willing and anxious to hear named the person who asked that this bill be sponsored by the Republican party.

Mr. HEYBURN. It was not to be sponsored by the Republican Party at all, Mr. President. Here was a poor helpless group of Americans who had no way of getting a bill introduced in the Senate of Pennsylvania, as I recall, because of the pressure exerted by certain party leaders over Democratic members of the Senate. That is the information I understood or got out of the conversation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Since this bill can not be passed without the votes of the Republican party, it must assume sponsorship of this bill, but irrespective of that, I repeat again, a man has a right to refuse to answer.

Mr. HEYBURN. I have refused once, Mr. President, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, has no right to ask such a question. The gentleman from Philadelphia is a gentleman—I have always regarded him as one—and he should know that is an improper question.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Delaware refuses to answer I have no quarrel with him but I do deny that it is not a gentlemanly question; it is a legislative question. There is a bill on the Calendar, Senate Bill No. 177, and the people will ask and are entitled to know, and I am sure no one will hide from them the origin of that bill. Every bill on this Calendar is subject to scrutiny as to the origin of the bill for the purposes of ascertaining the motives back of the bill. Those are things that help us decide how we should act on a bill. If a bill comes from vicious sponsorship we ought to know it; if a bill comes here motivated by high ideals we ought to know that, and if a bill is introduced motivated by low, mean, political ideas, we ought know that too.

The Democratic party, consisting of people in the State. is a party for the people, and if some of its members, leaders as I understand it, attempt to play cheap, mean politics and allow bills to be placed on the Calendar at a time like this, when they have no place on the Calendar, the public ought to know that too.

I have been complaining here in the Senate that legislation introduced by the Republicans is nonsensical and reprehensible, in view of the conditions under which we are living today, and I shall make the same complaint about any bill introduced by Democrats, and I shall make my statement on the floor with equal vehemence.

I say that this bill, motivated apparently as it is, by some cheap nonsensical politician, does not belong on the Calendar and the public ought to know the name of this man.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware stated that this bill could not be introduced by any Democrat. I have taken the trouble to poll the Democrats present on the floor, and I can tell the gentleman from Delaware that no Democrat on this side was asked to introduce this bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I object. The bills are not printed and can not be read.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny desires to delay the proceedings here and cost the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hundreds of thousands of dollars uselessly, without any need at all, which is just exactly what he is doing—it costs something like $10,000 a week, as I understand, to pay the employes here, and with the tactics the gentleman from Allegheny is pursuing we will probably be here until Christmas.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. STOCKHAM.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 58.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1943.

The United States of America is engaged in the greatest struggle of its history for the preservation of its independence, first declared on Pennsylvania soil on July 4th, 1776.

It is imperative that we concentrate all our resources and lend every effort to the winning of this war.

Nothing must be done that shall disrupt the harmonious relations existing between the United Nations.

It has become plain, however, that it is necessary to be thinking and planning now concerning the peace, so that once the war is won we may not be unprepared for the peace as we were for the war.

To the end that public opinion in America may be so thoughtful and informed that the Nation will be able to agree upon a constructive and comprehensive plan for a just and durable peace which will protect the world against a recurrence of international banditry and aggression and which will guarantee to all peoples of the world life, liberty and justice; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That this General Assembly petitions the Congress of the United States now assembled, through its Senators and Representatives from Pennsylvania to take proper action concerning the peace, in conformity with the foregoing statements as being the consensus of opinion of the vast majority of the people of this Commonwealth, and that this Nation under the guidance of Divine Providence may boldly lead in such Godly endeavor; and be it further

Resolved, That we respectfully suggest to the Congress of the United Nations that the Peace Conference be invited to meet in Independence Hall in Philadelphia, the great Shrine of Liberty, where the atmosphere of freedom may peameate its deliberations and the spirits of the founding fathers may inspire a structure of world peace.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. HAUDENSHIELD and MORAN.

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania Historical Commission is to be commended for the zeal and forethought shown in the preparation of this bulletin, and in its plans to distribute its own small edition of five thousand copies to its regular mailing list of historical societies, of high school Junior Historian Clubs, and of historically minded persons.

IN THE NAME AND BY AUTHORITY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

PROCLAMATION

JEFFERSON BICENTENNIAL DAY

Two hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson, one of the American Immortals, was born at Shadwell, in the Crown Colony of Virginia. Two centuries have passed but his name endures as one of the great liberals of modern times. Across the years of war, peace, progress and national development he stands as one of the familiar and significant figures in the deliberations that shaped the framework of our government and laid the foundations of our free Republic. The Declaration of Independence, drawn by his hand, is his living memorial and his everlasting monument.

He had supreme and unshaken faith in the common sense and honesty of the people. He believed, as all Americans believe, that majorities should rule by right and reason, and not by armed force. Not one of the statesmen and leaders of the American Revolution left a deeper imprint upon the Nation. The verdict of History has given him a secure place among the great dead of America.

It is fitting that the bicentennial of the birth of this patriot and statesman, lawmaker, philosopher, mathematician and economist be appropriately observed. To that end the Congress of the United States established the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission. To that end the General Assembly created a similar commission for Pennsylvania, and by Concurrent Resolution adopted April 7, 1943, has requested the issuance of a Proclamation commemorating the 200th Anniversary of the birth of the great American who devoted his life to freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of religion and freedom of government.

Now, Therefore, I, Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, April 13, 1943, as JEFFERSON BICENTENNIAL DAY, and ask all citizens to observe that Anniversary by reading that immortal document, the Declaration of Independence, and by appropriate exercises.

(SEAL)

GIVEN under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Harrisburg, this twelfth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

(Signed) EDWARD MARTIN.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, lest we forget, and as a reminder to the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth, war was declared on December 7, 1941. An examination of the activities of this Legislature presumably directed by the Chief Executive failed to convince me that we know or that he knows that there is a war going on. We have been in session, Mr. Speaker, almost three months. The Legislature has cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania one million three hundred thousand dollars. We have passed eighteen bills. They cost us seventy-six thousand dollars apiece, and we still haven't passed a measure that has anything much to do with the war.

If you will remember, Mr. Speaker, when the Governor addressed the Joint Session of both the House and the Senate at the beginning of this session he read from a prepared text his recommendations to this Legislature, and when he had addressed the Joint Assembly but briefly possibly ten or twelve minutes, a speech which was broadcast to the people of Pennsylvania, he put aside his prepared text. He leaned over to us intimately and strongly and with every bit of sincerity at his command he said, "Let us talk off the record, let us get serious." He talked about the war and he talked about what Pennsylvania had to do in the war and he related to us what our duties were in war times. He said then and he has said it time and time again, "we must devote every effort and every energy of the Legislative, the Judicial and the Executive; we must bend every effort to operate in the winning of this war, and I want the cooperation from both sides of the House, on either side of these halls, in the Senate and in the House. I want you to come in on these problems, I want you to discuss these problems, I want you to advise with me, I want you to criticize, if criticism need be, but I want you all to remember that we are in a war."

Let us look at the record, eighteen bills passed, a lot to do about nothing, or should I say a little to do about less. Eighteen bills about politics and a raft more coming about politics. This side of the House has retained its composure and has remained patient. This side has been waiting for three months for this war program of of the Governor, and we have seen nothing until in the last few days when the administration announced that we should finally adjourn on April 29th, when there suddenly appears a real flood of political bills. Let me put the record straight. I am somewhat complimented by these bills, and I think my party is because it seems to me from the tenor of these bills that somebody is afraid that the Democrats are going to win the next election. The attack is undoubtedly and unquestionably along political lines because the same party which throughout the length and breadth of this land in almost every legislature in session now, and in the Halls of Congress of Washington, has been crying to preserve the Constitution, preserve our Constitutional form of government and the two party system, because from such a system we must prosper and not perish, are now found initiating as perfidious a plot in war time and in peace time as it has ever been my unfortunate duty to observe and study.

We have a tax program which will be debated later and much said on it; we have other bills breaking down the labor standards, bills to break down the honest moral standards of the conduct of the merchants of the Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, I want to be as emphatic as I can, and I want to be as sincere as I have been up to this point, because this plot and plan gets my nanny up, and I beg the indulgence of the House if I give vent to it now, but Mr. Speaker, when this legislature consumed three months of time in which to decide whether we should fish for perch through ice, and on the question of whether or not minors are to be permitted in bowling alleys, if that is wartime cooperation, that we should take up a lot of this innocuous, vapid and vacuous legislation we have been faced with, if that is getting my nanny up I cannot help it.

We have been told time and time again, "Don't get exorcised because we have got the votes to lick you." Well, we expect to have the votes against us to lick us, but we don't expect to get licked until the people of Pennsylvania are informed of what is going on here. There is one way we are going to do that and that is to prevent this ruthless machine from continuing from this point on in, to give us a chance to catch our breath, to give the people of Pennsylvania a chance to catch their breath and wake up as to what is happening.

There is no democratic process in Harrisburg today. "We have got the votes; you say what you want." All right you have got the votes to snow us under, but we will come up again and you will have to snow us under again. If you snow us under a third time we are coming up a third time, and we will come up again and we are going to keep on coming up until the people have talked through their Representatives both on this side and the other side, and if the other side does not wake up to it, we will then know that we have kept our pledge and our faith with the people by letting them know what is going on in Harrisburg.

We do not intend to be sissy; we intend to fight about it. Before the calendar is taken up, I want to state that this side of the House, the minority party is going to request that ll bills on the calendar whether on special order of business or otherwise, from now on in shall be read at length, as provided for in Section 4, Article III of the Constitution. If you want constitutional government, we will give you constitutional procedure, if only to protect the people of Pennsylvania who are too busy with their war effort and are too busy with their cooperation in the war effort, and give them a chance to catch up to us and tell us that we have not cooperated in the war effort, and let the Governor lead us. I will take his leadership but let him come out and lead us. The Governor has continually shut us out of conferences and shut us out of committees, but we want him to lead us anyhow, we want his leadership, let him come out on the line and give it to us.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, under Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution do I understand that all House bills must be read at length, including the bills on special order of business?

The SPEAKER. That is exactly what the section says, according to the Chair's understanding of it.

Mr. CULLEN. Then, Mr. Speaker, I am going to request that those bills be read at length.

The SPEAKER. That request has already been made, the Chair would inform the gentleman. The House will proceed according to the provisions of the Constitution.

(During the reading of the bill)

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, there is so much confusion going on in the House, I do not think the Members are even listening to the reading of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The Chair concurs in the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Venango will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, is there anything in the Constitution that requires a Member to listen to the reading of these bills?

The SPEAKER. There is not.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of information.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, if some of the Members as individuals do not think it is necessary to listen to these bills, there may be a lot of other Members that do, and I think we ought to have order, so that the ones who do want to listen may listen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has endeavored repeatedly to maintain order.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I want to make a statement.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the reading of the bill.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I wanted to answer the gentleman's inquiry.

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman from Venango propounding a question of parliamentary inquiry?

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, it is not a question of parliamentary inquiry, I just want to answer the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot entertain any other business except the reading of the bill.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Venango will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, have not the bills been on the calendar for three separate days, and also in Committee? These bills are on third reading, they have been read twice.

The SPEAKER. The bills have been on the calendar for more than three days.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, have not the Members had ample opportunity to study the legislation contained in the bills so that they can intelligently vote on them?

The SPEAKER. That is correct. The Chair concurs, however, there is nothing in order except the reading of the bill. The Clerk will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair informs the gentleman that there is nothing in order except the reading of the bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inform the gentleman that there is nothing in order except the reading of the bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Allegheny that there is nothing before the House except the reading of the bill. The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Allegheny at the first opportunity.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a Constitutional Point of Order—

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman at the first opportunity.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. I rose to a constitutional point of order, Mr. Speaker, but the Chair did not recognize me. I doubt whether my constitutional point of order will be valid at this time, because I wanted to challenge the reading of the bill at length. Whether or not I can do it after the bill is read, I ask the Speaker to decide.

Mr. Speaker, I realize that the course I am about to take and the statements I am going to make will show that I am not in accord with the Minority Floor Leader. I am absolutely in accord with that part of his speech which had to do with the waste of time that we have put in here at this session. That is not in debate now. I quite realize that, but in order to make my constitutional point of order I want to divide that part of the speech with which I disagree.

With the gentleman's request that bills be read at length, I am wholly in disagreement. I am in disagreement with that for several reasons, first of all the courts decided on the constitutionality of legislation and not the Legislature. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in the case of Kilgore vs. Magee, 85 Pa., 401, decided shortly after our constitution was adopted in 1877, had this to say concerning the reading of bills at length:

> "On a bill in equity filed to enjoin the execution of a statute, the court will not consider allegations that it was not read at length on the three different days in each or either House."

Ever since I have been in this House I have tried to adhere to the principles of the Constitution of Pennsylvainia and the Constitution of the United States, and I will disapprove of any attempt by any person or by any group of persons to prostitute the Constitution simply for the purpose of delay, and I say that, recognizing that we have a just fight on this side of the House. I am willing to enter that fight in any way that I can providing we do it in a dignified way, in a manner that will reflect credit not only upon us but on the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and in no other way.

Mr. Speaker, there are only two ways. I know the majority on the other side have the votes, and they can, even if we stay here until our terms expire, enact any measure they see fit, but there are two appeals from oppressive legislation, and only two. One is through the courts of the land and the other is at the bar of public opinion. I say to my colleagues on this side of the House, and I say it with all the fervor and with all the honesty that I can muster at this time, any time you deviate from those two methods, you are placing constitutional government in peril. Those of us, particularly of my race, who have seen filibusters in the national House of Congress, know what they mean, and I opposed them there and I will oppose them here. I will vote against, I will stay here and argue so long as we argue on that point on any measure, and I know that the people of Pennsylvania will not be in agreement with the measures that will be passed. Finally, Mr. Speaker, I will utilize only the two methods that we can utilize under constitutional government and be in accord with dignity and respect, and that is an appeal to the courts, and when that fails an appeal to the last resort, the sovereign people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the other bills which are on special order tonight at 9:30 p. m. be read and debated at the same time, if it is agreeable.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to debate all the bills on special order at the same time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh has the floor. The request of the gentleman from Lehigh was in conformity with an agreement between the minority and majority parties.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it is the wish of the minority, by agreement with the majority this afternoon, that all these bills, which all pertain to the same general subject, may all be debated at the same time.

Mr. LEVY. Do I understand, then, Mr. Speaker, that following the reading of House Bill 546, Printer's No. 380 which has just been read by the reading clerk, we are now going to debate all the tax bills at the same time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that that was a gentleman's agreement, and the request of the Majority Floor Leader is in conformity with that request. The Chair is not sure which one of the bills was to be used to enter the debate, whether it was this bill or the last bill on special order.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it not necessary under the rules of the House that each bill be read individually?

The SPEAKER. That was the request of the minority floor leader and we propose to carry out that request. We propose to read every bill at length.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, my question did entail reading the bills at length. My question was, is it not necessary to read each individual bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that that is what we intend to do.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, then when are we to debate the bills?

The SPEAKER. The question recurs, shall the bill pass finally? That is the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Floor Leader kindly explain to the gentleman from Philadelphia what we are trying to do.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I do not have to have it explained to me.

The SPEAKER. You certainly asked for it.

I then object to the request of the majority leader that all these bills be debated at one time. In my opinion these bills are important, so important to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the people of Pennsylvania that each individual bill should be debated individually.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the present bill which was just read, and the several bills on Special Order of Business, being House Bills 546, Printer's No. 380, House Bill 544, Printer's No. 379, House Bill 545, Printer's No. 340, House Bill 547, Printer's No. 366, House Bill 548, Printer's No. 339 and House Bill 1056, Printer's No. 383, are supposed to be the Republican party's keeping of a promise. They are supposed to be the Republican party's redemption of a pledge. Just to keep the record straight and to be certain it was not a pledge made in some back room, it was not a pledge made out on the open highway where someone was walking along and talking in the air and reflecting that he would like to tell somebody what he thinks, let me read to you from a copy of a document that apparently found favor with some two hundred twenty thousand more people in the Commonwealth than my party was able to get for its program and its candidate.

Under platform twelve of the Republican party, the title of the platform is: "Taxation," and it reads something like this, in part:

> "With the great increase in Federal taxes made necessary by war, it becomes the duty of the State, the county and local governments to reduce their levies, wherever possible, in the face of decreasing revenues." * * * * "We will undertake to reduce taxes and equitably to revise the fiscal laws of the Commonwealth."

Mr. Speaker, I have always contended that Philadelphia lawyers were much overrated, but it does not take a Philadelphia lawyer to use smart language, and I think the people understood what this meant. It did not mean to the people, we will undertake to reduce taxes comma or period or semi-colon or dash, and equitably to revise the fiscal laws of the Commonwealth. It did mean to the people that, we will undertake to reduce taxes and equitably to reduce taxes. So when we consider this program we have got to see whether or not there is any equitable attempt to reduce taxes to the people of the Commonwealth.

At a dinner not long ago in Harrisburg, one of Pennsylvania's foremost journalists said something that may have been true. In fact, I have often heard that many a truth is spoken in jest. This eminent journalist made reference to or alluded to something to the effect that utilities were to be paid off or going to be paid off or were paid off. I choose to believe that by the enactment of one of these special bills the utilities are going to be paid off, and not only the utilities.

Mr. Speaker, my party pledged tax reduction. They said, "Wherever possible we will reduce taxes." Don't stand up here and say that my party said "we will take off $100,000,000." I think if we will look into the matter carefully we will find that a lot more can be taken off than the majority party proposes to take off here. My point of complaint is that this is not an equitable tax reduction program. As a matter of fact, I think we are more or less out of order when we talk about a tax reduction program right now, because what we are doing is establishing a tax program for the next two years, and as yet we have not established a proper budget. We know what money we want to take in, but still we don't know what money we are going to spend. Even Arthur James would say that is not good business. Let me say, that the budget as presented to the House and to the Senate had a certain number of millions of dollars for this, a certain number of millions of dollars for that; they were going to do this with some of it and they were going to that with some of it, but no matter how it would figure up or add up, at the foot of the page it came out even. It's very simple, Mr. Speaker, you don't have to be a wizard. When you come to the end of it you put on a couple of figures and you have got a balanced budget. That is what we have a budget for, and this tax program is a part of that budget.

For instance we talk about corporate net income. We talk about the amount of corporate net income, which is actual and which is estimated for the biennium ending May 31, 1943, and the figures submitted by the Governor tell us that we are going to take in some $66,000,000 in all, or $63,000,000 in all. Up to this time that money has come to $54,000,000. Let me correct myself, the amount in the budget of 1941 was, I think, $63,000,000 and the actual estimated for this biennium is $84,000,000. We have taken in up to now, Mr. Speaker, some $54,000,000, and that represents practically all of one year. For the year ending May 31, 1943, for which returns were filed March 15, we have no figures as yet, but it is my guess, or better, it is my estimate, and to go further it is my prediction, that we will have received upwards of $90,000,000 in that fund before we close the books for this year.

Then we talk about other taxes. I am going to jump from one to another just to point out how fallacious these figures are. For instance, the gasoline tax, the estimate for the coming biennium is some $17,000,000. For the first couple of months for this year, at a time when automobile use and gasoline consumption in Pennsylvania is probably at its lowest possible level, the Commonwealth took in well over $1,000,000 a month on the emergency one cent tax, so it seems to me, that there is a miss of at least $7,000,000. Then the budget very clearly tells us that twelve million dollars has not been marked down for anything, and so on down through the various items, and you find huge sums of money accumulating which are not being made public and which is not honest for one reason, that it is an attempt of this administration to evade the mandate of the Constitution, Article IX that all surpluses at the end of biennium shall be put into a sinking fund, and in order to avoid that the estimates are made purposely low so that the administration may at the end of two years make good Arthur James' promise that we will have a lot of money in the bank. That money will be carried over by devious routes and by very serious devices to give us a huge sum of money in the bank, when we are prohibited by the Constitution from so doing.

Now let us talk briefly about the tax program itself. Let us very briefly refer back to the time when all these emergency taxes were enacted. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at that time was faced with a serious problem, to take care of unemployment relief. There were various estimates as to how much money was necessary. Exactly how much no one knew because the rolls were going up higher every day, but the administration at that time boldly struck out and decided upon the emergency tax program, which provided for taxes on the top and on the bottom, taxes on corporation, taxes on utilities, taxes on personal property, and then for the little fellow a two cent tax on every package of cigarettes he bought; on the automobile user a one cent emergency gasoline tax. Seventy-seven percent approximately of the entire tax yield of one hundred ninety million dollars fell on the corporations, and the balance of twenty-three per cent fell on the little fellow. That was an approach to an equitable manner of distributing the cost of government for that specific purpose, to take care of these in need and to take care of those whom it was our bounden duty to take care of in a crisis.

So we come to the tax reduction program, and what do we have? Eliminate the tax on personal property—and I agree with you that we should eliminate that tax because it is already imposed by the counties, and is probably not an equitable tax because it is a tax on principal, not on income—the tax on bank shares and securities. Then we have one that slipped out in a hurry, one that they found they could not have. In view of the fact that the administration was complaining that it had no money for school teachers and in view of the fact that the press publicly printed that House Bill 816 would entail an estimated cost of twenty-seven million dollars, the administration threatened to cut it down to twenty million dollars because the funds were not available—and in the face of that situation a reduction of taxes to the utilities of three and a half million dollars. So, Mr. Speaker, we have the picture of corporations being taken care of, the investment brokers and people like that taken care of, and then the utilities are taken care of, everybody on top. The fellow who has the most money and is best able to afford to pay taxes is taken care of. Is this because he complained so loudly? Is it because he talked so sweetly? Is it because it was the right thing to do, or did he come to the Governor and say sweet things to him and remind him of certain promises made during the campaign in exchange for a certain type of support which they gave to the Governor in his campaign for election? It is most likely that, because the Governor is a man of his word, and he certainly is keeping his word to the vested interests. But is he keeping his word to the people? I charge, Mr. Speaker, that this tax program is unbalanced, and an unholy attempt to repay the financial supporters of the Governor's campaign. I say that, Mr. Speaker, because with money hidden away so that it should not dare be spent or should not dare be reflected in a reduction of taxes to the little follow, and with an utter disregard for what the little fellow might want, a tax program, is set up, to take care of those on top and forget the fellows on the bottom.

I know, Mr. Speaker, that there is a very simple issue here. Over the week end the public press commented on the fact that I would most viciously and vigorously oppose such a vicious and unholy tax program. The sponsor of the bill said that this was the best program ever put on the statute books of Pennsylvania. If so, I suppose on the face of this, you will vote 126 and we will vote 76 and the bills will pass. But you cannot stop me from protesting and you cannot stop me from telling the people of Pennyslvania that this is how the Governor of the Commonwealth, this is how the majority party is redeeming its pledge of an equitable tax reduction to the people, and I mean all the people of the Commonwealth. I find this program so unbalanced and so full of favor to the corporations, so devoid of fear of the little fellow, such an out and out redemption of only one promise, and that was to those best able to pay, with such an utter disregard for those people least able to pay and for those who should certainly be considered in any tax reduction program.

We are talking about emergency taxes. I cannot find myself ready to vote on such bills. I am for tax reduction, and I say it again and I will say it another time, that I am for an equitable reduction of taxes. There was thrown into this situation, which is pure political grab, the slogan beat the Democratic party by beating their organization, beat their brains in and knock them senseless to the wayside and abolish the Mercantile Tax; abolish that tax because we will be giving a saving to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth. To what people? To the department stores of Philadelphia and Allegheny County? I am willing for the sake of argument to agree to the statement made by the gentleman from Montgomery last week that it would not affect the third class cities in Pennsylvania. I am only agreeing for the sake of the argument; there is some serious doubt about whom whom we are making the tax reduction for, the big merchants in Philadelphia, the department stores in Allegheny County? They have not asked for it, and I will tell you why they have not. Because they know that just as sure as there is a Republican organization in Philadelphia, and they know just as sure as they open their doors in the morning and close them at night, that the moment this tax, this oldest of taxes in Pennsylvania, this permanent tax, this tax which was not levied in an emergency, this tax which is being abolished in the face of emergency taxes being are permitted to remain, this tax as sure as God made little apples will be reenacted by the Republican machine in Philadelphia, and I can assure you at a greater rate than i. now imposed by the Commonwealth.

I know what is going to happen, and so do you, and so does the Republican party in Philadelphia, and that is why the rest of the party in Pennsylvania is asked to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. Perhaps the gentleman from Philadelphia, who so vehemently protested the wage tax in Philadelphia, will like the idea, but that wage tax is certainly coming out at the end of this year, because we are going to elect a mayor at that time. They are going to get rid of the innocuous wage tax and they are going to come out with a five or six mill tax on mercantile assessment to get the money they will have to give up on the wage tax.

This is not a tax reduction program; it is paying off the utilities; it is paying off big business, it is paying off the fellows who put it on the line before the Governor was elected. It is paying off the Republican machine for the terrible job they did in the last campaign, because they realize they cannot possibly win unless they first ruin the Democratic machine in Pennsylvania. That is what they told you in Pennsylvania, that is what they told the Republican party. They are ripping and zipping out the mercantile appraisers and getting rid of Democrats; they are going to do that and forget about the emergency taxes. I would not complain so much, Mr. Speaker, if the mercantile taxes were scaled down to fit everybody, but when you take the tax off the big guys and leave it on the little fellows, I find myself in a position where I cannot vote on these bills. If these bills were equitable, I would say "aye" in a hurry. I am for tax reduction, but Mr. Speaker, these bills are such a filthy mess that I cannot find my way clear to vote for any of them.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, most of my remarks are addressed to House Bill 1056 but in accordance with the agreement I presume I am in order.

The proposed abolition of the mercantile tax under ordinary conditions could be accepted as a step in the right direction, were it not for the fact that the motives behind this seemingly fair proposal, are as sinister as they are vicious. The tax as now levied is so small and trivial and its abolition will afford little consolation to the business man, big or small. Its abolition is definitely intended to serve as nothing more than bait for the purpose of securing the small business man's support in the coming Municipal elections.

I charge here and now that when this tax is abolished, it is secret understanding between the Republican leadership and certain county administrations, that a mercantile tax as much as ten times the present levy will be gouged from the pockets of the business man next year in the form of a county licensing levy. Our Republican friends always had been as they are now, experts in the art of political chicanery. Here is evidence of that art in actual practice. But this is not all behind the move to win the friendship of the small business man by giving him trivial temporary tax relief and securing thereby his support in this election year.

I shall now disclose a more sinster and vile aspect of the operations of Machiavelli reincarnated. House Bill 1056 calls for the abolition of the tax on pin ball machines, twice outlawed as gambling devices by the Court of Philadelphia. We talk of slot machines as one-armed bandits, but the pinball machine as a device of chance is verily a creature of the inventive genius of Satan himself. Whereas the slot machine is hidden from view and usually prays only on the susceptible adult, the pinball machine invariably relieves the irresponsible juvenile of the nickels his mother intended for lunch, or contribution to church or charity. May of you had received complaints time and time again from principals of schools that children were in the habit of gambling away every nickel they had received from their mothers to purchase milk and food during recess. The inclination to try their luck on a clevely and attarctively constructed pinball machine, however, is so pronounced in countless numbers of our youngsters that they go hungry from morning to early evening after dropping their nickels into the pinball machine's hungry maw.

Another question I would like the Republican leadership, that invisible leadership behind the scenes, to answer is just why are they so kind to the gentry known as pinball machine operators and distributors, that coterie of shady characters who would enrich themselves while children of our State go hungry because of the natural youngster's inclination to fall for the gaudy hues of this pernicious gambling device? Is this the Republican party's payoff to denizens of the underworld and society's dissidents for the support the Grand Old Party receives from them on election day? Is it a return with a substantial bonus of the political contribution made by these elements to the Republican campaign committee? If repeal of the mercantile tax is intended solely to lessen the tax burden on the businessman, why does the Republican party include therein the only measure of control over wild distribution of the pinball holdup of children by abolishing the existing levy, so that these preying parasites, who neither sow nor reap yet harvest a golden crop, might be given carte blanche to spread this gambling disease in corners of our Commonwealth as yet untapped? I say to you that if ever there were a scheme conceived in iniquity, nurtured by the slime of youth corruption and born of a shameless desire to advance party interest, it is this pinball machine tax repealer. The Republican party has the votes in both houses of this Assembly necessary to insure this bill's passage. The responsibility for this brazen handout of thousands of dollars to these conscienceless, mercenary harpies preying on the weaknesses of our youth, rests squarely on the shoulders of this administration. The consequences of your action, should House Bill 1056 be enacted into law, will be yours to cope with. You may rest assured that we of the Democratic party will point them out to you every time the opportunity presents itself.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker and fellow members, I too wish to direct my remarks towards House Bill 1056.

House Bill 1056 is a measure dealing with the abolition of one of the six forms taxation to be meat-axed to make up the $40,767,300, front paged in the Governor's budget of this Session, and specifically labeled as the Administration's tax reduction program.

The tax to be eliminated by the instrumentality of this bill is the victim of an artful and cunning alternative choice designed to circumvent the Governor's dramatic plea that nothing matters but the winning of this war and that politics should be out the window for the duration. The first choice was to march the youngster from the tender care of his original parent, the Auditor General, into the waiting arms of the Revenue Department, but the declaration that nothing matters but the winning of the war and that politics should be out, came ringing over the mountains, driving the advocates of the first choice into the foxhales in the valley of political expediency.

All of us favor tax reduction where it is possible, and under ordinary circumstances the abolition of the mercantile tax could be accepted as a step in the right direction. But, behind this especial tax reduction proposal are seeming sinister and vicious motives. Its prime aim is to throw Democrats out of jobs, to weaken the present majority's opposition and to put the little businessman in line to swallow Republican propaganda, hook, line and sinker so that this year's election returns will be more to the GOP's liking.

My fellow members, the killing of this tax should cause every historical mind to sit up and take notice, for it was first enacted in the year of 1821, as a license tax. In its original form it applied to dealers in foreign wares or merchandise only, but by the Act of May 4th, 1841, all dealers became liable to the tax, whether they handled foreign or domestic goods. There was exemptions for those whose annual sales did not exceed $1000, and those selling goods of their own manufacture or growth, there was also exemptions for feme sole traders whose annual sales did not exceed $2500, and importers of foreign goods, sold by them in the original packages.

It is interesting to follow the history and the transformations of the little fellow who is up for execution, and whose death warrant is symbolized in House Bill 1056. He was around here serving his master, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, when many other forms of state taxation were yet unborn, or still in their swaddling clothes. As a tiny kid no one seemed to want him, yet undaunted, he hung around the walls of drug stores, people going forth to buy stocks met with him in the brokers' office, he was familiar to bill brokers, note brokers, merchandise brokers, exchange brokers, factors and commission merchants, real estate, agents and pawn brokers. He was always around shooting galleries, shuffleboard rooms, billiard or pool rooms, or any other place where a game was played on a table with the use of balls and cues, yes, in bowling alleys, nine pin alleys and ten pin alleys.

He always met the circus as it came into town, peered out at mom when she bought the groceries, and kept a watchful eye over pop when he ambled into take a drink.

By 1919, this legislature thought something ought to be done about him, and so, in amending the Act of 1899 the Auditor General was required to investigate and ascertain the character and amount or volume of business transacted by any dealer or dealers, vendor or vendors, who by fraud, accident or mistake failed to make a full, complete and accurate return and impose the correct amount of tax indicated by the facts in each case.

From this it can be seen that the Auditor General was an important factor in the collection of the tax. By the Act of April 9th, 1929, however, it was provided that the exercise of powers and performance of duties in connection with the collection of mercantile license taxes be entrusted to the newly created Department of Revenue. It is significant to note that at the time, or year of this transfer of collecting authority, the present Governor was Auditor General.

Farewell, you good and faithful service man, Mr. Mercantile tax. You have served your state for 122 years, during which you always brought home the bacon. If your past performances were appreciated, if the weight of your possible yield in dollars were to be stored away for future years, you could reduce the distress of many a school district, or aid in the maintenance of many a state institution.

Alas, after you receive your sentence beneath the glistening ceiling of this gold trimmed house, you will be hurried to your doom in the Senate chamber. There, like Socrates of old, you will drink the hemlock. Then you will have only to walk about till January of 1944, until your legs are heavy and you have to lay down. Your enemies will press your foot hard and ask if you can feel it. Your answer will be "No," and then they'll feel your leg and upwards and upwards you will be cold and stiff. You will realize that with the dawn of next year the poison will reach your heart, that will be your end. You will give orders for the payment of your last debts, and with the rattle of death you will give up the ghost.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I am going to preface my remarks by saying to the Republican majority that when I was elected to this House for four terms I was not elected to a tea party, and if the Republican majority will give me the opportunity I wish to express tonight some constructive criticism on one bill. So, Mr. Speaker that I might not confuse the Majority Leader, I might inform him that I desire to ask him a question on House Bill 546, the first bill on the calendar tonight.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Lehigh would look at House Bill 546, Printer's No. 380, I would ask him to kindly explain to me what the Administration means from the end of line 26 to the bottom of line 13 on pages 4 and 5.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think that the language is very clear. It would allow them to consolidate their returns after a certain date.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh whether from line 26 on page 4 to lines 12 and 13 on page 5 this does not conform with the Governor's request that the tax on corporate net income be changed, at least the base of the tax, in order to get into the treasury the sum; and I quote the Governor, "twenty million dollars and thirty-five million dollars more than what the State has been accustomed to receive under this tax?"

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker, I cannot say that the amounts are correct but the plan is to do what the gentleman from Philadelphia has said.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether he, representing the majority, knows how much money will be taken from the federal treasury in this new base of tax?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot answer that question, Mr. Speaker. I do not think anyone at the present time can estimate just the amount which will be taken from the federal government in the method of collection as provided in this bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lehigh admit that the insertion of the amendment in House Bill 546 in conformity with the request by the Governor will take certain moneys from the federal treasury?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. That is all. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have heard a great deal tonight concerning the Governor's, or rather the Republican party's program on taxation. If the only request in the Governor's program was the reduction of the millage on the corporate net income tax of the Commonwealth I would say that the Governor and the Republican party, as expressed by the Minority Floor Leader, would be paying a debt to its friends, but, gentlemen, the same language has been expressed on the floor of this House for many weeks. The fact that the Republican party tonight is going to pass House Bill 546 in order to repay the corporations of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is their concern, but the problem that presents itself tonight is the fact that in House Bill 546 the Republican party goes further. Not content with keeping its side bar conferences and confidences, it is now getting in the position of sticking its hand into the federal treasury in order to fatten the corporations of Pennsylvania, and I say to you, Mr. Republican Leader, that that charge is made after serious study.

I personally on Friday after digesting House Bill 546 called the Department of Internal Revenue in Washington. I spoke at length with the Assistant Deputy assigned to the collection of taxes in the federal government, and I asked him the same question that I asked of the Majority Leader tonight. His answer was very clear. He said he was not in a positioin to give me the accurate amount of money, but certainly the plan of the Governor of the Commonwealth and the plan as announced by the Republican party of Pennsylvania would take from the Federal Treasury a considerable amount of money.

Now, that made a new proposition. The Republican party, apparently not content with serving those corporations to the detriment of the people of Pennsylvania, have now decided to go and commit an act which is a detriment to the people of the United States. I listened with a great deal of interest the other day when one of the Republican members said on the floor of this House in debating a resolution that he had two sons in the Marine Corps of the United States. My sympathies certainly go out to the gentleman from Delaware. I know how he, and I know how Mrs. Bretherick must feel in these days of trying times, but I say to the gentleman from Delaware and I say to each and every Republican on the floor of this House, if the millions that Governor Martin attempts to take from the federal treasury would buy one machine gun, if the millions that the Republican party expects to take from the federal government in House Bill 546 in order to fatten the corporations of Pennsylvania would buy one jeep, if the millions that the Republican party expects to take from the federal treasury to fatten the public utilities of Pennsylvania would buy one round of ammunition, maybe that is the money needed to save the life of one single American boy.

Gentleman, I regret tonight that the first war measure sponsored by the Republican party is a measure to take from the federal treasury the money needed for ammunition, the money needed for the sinews of the war in which we are now engaged. Tonight we are faced with a serious question. I say to the Republican party, fatten your corporations, fatten your public utilities if that is your campaign promise. You do it, but don't do it to the detriment of some innocent American boy six thousand miles from the shores of the United States.

I don't think the Republican Members on the other side knew the situation in House Bill 546. It looks quite innocent, it looks like we are only giving the corporations a reduction of three mills in their tax, but, gentlemen, it goes further than that. I say to the Republican leadership tonight, if Americanism is to be our motto, if this is to be a real wartime session, if Governor Martin's words in his extemporaneous address before the Joint Session of the Assembly are to be taken as sincere, then the Republican majority leader should recommit this bill tonight and strike out from its provisions this steal of federal funds.

Oh, I listened quite attentively and I read quite enthusiastically about the Republican orators in the Congress of the United States who say, "Oh, we must have money; we must spend money." The Republican leadership in Pennsylvania is attempting by House Bill 546 to steal millions of dollars from the treasury of the United States.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LEVY. I move that House Bill 546 be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means and that this obnoxious amendment inserted in Committee in order to pervert the minds of the people of Pennsylvania be sent back for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. House Bill 546, Printer's No. 380 has been in the Committee on Ways and Means since March third. It has been given great study. I believe it is in proper position to pass at this time. The amendments which were inserted by the Committee have also been given great study. The gentleman from Philadelphia has told you in numerous ways and many times that this bill robs the treasury of the United States. It doesn't do that at all. That money never gets to the United States Treasury, So I ask my colleagues to vote down this motion.

Mr. LEVY. Last week in debating one of these bills on second reading, certain representations were also made, and I say to you, Mr. Speaker, in this most serious of sessions let us get down to serious talk, let us cut out these misrepresentations of fact. I charge that the money that went into the United States Treasury from the corporations of Pennsylvania in 1942 will not go into the treasury in 1943. Don't let the gentleman from Montgomery fool us; he is not kidding a soul. Certainly the money in 1943 will not go into the federal treasury; it will go to the state direct, but the federal government in contracting to buy planes, tanks, jeeps and guns is counting on the very millions that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania through its stupid Republican leadership is attempting to take from them at this time. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Levy and Mr. Kolankiewicz and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, first I would like briefly to reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia. Pennsylvania is not setting a precedent in the change made in the corporate net income tax. I believe Pennsylvania is the only one of seventeen states levying such a tax that is not at present collecting that particular tax as we hope to collect it in the future.

I would also like to say that with this revenue coming to the state of Pennsylvania and not going to the federal treasury, Pennsylvania will still be the second largest tax-paying state in the Union, to the federal government, and also in addition to the things the gentleman mentioned, that this money might buy for the Federal Government, he should have added jobs.

The Minority leader has criticized the estimates and the figures as contained in the budget. The Republicans appear to have a better record for estimating the general fund receipts, while the record of the minority party has not been so good. For the 1935 biennium the estimates were four percent too high. For the 1937 biennium the estimates were twenty percent too low, while for the 1939 biennium the estimates were only three percent too low, and the 1941 biennium it appears at the present time that the receipts will come rather close to the estimates.

I would like to say here that in the 1941 session in the discussion of the budget there were certain criticisms made as to the figures in that particular budget. We were told that the estimates were entirely too low, and I recall very vividly that we were told the estimates on the Liquid Fuel Tax at that time, as tonight, were entirely too low by the then Majority Leader of the House, Mr. Achterman.

Mr. Woodside, who was then Minority Leader on this side of the House, said that he felt the estimates were accurate. I want to say I am willing to take the estimates and the prophecy of this side of the House, because at that time Mr. Woodside prophesied there would be a great decrease in the Liquid Fuel Tax. This was long before we had declared war, because at that particular time we read headlines of lending fifty tankers to Great Britain to carry needed supplies of oil. He prosphesied at that time that we would have in the next biennium a great decrease in the Liquid Fuel Tax in Pennsylvania. How true his words were that were spoken that night! Nevertheless, it would probably be unfair to hold the disparity of these particular percentage figures and the conditions under which they were made by either party. However, we recall in the state informing everyone that the estimates for the current biennium at that particular time were one hundred fifty to one hundred sixty million dollars over the estimates made. Where would we have been today if we had followed the advice of the minority, who said that our estimates were far below what the receipts would be in Pennsylvania? This hit and miss careless method of making estimates and spending the taxpayers money has not received much assistance from the Republicans in the past four years, and I trust not in the future.

It has been the Republican policy to keep tax burdens and State expenditures at a minimum. The emergency taxes were imposed by the Democrats. Some of them are now being abolished by the action of the Republican party.

Personal property tax is an unfair tax, the Minority Leader has said it is an unfair tax, although the Democratic Governor in 1936 insisted it was a fair tax. One of the Democratic leaders, the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, insisted it was a fair tax. I will assume that the minority have changed their mind, but the fact is, that it is not being re-enacted under this administration, even though the minority party made a gesture, and I say, only a gesture in 1941, because the revenues were not available for the purpose. The emergency allied taxes, known as the Bank and Trust shares and the Corporate Loan tax, are accordingly being eliminated, and the only levy remaining on these subjects, will be the normal rate of the tax. As to the Mercantile license tax, we all know it is an expensive levy to collect. The Republican platform of 1942, pledged assistance to small business. There are approximately 250,000 licensees paying various types of State mercantile license taxes. By abolishing this tax, it is obvious that it will be of assistance to small retailers, wholesalers, peddlers, and other small businesses. We will not repeat the folly of the Democrats in imposing new types of permits and other harrassing unnecessary regulations. Every effort will be made to assist and encourage business in Pennsylvania. This has been and will always be, the policy of the Republican party.

The Republican policy of aiding business and encouraging private enterprise is not new to the American way of life. When the Republican party came into power in 1939, business took on a new life, but it was not until the Legislative program was enacted in 1939 and became effective, that the unemployment trend shifted, payrolls shot upwards and the per capita income changed for the better. In the first year, the payrolls increased by 13.2 percent as against 12.9 percent for the rest of the country.

The per capita income increase $33 or .2 percent higher than the National increase. This was not a mere accident. There was no defense program to which this could be attributable. If private enterprise is encouraged, there will be more employment and less need for unemployment relief. The standard of living will rise and the worker be protected.

As indicated, the estimates at this time appear to be sound. The careless and partisan approach to the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth as exemplified by the minority, cannot be more fully set forth than the resolution introduced by the Minority Leader, requesting that the House pledge itself not to re-enact the emergency taxes. As it was pointed out above, the wild estimates of a surplus from $150,000,000 to $160,000,000 were unjustified, so we have another publicity stunt in the form of the resolution from the Minority Leader, not to re-enact the emergency taxes. If the estimates for the normal revenues are $209,000,000 and the appropriations required for the State functions, other than Public Assistance, will be $247,000,000, it is obvious that the normal revenues will not be adequate to take care of the State functions other than Public Assistance. What about Public Assistance It was estimated that somewhere in the neighborhood of $89,000,000 is required for this purpose. Is it the desire of the Minority Leader to create deficits to which they are accustomed? Does he desire to curtail the many important functions of the State government? Does he desire to stop Public Assistance? The Republican party will take it's chances on it's tax reduction program and continue it's progressive and liberal attitude towards the social services which it established in prior years. It established Mothers' Assistance in 1913; Unemployment relief in 1931; Old Age Assistance and Blind Pensions in 1933. It will continue this program and continue such taxes as it may be necessary, so as not to deny the assistance to those unfortunates residing in our midst. I know the Minority Leader will say that his resolution number 16 states $75,000,000 is needed for Public Assistance, yet he would eliminate all emergency taxes and leave only the normal taxes estimated to yield $209,000,000 to take care of $247,000,000 of normal functions and $90,000,000 for Public Assistance. This is the type of financing the minority party would have us adopt in Pennsylvania. Deficits, muddling, chaos, waste and extravagance, has been a part of their financial programs.

By careful planning and a sound approach to the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, it has been possible to bring the State finances into balance. In 1939, if the State had continued to expend money in accordance with the program of the Democratic party, $487,000,000 would have been required with a general fund revenue estimated at approximately $383,000,000. In other words, only $100,000,000 of additional taxation would have been required. In 1939 the expenditures of the State government were revised, certain functions were suspended and retrenchment instituted. Today we are able to adopt the tax reduction program. This cautious and sound policy will be continued and expenditures and appropriations will be made only when the revenues are in sight.

It is interesting to note that because of the soundness of the Republican policies, it was possible to appropriate $100,000,000 more than the Democrats would for our social, welfare, health and labor services in Pennsylvania. In the four calendar years from 1935 to 1938, there was expended from State funds for Public Assistance $327,000,000 as against $367,000,000 in the four calendar years of the prior Republican administration or $40,000,000 additional. The Welfare Department and Welfare subsidies will have expended approximately $25,000,000 more; Public Instruction and Education $30,000,000 more; Health $2,000,000 more; Labor $2,000,000 and Agriculture $1,000,000. In other words, about $100,000,000 more will have been provided for these essential social, health and welfare services under the Republicans for the past administration as against the four years under the Democratic party. This, I repeat, was made possible because of the efficient and honest management of the State affairs as introduced by the Republicans. I know my friends on the other side may argue that the defense and war programs have made it possible, but bear in mind, that a $71,000,000 deficit was paid off as well, and the increased revenues do not amount to the $100,000,000 additional for public services and the $71,000,000 in deficit which the Republican administration was able to provide for. The increased revenues of the past two bienniums may reach about $88,000,000.

Therefore, our state of Pennsylvania will go forward under the sound financial program of the Republican party and make it possible in this Commonwealth that business will be able to provide the jobs and give unto the people of Pennsylvania those jobs that will pay living wages to the thousands of Pennsylvanians.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made reference to certain estimates of both the minority and the majority parties in the last biennium, and I would ask the gentleman whether he has those figures available before him now.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindly repeat his question.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I said the gentleman in his remarks just made talked about the estimates made by the minority and majority parties in the 1941 session. My question is whether the gentleman has those figures before him now.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I have only the lump figures, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Of all taxes?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is right, under the budget that was presented by the majority floor leader at that time, which he stated would underestimate the revenues of the Commonwealth to the figure of $150,000,000.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to belabor this House with figures. I do not want to rehash the 1941 estimates and all the arguments in 1941, but I would suggest that any Member of the House, particularly on the other side, if he should like to have the figures, I would invite him to my lovely offices on this floor, and I will show him where Republican estimates were off in the actual receipts, and that Democratic estimates were closer to the fact. I might say in several instances we were both about right. And let me say in corporate net income we were away off; but the majority party was much further off.

We didn't come near the figure that the tax brought in, but they were away below us in their estimates. But let me say to the gentleman, the record will show, and the record is already made, that despite all this supposed reckless and wanton spending by the Earle Administration,—and don't forget, gentlemen, that you voted against the imposition of most of those emergency taxes, and by your protests we kept them low,—the gentleman will find, and anyone will find that the James administration collected more money in taxes in Pennsylvania in its administration than did the Earle administration, and that the James administration spent more money than the Earle administration.

Now, I'll tell you, if you don't remember, what I told you once before, about that elusive sixty million dollars that Arthur James talked about, that money in the bank that he was supposed to have had, I will tell you where it came from, it came from Uncle Sam.

In the Democratic administration when Governor Earle was in office, the Federal Government poured into the state some thirty odd million dollars to be used for relief of distress. In the James administratoin the Federal Government poured in for relief purposes some ninety million dollars. Figure the difference, which is sixty million dollars. Maybe that is where Arthur James got that not-proven-yet balance of sixty million dollars. I have not been able to nail it down yet, and I think it is hidden in this whole maze of figures, the under-estimated return figures for this biennium, and the hidden and low estimates for the next biennium.

I have got to take issue with one thing said. I thought one of the virtues of the Republican Party was absolute consistency. The Governor referred in his budget message to us, in the part that he said publicly,—not the part that he talked to the people of Pennsylvania over the radio, but the part that he put in the book that few people read,—he intimated it was about time the state government got rid of some of the functions and expenditures that have been accumulating in the last ten years for unnecessary bureaus, and money expended in functions that were foisted upon the public by pressure groups.

Well, let us talk about a couple of them. Unemployment Relief was within the ten years that the Governor complained about. Transportation of school children in consolidated districts is what the Governor was talking about, and many other social taxes; the taking over of the mental institutions, and so forth. That is what the Governor was talking about. He was telling his Members of this House and he was telling the Senate, "Get rid of these things that are breaking down the Commonwealth. Get rid of these social agencies that are costing us so much money." He now states, "we are the ones that should curtail the expenditures for social purposes; we are the ones that are spending all this extra money for all these social services."

You can't kid the public for very long; you can't keep it up. During the entire James administration we find the federal government pouring in many more millions and yet taxes coming in many more millions of dollars than they did before. You can't stand up there and say you denied people on relief more than twenty per cent below a third rate subsistence, and you cannot say that until only here recently you gave them a twenty or thirty or forty cent a week raise. Now, you are talking about social services, let us talk about service to the people of the Commonwealth, not just social service as an abstract term, let us talk about the money you give people, the amount you give to people that you say is for social service. Look at the facts. All the talking I will do tonight will not convince you. Just look at the record. I will go along with the great Democrat, Al Smith. Look at the record, and what the late Will Rogers always said, "All I know is what I read in the papers," and I trust it will be there time and again, will be there for the people to see. Maybe they will see their mistake back home. Don't brag about your social service when your Governor says "We ought to rid it out" and don't talk about it when you sat on your hands all the while Arthur James had control of the administration of the functions of social service. Admit if you get rid of the social service, you go back to the Hoover days, where we had to sell apples on the corner: "Leave everything alone, business will help us out, let us not care."

This idea of Arthur James waving a magic wand and business thriving and everything else, that's one for the books, too. Business didn't pick up immediately Arthur James made his inauguration speech out on the Capital steps. Business picked up when there came a sudden demand for the machinery of death; that is when business started picking up, and you can thank Adolph Hitler for that. Some day he will be called to account for that and we will all give him hallelujah for it. Don't let Arthur James kid you about it; he kidded you long enough, he kidded the public long enough.

Another thing, don't shed crocodile tears over the small business men of Pennsylvania. Don't hold up the hands of big business which is snuffing out little business, because a lot of these small business men pay four or five or ten or twenty dollars in mercantile tax a year in Pennsylvania; that isn't going to save little business in Pennsylvania What they need is an equitable tax program. Don't shed crocodile tears, don't cry over the little business man. Save your tears for your Victory garden; it will need it, but don't cry over little business. Little business will take care of itself; big business has to take care of itself. Don't nurse them along and let everyone else go hang. Think of that, Mr. Speaker, when you are thinking about relief to little business men.

On the statement that the Republican party is encouraging and has encouraged business, I didn't want to say that I thought the gentleman's statement sounded like a Department of Commerce blurb, but the Department of Commerce is more or less being let out of the picture. It is going to be shoved over to other departments. There is no need any more for Saturday Evening Post advertisements, no need for paying fat commissions for advertising, with the makeup sheets downstairs. Let us forget about this encouraging business. The best way to encourage business anywhere is to treat your little fellow right, make him happy, give him decent living conditions, let him have a decent wage, take off the yoke of any partisanship. Let us put it this way, relieve the little fellow who works in the shop of any fear of intimidation from big business. Give him his equal rights on the labor front, give him a chance to live right, and he will spend his money in Pennsylvania and help Pennsylvania's business. You can't get away from the facts, big business takes all the money. They have a weekly payroll and they go to the bank, they get everybody's money and they let it out in the payrolls; the little fellow gets it, and in three weeks time the little fellow spends all that money, and the next time the bank lets out a little bit less, because the big boy takes a little off the top. Just think of the little fellow and give him a chance to live. Big business takes care of itself admirably, but let us give the little fellow a break. He wants to be a free man, let him be a free man, but treat him the same as anybody else, when you are thinking of reducing taxes.

I just wanted to say one thing that I neglected to say before, and that is this, that with all your ripping and with all your zipping, with all your plotting and with all your planning to wreck the Democratic organization and to make a shambles of it, just remember one thing, you might break the Democratic organization, but you will never lick the people.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Republican floor leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh if House Bill 546, Printer's No. 380 does not contain the machinery to raise the money to pay school teachers of Pennsylvania their increase which we voted them some days ago?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Not specifically earmarked, Mr. Speaker, for that purpose. The tax that will be collected under this bill will go into the general fund, and of course, the increase to the teachers will have to be paid out of the general fund.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman if the majority party has any alternative bill or any alternative plan to raise the money for the teachers other than House Bill 546?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Not at this time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I desire further, Mr. Speaker, to ask the gentleman if this bill is defeated, will the Republicans offer another plan of providing the money?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot answer that question, Mr. Speaker. As I previously stated, there is no other bill that I know of to take care of that situation.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Further interrogating, Mr. Speaker, to know if it has not appeared in the public press that the money for the teachers is to come out of moneys provided by this bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe I have read that statement in the public press, Mr. Speaker. As I stated before, the money collected under this bill, if it becomes a law, is put into the general fund. It is not earmarked for any particular purpose.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Do I understand the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, to say now that there is no alternative method of raising this money?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe I stated, Mr. Speaker, before that there was none that I know of.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it was only a few days ago that every Member of this House present and voting, voted to grant an increase in salaries to the public school teachers of Pennsylvania. Now, to be consistent to avoid double crossing the sixty-three thousand public school teachers in Pennsylvania I am going to vote for this bill, and I think it should tonight, as House Bill 816 had a few days ago, have the unanimous support of this House.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I had not expected that the gentleman from Philadelphia would inject into this tax situation a matter personal to me, but let me say to the gentleman who made those remarks that this slimy performance of staging a filibuster at this, the most critical time in the history of the United States of America, leaves a stench in the nostrils of every service man and the parents of every service man and of every decent citizen in this Commonwealth.

The Democratic party tonight has stooped so low that it must reach up to touch bottom.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I feel there are a few words I should say on this legislation, due to the fact that I have just come back from a conference held in New York on Friday and Saturday of last week, at which we had at least three Republican Governors and one Democratic Governor on the post-war program.

I haven't taken this up with my party, due to the fact that it has only been a short while since I have been back, but I feel that the Members of this House should know that that conference to my knowledge was working in the interests of states' rights, and if I got rightly the actions of the conference, they were opposed to any tax reduction at this time for anyone. They felt that the post-war program which would come about after the war, that the state governments and the local governments would need all the money they possibly could get to have a successful post-war program.

In the state of Pennsylvania we are reducing some of these taxes; we are eliminating some of the taxes, which it has been stated here was for political purposes, and I think we all agree.

If the states' rights are going to stand, then I say to you the states must share the responsibility of taking care of their people on the post-war program, and I think that conference was right when it said this was not the time to reduce taxes, and we ought to save this money until after the war and use it for a post-war program.

I only say to you that in these taxes which are reduced to those who are best able to pay, gentlemen, that is not proof that the men who are fighting for states rights are willing to accept the responsibility and say to the corporations and the utilities of the state of Pennsylvania that we are willing to stand up and provide the revenue from those best able to pay in order to keep our states rights and take care of the people.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

(Following the reading of the bill by Mr. L. H. Wood).

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, it was my understanding that this bill was not agreed to and it was further my understanding that this bill was not read by the clerk, and it was further my understanding that the bill was not read at all and I ask Mr. Speaker, whether in your opinion this bill was read properly before this House.

The SPEAKER. The bill was read at length in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, are we seriously now considering this bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has nothing more to add to what he has already said to the gentleman from Allegheny than the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, offered voluntarily to read the bill at length and relieve the reading clerk. We are reading bills at length according to the provisions of the Constitution.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of information.

Mr. BROWN. Was the gentleman from Montgomery sworn in as a clerk of this House, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery was not sworn as a clerk of this House. The Chair announced that the gentleman from Montgomery volunteered to aid the reading clerk.

Mr. BROWN. Does the Speaker then rule, and I imagine his ruling is for the record, that a Member of this House, not sworn as an employe of this House, may assume the duties of an employe of this House, notwithstanding the fact that he is sworn in only as a Member of the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Allegheny that the rules of the House do not require a special reading clerk, and it has happened before that others have aided the clerk in reading. There is nothing in the rules that would prohibit any Member of this House from aiding the reading clerks.

Mr. BROWN. A further question, Mr. Speaker, why do we swear the employes for the performance of their duties, and why are we sworn for the performance of our duties?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that since there is no rule that requires a special person for reading the bills, that certainly a Member of this House would be qualified as a reading clerk.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I shall not ask for an appeal from the ruling of the Chair. I think, Mr. Speaker, and I am certain that you agree with me that we ought to hide our faces in shame here tonight.

Mr. Speaker, this is the last citadel of democratic government left in the world tonight, and we should, as a part of that government tonight, be hanging our faces in shame. We will soon celebrate the anniversary of Thomas Jefferson, and I understand that festivities in this House will take place on that occasion. If I am not mistaken it was Thomas Jefferson who said that the Constitution was made for the living and not for the dead. This will be a sad record for the living to review. and I regret that at this moment I am a Member of this House. The legislative branch of the government, particularly the House of Representatives was the original forum that ushered into our country a constitutional form of government. It has always been and is today that branch of the government closest to the people. It takes its name as the House of Representatives because of that fact, and if the people of Pennsylvania could see us tonight and could hear us tonight making a mockery of the democratic form of government that we swore by our uplifted hands to obey, uphold and defend, we would be weighed in the balance and be found wanting.

I don't know what can be done to bring back order, some semblance of decorum, some judgment, some decency in this House of Representatives, and I know in my feeble way I cannot do it. The only thing I can do to appeal to every Member here, Republican and Democrat alike as well as to the Speaker of this House, that if we cannot do things in an orderly, dignified way, let us be honest enough with ourselves and with our people—let us quit and go home.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks we have come to the point where possibly every Member of the House should be more serious. The Chair agrees implicitly with the gentleman from Allegheny, but with all the Chair's efforts to maintain order, order does not seem to have been maintained.

The Chair in good faith accepted the voluntary suggestion of the gentleman from Montgomery to read the bill. With that thought in mind he read the bill. We thought he had that in mind. The Chair does not know whether the gentleman read every word or not, any more than the gentleman from Allegheny does, but the Chair would admonish the Members of this House that after all the things that we do here this day will live for many, many years to come.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I join with the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Brown, in his feelings as to the conduct of the House this evening. I agreed with him when he made his earlier remarks. I hope that his objection to the reading by a Member of this House of a bill was not more seriously made nor more earnestly given than his previous objections, but in his remarks in which the Republican party joins, deploring as he does, the conduct which has been made necessary by the request from the other side without warning, and in order that the record may be kept straight, I request that the bill be read again, and by the Reading Clerk.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to add to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny that the one time I asked for the floor it was on a point of order concerning this very thing that the gentleman from Cambria has spoken about. I did not try to make a sham of this thing; I was serious. The only thing that the Members on this side of the House wanted was silence from the Members of the majority and that the Clerk read the bills louder and clearer. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, if you had given one of the Members the floor instead of knocking him down, you would not have had this spectacle that you had here tonight.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be read the second time by the Reading Clerk.

The bill was read a second time by the Clerk.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

We bow before Thee this morning, our Heavenly Father, with gratitude in our hearts that Thou hast given us a place in which to work, that Thou hast given us a knowledge of Thee and Thy will for us in this Thy kingdom.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

Mr. Deitrick asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CHAPMAN, who is attending to official Senate business.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. JONES read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 554, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two, five, seven, ten, eleven, twelve, seventeen, nineteen, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-six and thirty-one, and to repeal sections nine, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, twenty-four and thirty-six of the act approved the sixth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (Pamphlet Laws, eight hundred sixty-one) entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth; establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole'; conferring and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions, including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases; providing for the method of appointment of its members; regulating the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employes; dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole; fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employes thereof; making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors; providing penalties therefor; and for other cognate purposes, and making an appropriation," by reducing the membership of said board; further conferring, revising and defining its jurisdiction, duties, powers and functions; changing the appointment, removal and discharge of its officers, clerks and employes; decreasing the salaries of members of the board; and fixing the salaries of certain officers and employes, and creating an advisory committee.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. HOLLAND read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 555, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment of a Bureau of Health Clinics in the Department of Health, with a Director of Health Clinics in charge thereof, defining the powers and duties thereof, and providing for the establishment of local health clinics throughout the Commonwealth, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 112, on concurrence in House amendments entitled:

An Act providing for the retention on the several permanent personal registration lists of electors of the names of persons who are members of any branch of the armed forces of the United States or of any uniformed organization of women officially connected therewith providing for proof of such membership prescribing penalties for making false statements in connection therewith prohibiting cancellation of registration for failure to vote during this period and suspending inconsistent laws during the effective period of the act.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Will the gentleman from Delaware tell me the purpose in having Senate Bill No. 112 go over in order?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is going to insist on his silly notion of reading all bills at length, it will be necessary for us to pass over a lot of bills in order to get absolutely necessary legislation passed that must be passed to prevent a breakdown of government in the state.

If the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is willing to recede from his ridiculous position we can go ahead here and proceed with our business, but if the gentleman is going to insist that bills be read at length, we are going to run up a bill which the taxpayers will have to pay which might run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Therefore, Mr. President, the only thing we can do is to pick out the most important legislation here and have it read at length.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Will the gentleman from Delaware tell me if it is the intention of the Republican majority of this Senate that all Democratic sponsored bills go over in order?

Mr. HEYBURN. I could not hear the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Delaware tell me if it the intention of the Republican majority in this Senate to have all Democratic bills go over in order or be recommitted to committee.

Mr. HEYBURN. No, not necessarily, Mr. President, but there is some question about this bill. We fully expected, of course, to hold a Republican Caucus today on this matter. Down in Caucus yesterday, in discussing this request by Senator Barr that all bills be read at length, the members said all this talk of Senator Barr requesting that these bills be read at length was perfectly ridiculous, and naturally we thought he would not go through with it and so we fully expected to be able to caucus on this bill today at one o'clock, at our regular caucus. However, we have not yet had a chance to hold a caucus on this bill.

Mr. COX. Thank you.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I want to notify the Chair that I am going to insist that Article 3, Section 4 of the Constitution be carried out. I also want to remind the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, that I noticed that another bill was introduced in the House last night paying off an election debt of last year, exemption of the manufacturers' stock tax.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am very much surprised to hear the gentleman from Delaware speak about the cost of this session. I have listened in the years of depression to Republican orators talking about boondoggling on the W. P. A.; I have heard Republican orators speak about the extreme cost of those projects. Of course, we knew that they were attacking men placed on relief on W. P. A. by the false economy practiced by Republican Presidents in the years that went before but to have a Senator in this Senate speak about cost at this time—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there is no W. P. A. legislation now before the Senate. Might I suggest that the gentleman from Allegheny is speaking out of order.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I rise on a matter of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. There is a point of order before the Senate. Will the gentleman from Allegheny wait until the Chair has ruled.

Mr. HOLLAND. I will, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There is a request that Senate Bill No. 112 go over in order. The Chair is of the opinion that Senators should confine themselves to the matter before the Senate.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of personal privilege.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the Senator from Delaware just stated—

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, had the floor.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order. The gentleman from Allegheny has not stated his question of personal privilege. I want to hear his question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny has not stated anything yet. Therefore, the Chair suggests that the gentleman from Allegheny still has the floor.

Mr. HOLLAND. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, made a statement attacking me as a Democratic member of this Senate, when he spoke about costs of government in the carrying on of this session and I demand my rights to answer the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I did not hear the name of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, mentioned by the gentleman from Delaware, and under the rules no question of personal privilege has so far been stated by the gentleman from Allegheny and therefore I raise that point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair sustains the point of order raised by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF THE CHAIR

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

(The appeal, in writing, from decision of the Chair was as follows:)

Mr. President:

I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Elmer J. Holland
Joseph M. Barr
J. K. McQuiddy
John H. Dent

PERMISSION ASKED TO WITHDRAW APPEAL

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I submit to the gag and ask permission to withdraw my appeal.

OBJECTION TO WITHDRAWAL OF APPEAL

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I object to withdrawal of the appeal and I object to the statement that it is a gag. The only reason the point of order was raised was because it has been stated that the rules of the Senate must be enforced. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is asking that the exact letter of the Constitution be observed in reading bills at length. There certainly is no gag because under the proper order of business the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, can have all the time he wants to talk about W.P.A. or anything else he wants to talk about.

The PRESIDENT. Since this question involves the Chair, the Chair is going to retire from the Rostrum and ask the President Pro Tempore to take the Chair and pass upon the question raised by the Senator from Schuylkill as to whether the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, may withdraw his appeal.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Ealy) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair understands that the question before the Senate is whether the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, may withdraw his appeal from a decision by the Chair.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I therefore rise to a point of order on that question.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, according to the rules an appeal from a decision of the Chair must be in writing, and since there was no appeal in writing before the Senate at that time there is no appeal and there is no necessity for withdrawing it.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The attention of the Chair has been called to the fact that there is an appeal in writing.

However, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, has asked permission to withdraw his appeal and the Chair rules that he may do so.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Schuylkill will state his point of information.

Mr. WATKINS. May I inquire, Mr. President, as to who signed the appeal.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The appeal is signed by

Mr. COLEMAN. I submit, Mr. President, that there is nothing in order excepting the reading of bills on the Calendar. The gentleman has asked permission to withdraw the appeal and I do not think there is any point in reading the names of the gentlemen who signed the appeal.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, has asked permission to withdraw his appeal, which was also signed by Senator Barr, Senator McQuiddy and Senator Dent.

Do the other Senators who signed the appeal consent to the appeal being withdrawn?

APPEAL WITHDRAWN

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 309, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto a section

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be amended by adding thereto a section to read as follows

Section 21 In addition to the purposes stated in article nine section four of this Constitution the Commonwealth may be authorized by law to create debt and to issue bonds to the amount of fifty million dollars ($50,000,000) for the construction of public buildings highway drainage and sanitary systems anti-stream pollution and flood control projects for purposes of reforestation and for the rehabilitation and hospitalization of war veterans

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand that this bill is one of the bills which is intended to aid the war effort. This bill, plus the next bill on the Calendar, permits the creation of a public debt which will amount to $110,000,000. It seems to me that before we abrogate that provision of the Constitution, which was put in by the framers to limit debts to $1,000,000, we should give some consideration to the purposes of this amendment.

If, as I am informed, this is for the purpose of enabling us to aid in the war effort, in the usual procedure, we may not be able probably by the time this war will be over to begin to take advantage of this law because this will have to pass two sessions of the Legislature.

If it is a war measure, I think it is not going to help and for that reason I am going to vote against the bill.

I make this suggestion and call attention of the members of the Senate to the fact that this amendment deals with the construction of roads and that a much more available method can be found, which will be more effective and certainly will be timely. If you look at the budget message, you will find that at the end of this biennium, May 31, 1943, there will be in the highway fund a surplus of $30,000,000. Ordinarily the argument might be made that if you want to divert that fund, the people who put the money up would complain and the statement will be made that the money is in the highway fund for specific purposes. One of the purposes is highway road construction. One of the methods of providing against post war depression will be the contruction of highways.

Therefore, it seems to me that a better approach to a solution of this problem and in preparation for post war would be by this legislature appropriating that $30,000,000 to a committee or to a group to be organized for the purpose of post war planning, and that to my mind would be the way to handle the post war problem.

If this is not intended for post war planning, then I can not see the purpose of saddling the Commonwealth with a debt of $50,000,000, because road building can and should be done from road funds.

In the next two years, if the war keeps up, there will be little if any new road building and there will be few if any old roads maintained very well because there will be very little material available.

I therefore am voting against this bill because I believe that there is a much more practical way available to this Session of the Legislature to take care of post war planning.

Mr. EALY. These amendments, of course, will not limit the Legislature in determining how the money shall be spent if the voters approve the issuance of $50,000,000 of bonds. We earnestly hope that the war will be over before this money is available. The purpose is for post war rehabilitation.

The language in this bill was prepared by the Attorney General's Department and is intended to be inclusive of a number of projects, but just how the money will be spent will depend on the action of the Legislature, if the voters pass this amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. One of the reasons why I object to this bill as a post war planning proposition is because the act is restricted. It is not, as the gentleman from Somerset suggests, a matter which we can handle by legislation. It is a matter which is confined by the very terms of the act. Since this is a borrowing provision it must of necessity disclose the purpose for borrowing, and since it does disclose that, it of necessity confines the use of money; whatever this money is intended for in the minds of those who drew the resolution, it may be impossible to use it for that purpose because as I read the bill and as we have just heard it read and as I read it before, it indicates that the borrowing capacity is created for specific named purposes.

My suggestion is that instead of doing that, we appropriate the $30,000,000 which is available now and that we use it for road building and such other purposes as may be necessary to assist in correcting economic situations that may arise in the post-war period.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Senate Bills Nos. 309 and 310 are not one and the same thing, although they both allow the State to borrow money. Senate Bill No. 309 is a debt creating resolution; Senate Bill No. 310, to my mind, does a very excellent job for the Commonwealth.

If the Senators do not mind, in order to save time, I would like to just state that my logic on the matter is that Senate Bill No. 310 retires high interest bonds that are being amortized by rentals received from the State by the State Authority, and I agree, to my own satisfaction anyway, that is good business, but along the same lines, Mr. President, I can not agree that Senate Bill No. 309 is good sound business.

As I understand it, the purpose behind Senate Bill No. 309 is to allow for post-war planning. We are now in the midst of a Session of the Legislature where we are removing taxes that will approximate $50,000,000 from special interests in the State of Pennsylvania. It seems to me following the same lines of thought and following the same businesslike procedure, that it would be more proper that we do not at this time relieve the taxes but put the money aside by appropriation and give it to a post-war planning commission that is to be created and allow it to set that money up for specific post-war jobs.

Mr. President, I can not see the logic of taking taxes away when you admit that when the war is over you are going to need $50,000,000. If you do not admit that, then it is not necessary to have this bill, because if you will remember we financed a load of over $200,000,000 a year for relief purposes under the present Constitution, and we did it because we had the courage, the Democratic Party had the courage, to pass emergency taxes, and although it cost us the election in the State of Pennsylvania, it was still the proper thing to do for the good of the Commonwealth; so I say to you, as an individual, the proper thing to do is not to pass the manufacturer's capital stock exemption, not to pass the mercantile tax exemption, or to repeal the mercantile tax.

Mr. President, when the time comes, I will give you my own opinion of those bills, but at this present time I say to the members of the Senate that it is a most unbusinesslike way to do business, to state you are going to need $50,000,000 for post-war planning and at the same time relieve taxes in the sum of about $50,000,000. You already will have a surplus of $30,000,000 odd at the end of this biennium, and that gives us a total of about $80,000,000 that could be used for post-war planning.

I think the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, will bear me out that at an assembly that we just attended in New York City the whole keynote of that assembly was that this was the wrong time to reduce taxes. That logic is good, Mr. President, because all the taxes that we in the State relieve from our individuals and from our industries will be taken by the Federal Government; the most that they can possibly save would be nineteen cents out of the dollar because, assuming that they pay their taxes out of profits, then that particular amount becomes surplus profits and will be subjects to higher surtaxes.

So, Mr. President, we have here in this Senate the cry against the Federal Government injecting itself into the states, and by-passing, as it were, the State government, by spending Federal money to take care of State needs. The reason for that is because the State did not have the foresight to set up the necessary fund, the necessary moneys to take care of their own needs.

If we want to return to State identity, then I say to the members of this Senate that we must have the courage and the foresight to set up a sufficient fund so that when the war is over we will have the money to do the things that we are going to have to ask the Federal Government to do for us.

Recently we passed an act here in the Senate allowing local governments to accumulate funds for post-war work, and we say to the local governments it is proper for you to accumulate funds, because you are getting it off the backs of the individual home owners, the real estate payer pays all your local taxes. You sit here and you pass a tax bill enabling the local governments to create a fund for post-war purposes, getting the money from the local real estate payers, and then again you come right back and say, we do not have the courage to do the same thing with business and industry, we do not have the courage to allow taxes that are now placed upon industry and business and take that money as it comes into surplus, pass an appropriation bill, put it into the hands of the post-war planning commission; oh, no, we have not the courage to do that, but we are going to hand a sop to the people of Pennsylvania, and say if you want post-war development, if you want the State of Pennsylvania to take care of its own unemployment, take care of its own needs, pass this constitutional amendment. You do not have to do that. In the same sense of good judgment that you use in allowing local governments to maintain their tax rate upon real estate for post-war purposes, in the same sense of good judgment, do you not think it would be proper and just for us to say here and now, this is the time for all of us to build up a reserve, to build up a financial status, so that when the war is over we do not have to go crying to the Feederal Government to take care of our unemployment problem.

Now, gentlemen of the Senate, I know it will not make any votes, let us get that understood—and the men grinning over there do not bother me—I happen today to be in the minority, and you do not have to listen if you do not want to—but I do say to you, you can kid some of the people all of the time, you can kid all of the people some of the time, but you can not kid all of the people all of the time, and so, in saying that, I want to tell you —it may be too early, Mr. President, for some of them to have sense enough to listen, but it is not too early for me to defend the real estate owners back home who have to pay the very high rate on real estate taxes, because the Senate of Pennsylvania passes an enabling act for the local counties to maintain the present tax rate. That is what I am driving at. I am driving at the fact that you are the party of special interests. If you pass this resolution, you have not the courage to say you can pay the taxes during this inflationary period, and we are going to levy the same amount of taxes, and we are going to have business build up a reserve for post-war planning. We know very well that the real estate owners are going to continue to pay high taxes, not business, not the manufacturer, not mercantile establishments, just the real estate owner.

Go ahead and pass this bill, and I predict that the people will defeat it at the polls when it comes up.

Mr. EALY. I think no one in this Senate is more in favor of economy and sound government than I am. During the Earle administration, instead of proceeding according to constitutional limitations, a General State Authority was set up and $60,000,000 or $70,000,000 were spent in hurried construction of buildings. It was a sort of paradise for architects and contractors.

Perhaps, in a way, that was justified at the time on account of the conditions, but it would be much better for us to proceed always in a strictly constitutional manner in these matters, in order to prevent a recurrence of the thing which occurred, such as the General State Authority construction program, a program over which this Legislature did not have control, because a group of men went ahead and put up buildings and then the Legislature was asked to pay the bill.

The Federal debt at this time is upwards of two hundred billion dollars, I believe, and when this war is over it will probably reach three hundred billion dollars. We knew what Liberty Bonds fell to after the first World War, and it will require the soundest kind of financing after this World War in order to protect federal security.

This resolution is intended to produce a fund here in order that Pennsylvania may, if it wishes, take some of the load off the Federal Government. Pennsylvania's finances, I think, are regarded as quite sound, in the main, and it can afford a bond issue of this character, after the war, in order to take that load off the Federal Government, as it should be, and protect Federal finances.

This money will be spent under the control of the Legislature, not under a board set up such as the General State Authority. It is pretty inclusive. It is for the construction of public buildings, highways, drainage and sanitary systems, anti-pollution and flood control projects and for purposes of reforestration and for the rehabilitation and hospitalization of war veterans.

When this amendment is finally passed and approved by the voters, the Legislature may determine how the money is to be spent or they may determine it need not be spent at all.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EALY. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, inasmuch as we have been talking about both bills, and because I think there is a direct relation between them, I am going to direct my interrogation toward Senate Bill No. 310, the second of these bills.

Senator Ealy, is it the intent, is it your purpose in this bill and the series of bills following, to terminate the General State Authority.

Mr. EALY. The next bill, Senate Bill No. 310, proposes an amendment to the Constitution to provide $60,000,000 for the purpose of retiring General State Authority bonds if the Legislature at that time so determines. The people of the State, and particularly the legal profession, seem to me to have been disturbed by this method of financing. The $60,000,000 is not really a new debt upon the Commonwealth, because whatever you may call this authority debt, it is a debt which the people of the State of Pennsylvania will have to pay.

It would seem to me to be proper to pay that in a perfectly legal and constitutional form.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I appreciate the explanation of the gentleman from Somerset, but I wish he would be concise and tell me definitely if it is his thought in this matter to ultimately terminate the General State Authority?

Mr. EALY. That is the purpose as stated in the amendments in the bill.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Somerset tell me whether or not the bonds of the General State Authority at the present time pledge all the assets of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or whether they are restricted to the assets owned by the General State Authority?

Mr. EALY. I believe the bonds restrict the security to particular buildings which have been constructed by the General State Authority. However, all these bonds are held in the retirement systems of the State and the State would have to make good on the money to the retirement systems. If the Senator from Allegheny will notice in the budget, there is an item considerably over a million dollars more than in the last biennium, which is asked to make sound this retirement system.

Mr. COX. Will the gentleman from Somerset tell me if the bonds that are owned by the retirement system are callable bonds.

Mr. EALY. I believe they are not callable, but as they are held by the retirement systems of the State I think it can be worked out with those systems that they be surrendered.

One thing I am disturbed about, Mr. President, is the fact that this Legislature has surrendered a lot of its authority. I understand a bill has been introduced in the House that would, in a manner, cause the Legislature to abdicate. It seems to me that we must uphold the authority of this co-ordinate branch of the Legislature and that in this General State Authority Act we surrendered authority and power which we should not have done.

Mr. COX. Thank you.

Mr. President, the Senator from Somerset, Senator Ealy, has very clearly indicated that the intent of Senate Bill No. 310 is to definitely terminate the authority of the General State Authority. It is obvious, from the standpoint of the financial structure, that there is nothing to be gained by retiring the General State Authority bonds because of the fact that, as the gentleman from Somerset has stated, those bonds are held by other State institutions, the retirement fund?

First when I read the bill I thought it would be excellent financing. I presumed that the authority bonds would bear a higher rate of interest than bonds which pledge all the assets of the Commonwealth, but inasmuch as this is nothing more than a reshuffling of one set of bonds for another set of bonds, with the same ownership maintained, it is obvious that it means no saving of money to the Commonwealth.

I think the issue is clear cut. The thing we have to determine is this, and only this, do we believe in this General State Authority as to the future development of the State, and if we believe in the General State Authority, then it will of course be necessary to vote against Senate Bill No. 310. If we believe, however, that the General State Authority should be terminated, then the thing we must do, of course, is to vote for the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to say very frankly I disagree totally with the conservatism of the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy, but I respect his sincerity and I say that sincerely.

I think he has the feeling about this whole situation that we have committed ourselves to a dangerous precedent in allowing this so-called quasi-legislative organization to operate without control of the Legislature.

However, the difference of opinion arises from the fact that we take the view that these are abnormal times that we have been living in and will live in in the future, and while he is conservative and careful, he seems to me to be shortsighted in the procedure he is taking. It may be that in two or three years from now we may all agree that the General State Authority should not be used any further; on the other hand it may be that we shall all be very glad that there is a means by which we can do these things which we would like to do but which would require a constitutional amendment and therefore take so much time to do. An emergency situation might rise again such as we have had, and if we all shut our eyes to the fact that when this war is over there is going to be trouble, we are just living in dreamland; if we expect, instead of having unemployment, that we are going to have a rosy career ahead of us, we are shutting our eyes to precedence and experience.

If the gentleman from Somerset has any idea that we may need money in the future to do those things, why confine it by this constitutional amendment in this form? Take the two bills together and you accomplish the same purpose with less restriction and you would be using better judgment because with the constitutional provision in this bill that there shall be no debt in excess of $1,000,000, if you have two or three projects in mind and they will cost $110,000,000, why not just amend the constitutional provision and instead of the debt being limited to $1,000,000, why not limit it to $110,000,000?

In other words, why not increase the borrowing capacity? That to me is good sound financing. We do not need to exercise it, but it seems to me that we have found that we were restricted and limited and coerced into doing a great many things we would not have done if we had not had that limitation in the Constitution.

A million dollars, in 1874, looked like a great deal of money to the framers of the Constitution but today a million dollars is not even interest on some of the debt, and therefore I think the proper step would be, instead of adding two clauses to the Constitution, to make one amendment authorizing this Legislature to pass laws which will enable them to use the borrowing capacity, and in order to do that provide an amendment to the Constitution authorizing us to borrow a hundred million dollars.

Suppose next week the gentleman gets another idea that it would be wise to use certain additional moneys for certain additional purposes and we all agreed, then he would have to have another constitutional amendment, because he can only use this $100,000,000 for the purpose provided for in these two amendments. It takes four years to ge an amendment through.

The trouble that is creeping through here, as I see it, is his dislike for the General State Authority and so we find three bills on the Calendar, one which authorizes the borrowing of $50,000,000, another which authorizes the borrowing of $60,000,000 to pay off the bonds of the General State Authority, and a third authorizing the General State Authority to sell all of its property.

When we start to consider Senate Bill No. 310, I think we may be able to point out to you that that is another wrong method of attacking something which you do not like and which may be wrong and for the purpose of the argument we can admit maybe it was the wrong thing to do but the procedure to correct it is equally bad.

I suggest to the gentleman from Somerset that he can accomplish his purpose by merely increasing the constitutional limitation as to borrowing capacity and then this Legislature will have available to it $110,000,000. It may only use $30,000,000 of that amount for the purposes mentioned in the first bill, No. 309, before this Legislature will have available to it $110,000,000 it may only use $30,000,000 of it for the purposes mentioned in the first bill, No. 309; it might use only $40,000,000 for the purposes mentioned in the second bill.

Under those circumstances it would seem to me to be sound judgment to without limitations increase the borrowing capacity.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I do not like to indulge in prolonging the debate on this bill, but this seems to be an unusual day and there seems to be all the time there is. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, said these things—well, the Governor and I call them "stinkers"—arose in abnormal times, and I quite agree with him that the four years under Governor Earle were very abnormal times. During his administration there was set up, as you know, the Turnpike Commission and the State Authority, and their objectives may have been very, very fine, but like all New Deal operations they were like the Society of Jesus, that the end always justifies the means. The story as I recall it was, at the time Governor Earle went to the White House he explained to the President that he wanted to have this memorial highway, this super highway, this dream highway, in memory of his recent Secretary of Highways—who was the best man in his Cabinet, I believe—and the President reached out his hand for his checkbook and wrote a check for $20,000,000 and handed it over to his dear friend George. Of course that twenty million dollars I object to even now at this date.

Well, another one of those agencies is this General State Authority. I have had brokers come to my office and try to sell me bonds, but not having been born with Johnny Dent, only yesterday, I never bought those bonds although it was rather misrepresented that they were State bonds—they are not, of course, State bonds.

I am now coming to the really interesting part of my remarks. This General State Authority set-up is what is known as a vicious circle, because the excuse, the only excuse for the erection of these grandiose buildings and one reason why I dislike the Auditor General is that he sits in such a grandiose building; that building is not even paid for and the excuse for that building was that they were having to pay rentals for various office buildings in Harrisburg and now the building is not only not paid for but we are paying rental for this Finance Building.

This whole undertaking is headed for the rocks and having been more or less foisted upon the Teachers' Retirement Fund, these bonds—they could not sell them to the public, the General State Authority and the Teachers' Fund required a four per cent income—and of course the whole thing will be dumped into the lap of the Commonwealth, which shows perhaps that if you do a good thing in the wrong way you come to grief. Thank you for having paid strict attention to what I have said.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry that I can not follow the speeches as lucidly as some of the other members of the Senate, because I want to say to you very frankly I am not accustomed to discussing $50,000,000 at seven-thirty in the morning, but speaking of Senate Bill No. 309, I would like to suggest, first, Mr. President, that this, of course, as was suggested by the gentleman from Philadelphia, is an amendment to the Constitution, and it is my fervent hope that when this war is over and about three hundred thousand Pennsylvania boys come back from the various fronts, they will throw us all out of office and throw the Constitution out with us, and rewrite a new one, because it is obvious from the remarks we have heard here for the past five weeks that there are a lot of things that are in the Constitution that we do not like and a lot of things that are in the Constitution that we do like. Reading bills at length would be one of the things I hope they take care of, Pal Joey.

May I say further, Mr. President, I intend to vote for Senate Bill No. 309, simply because it will give the people in the Forty-fourth Senatorial district a chance to rear back and vote "no" on a constitutional amendment, which they always do with vim and vigor.

I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia that those of us who have the turnpike—are very happy that it is there. We think it is a step in the right direction, but perhaps it is the wrong theory of philosophy of national wealth or governmental wealth, and the wealth of the nation and the wealth of Pennsylvania can be administered just as badly, but I think it is much better in the schools, the hospitals, public buildings and the turnpike which have been created by the General State Authority, than to have all the bullion, the gold and the silver stored in vaults somewhere in Pennsylvania.

I hope—and this is in honest disagreement with the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy—I hope we either circumvent this Constitution by writing a new one, or that we close our eyes and continue the State Authority if it is going to mean we can still have all these betterments in Pennsylvania.

The turnpike does not go to Philadelphia, as we are all aware, and perhaps that is one of the things that is wrong with the turnpike. It is something that western Pennsylvania got that Philadelphia did not get.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 310, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto a section

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended by adding thereto a section to read as follows

Section 20 In addition to the purposes stated in article nine section four of this Constitution the Commonwealth may be authorized by law to create debt and to issue bonds to the amount of sixty million dollars ($60,000,000) for the purchase and retirement of bonds issued under the authority of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred fifty-two) cited and known as The General State Authority Act and its amendments

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EALY. I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman state whether it is not true that the effect of this amendment would be for the State to pay a private debt?

Mr. EALY. It is allegedly a debt owed by the General State Authority. However, it is recognized by everyone that it is a debt of the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Will the gentleman from Somerset state whether it is not true that the act authorizing the issuance of these bonds specifically provides that the credit of the Commonwealth should not be pledged and that the Commonwealth should not be responsible for the bonds.

Mr. EALY. I believe that the act says that the Commonwealth, as an entity, would not be responsible for the payment of the bonds. However, the debt is a debt of the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SHAPIRO. If the debt is a debt of the people of the Commonwealth, will not the gentleman admit that it does not require a constitutional amendment? There is no prohibition against paying a debt of the people of the Commonwealth by the Commonwealth using "people" in the same sense that the gentleman from Somerset uses it.

Mr. EALY. There is a distinction, technically, between the people as a body, and the Commonwealth as an entity.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think I have touched upon a subject which discloses very clearly that there are some people who consider the people entirely different from the government, but for once I have gotten a conservative to admit that the government is the people.

Mr. EALY. I have always said that the people should recognize they are a part of the government, but that is one of the peculiarities about this General State Authority, in that it drew a distinction between the people and the government.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I suggest that either this is a debt of the Commonwealth or it is not a debt of the Commonwealth. If it is not a debt of the Commonwealth, then the Commonwealth should not pay this debt. It is true that a great deal of the retirement funds are invested in these bonds, but it is also true there are some other moneys invested in these bonds, and the effect of the assumption by the Commonwealth of this debt will be first to pay a debt not of the Commonwealth but of a strictly private person because, as the gentleman from Somerset pointed out, the Legislature has no control; the Legislature delegated power to a number of individuals who have constructed buildings, made leases and contracts with various departments of the government. When you pay off this debt, the State Authority remains with the property, the leases still exist, the obligation of the Commonwealth to pay rentals on those leases still exists.

This is another method of trying to get rid of what some people think is a bad thing, because it was created in a bad way, in a similarly bad way.

This constitutional amendment again is restricted. This constitutional amendment means that the State Authority would be eliminated. Again I say that it is a mistake at this time, much as you may dislike the State Authority, to begin the destruction of something, the use of which you may need, unless you do as good business would indicate you should do, namely, increase your borrowing capacity. Then you will not need a State Authority, then you can construct these projects, then you can create construction programs, you can do anything that you might want to do. You can do it by legislation and do it by legislative enactment and control it, but to say that we want to get rid of one bad thing and create another bad thing, or even worse to create a substitute for a bad thing in such a way as to enable you to meet the same situation that is undoubtedly bound to recur, seems to me to be shortsightedness.

I am going to vote against this bill, first because I do not believe in destroying the State Authority, and secondly, because in its destruction there has been no sensible business method suggested to meet the same situation that will undoubtedly arise when this war is over.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if it is in order, I simply want to make a remark about the bill that has just been passed. Although the hour is late, does some one object?

It might be interesting, I think, to most people, even Mr. Walker, to know in the Garrett fortune estate in Philadelphia, which has been in litigation for many years, that over twenty million dollars is being used to purchase war bonds. Now, when that money is escheated to the State, it certainly belongs to the Commonwealth, but the Commonwealth never up to date has bought any war bonds.

Therefore, I raise this interesting question, how can the Commonwealth take this money and buy war bonds, when it has never done so before, and it throws a little light on this difference between the people and the Commonwealth, it seems to me, and even though the hour is late, it is very interesting.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 314, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand one hundred twenty-six of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by changing the provisions for supervisors of special education in counties employing fewer than five hundred and fifty teachers

Section 1 Section one thousand one hundred twenty-six of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as last amended by the act approved July first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2592) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1126 Every county superintendent having more than one hundred and fifty (150) and not more than five hundred and fifty (550) teachers under his supervision shall have one assistant county superintendent Every county superintendent having more than five hundred and fifty (550) but not more than one thousand and and fifty (1050) teachers under his supervision shall have two assistant county superintendents Every county superintendent having more than one thousand and fifty (1050) teachers under his supervision shall have one additional assistant county superintendent for each additional five hundred teachers or fraction thereof but no county superintendent shall have more than five assistants In addition to the assistant county superintendents herein provided for in each county in which there are 550 or more teachers under the supervision of the county superintendent there shall be appointed at least one supervisor of special education and in each county in which they are [less] fewer than 550 teachers under the supervision of the county superintendent there shall be appointed a [joint] part-time supervisor of special education who shall serve jointly in two or more counties except in the case of a county which employs fewer than 550 teachers and is not adjacent to any other county employing fewer than 550 teachers in which case a full-time or a part-time supervisor of special education shall be appointed In no instance shall such supervisor of special education serve in more than three counties The State Council of Education shall have power and it shall be their duty to determine the counties which shall be served jointly by a joint supervisor of special education The time of the joint supervisor of special education shall be apportioned among the several counties on the basis of the number of teachers under the supervision of the county superintendent in each county

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I intend to vote for this bill, as I am satisfied that the gentleman from McKean County knows the specific needs of his county.

Yesterday I introduced a bill in which I made an attempt to set up a competent legislative investigation of the whole problem of public school education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. My experience has proven to me that there must come a day when we have a complete integration of our public school system. I believe that every member of the Senate will agree with me that although the times change rapidly and quickly, the needs of our public institutions can not keep apace. After this war is over, we face something that today we can not even predict. We do know this, that in the post-war world education is going to play a tremendous part in what happens.

Today on the Calendar is a bill introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, in which he would create an aeronautical school in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I believe every member of the Senate is in accord with the thing that Senator Holland is trying to do. In that bill, however, Senator Holland suggests that we take one of our normal schools that we may get an aeronautical school in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The State normal schools of Pennsylvania have been one of the finest of all our State institutions. From those institutions in the past, before our colleges and State universities were properly equipped to train tecahers, came the finest teachers the Commonwealth has ever had. I did not go to a normal school, but I did supervise teachers at one time, and I can say in all honesty that I was always glad when my school board employed a teacher who was a graduate of a normal school.

It is true, perhaps, that they were not as well versed in philosophy, psychology or sociology, but they did know how to teach. I have heard the opinion expressed on this floor that we should get rid of the entire normal school system. With that I can not agree.

I only point this fact out to indicate that we are constantly troubled in our sincerity to determine what to do with our public school system, we have had no investigation, we do not know what the right trend it, and certainly we can not determine what the future of our educational institutions should be. Unless we have facts, and a careful study, to give us those facts.

Today we are confronted with the problem of assistance to school teachers. We all recognize the inadequacy of the compensation that they receive, and I believe this emergency has brought to the attention of many members of the Senate the really great difference in salaries existing all over the Commonwealth. I believe that many members of the Senate for the first time realize the tremendous difference that exists in salaries of various classifications of schools. My own thought in the matter is that ultimately will come the day when the whole question of public school education will be centralized directly in the State Department of Education, a time when the individual school districts will be wiped out, a time when a teacher teaching in the most rural district of Pennsylvania will receive the same compensation for doing the same work that the teacher who teaches in Pittsburgh or Philadelphia would have.

Mr. President, the bill that I introduced is not my brain child. I believe that it originated last year—perhaps the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Homsher was the author, I am not certain. The bill passed the Senate, passed the House, was amended by the Senate, and then went to a conference committee. The conference committee could not agree and the whole idea died. I felt that it was a noble idea, and I certainly hope that regardless of what happens in this Legislature, that before we adjourn the Legislature will take cognizance of this tremendous problem of public school education and will set up a proper committee to investigate education, so that when the members of this Legislature come back in 1945, we will have the facts so that we can chart the course of public school education in Pennsylvania in the future.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from McKean will state his point of information.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not know, under the procedure under which we are operating whether or not I ought to move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading, or whether I should wait until the bill has been read in full. I am not in any way trying to interfere with the system under which we are operating and I want to comply with it, only it is kind of strange to me, that is all.

If I may now move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading, I will then offer an amendment, but if the present technical legislative system prohibits me from doing that, I will sit in my seat patiently and wait until the proper time arrives.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 344

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 344, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (c) of section three of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1168) entitled "An act to protect the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively creating the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board officers of the State government and courts providing for the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively declaring certain labor practices by employers to be unfair further providing that representatives of a majority of the employes be the exclusive representatives of all the employes authorizing the board to conduct hearings and elections and certify as to representatives of employes for purposes of collective bargaining empowering the board to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice and providing a procedure for such cases including the issuance of a complaint the conducting of a hearing and the making of an order empowering the board to petition a court of common pleas for the enforcement of its order and providing a procedure for such cases providing for the review of any order of the board by a court of common pleas on petition of any person aggrieved by such order and establishing a procedure for such cases providing for an appeal from the common pleas court to the Supreme Court providing the board with investigatory powers including the power to issue subpoenas and the compelling of obedience to them through application to the proper court providing for service of papers and process of the board prescribing certain penalties" including persons subject to the National Labor Relations Act in the definition of "employer"

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

The first and second sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON offered the following amendment.

Amend title, page 2, last line of title, by inserting at the end of said line, the following: and defining the term "labor organization".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment.

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 345, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1168), entitled "An act to protect the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively; creating the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board, officers of the State government, and courts; Providing for the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively; declaring certain labor practices by employers to be unfair; further providing that representatives of a majority of the employes be the exclusive representatives of all the employes; authorizing the board to conduct hearings and elections, and certify as to representatives of employes for purposes of collective bargaining; empowering the board to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice, and providing a procedure for such cases, including the issuance of a complaint, the conducting of a hearing, and the making of an order; empowering the board to petition a court of common pleas for the enforcement of its order, and providing a procedure for such cases; providing for the review of an order of the board by a court of common pleas on petition of any person aggrieved by such order, and establishing a procedure for such cases; providing for an appeal from the common pleas court to the Supreme Court; providing the board with investigatory powers, including the power to issue subpoenas and the compelling of obedience to them through application to the proper court; providing for service of papers and process of the board; prescribing certain penalties," further regulating the right to, and procedure on, appeals to court.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as I understand it, the amendment to this act is to Section (b) on page 4.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. It states: "any person aggrieved by a final order of the board granting or denying in whole or in part the relief sought or by an order certifying a collective bargaining agent of employes." Why is it necessary for a collective bargaining agency to be certified before it can obtain a review of an order of court? I would like to know why that is necessary.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. The only purpose of this bill, Mr. President, is to change from one section to another some provisions in there and to provide the method of appeal. There is not any attempt—if there is, I do not see it, Senator Dent—to in any way affect either the employer or employe unfavorably. The attempt is to define and outline the procedure on appeal—I may see it wrong, I appreciate that—but the attempt is to define the method of appeal so that there will not be a multitude of appeals that will swamp the work. Another thing is. as I see it, that an appeal from those orders shall not be a supersedeas. Now, that is all that I see in the bill. We passed this bill in the 1942 Session and the Governor vetoed it because it was not in the call for the Session. I do not see anything in this but a method to regulate the procedure, and I do not think it hurts anybody, as far as I can see it; it may, but I cannot see it. If there is any question about it, I will be glad to know it.

Mr. DENT. Thank you kindly, Mr. Wilson. I was in committee when this bill was brought up, and we discussed it and discussed it, and the only thing said was that it was an amendment to transfer a certain section of the act to another section. However, if you will look over the bill, this is a re-enactment of a bill that was passed in 1937 and amended in 1941. However, it does not not do anything in this particular bill. It does not do anything except insert in Section (b) the following lines: "by an order certifying a collective bargaining agent of employes."

I am just wondering whether or not this amendment will curtail the rights of a group because they must first be certified as a bargaining agency.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I am sure it does not do that. I may be mistaken, but as I look at it very carefully, I cannot believe it does that. I do not think that anything in here restricts appeals. I do think that it enlarges the scope, so that both the employer and labor get the benefit. It does not change this question of a supersedeas. The only thing that I see in it is that it changes—

Mr. DENT. Pardon me, but that is already in the act. We are not adding a new section, we are not doing anything about a supersedeas. There is not a word to that effect. The only thing that is done in this bill is to change line 26 and part of line 27, and I just cannot understand the necessity for so doing.

I am willing to agree that if it is a procedural amendment we are for it, but I still cannot understand why that particular clause must be inserted in this act. I am willing to go along on your proposition if it does that, but if it does not do that in this bill—

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. If it does not do what?

Mr. DENT. It does not do anything but add a line on lines 26 and 27.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. It changes the place where the amendment is.

Mr. DENT. I still do not understand what the gentleman from McKean is trying to do. I still do not understand what he is trying to change.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, first of all I think these bills we are acting on here are breaking rules which we tried to establish, that we ought to have all amendments to any particular act in one bill. Here you have Senate Bill No. 344, which amends one section of this act and then you have Senate Bill No. 345, which amends another section of the act. The Attorney General's Department has attempted throughout the last four or five sessions of the Legislature to have legislative amendments to a particular act all in one bill.

I should like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Thomas B. Wilson.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I have read this bill and tried to analyze it and I can not see that it adds anything to the bill at all but it does take something away from the bill. First of all it takes away from the court the right to grant a supersedeas if they think a supersedeas is necessary.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is right.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I should like to know the reason for that.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Well, Mr. President, the way the thing is now defined in the bill, they felt there did not need to be a supersedeas—there may be some question about that. It does provide the procedure so that it is outlined more clearly and then it does provide that those appeals shall not be a supersedeas.

Mr. SHAPIRO. The next question I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean is whether it is not so that under the present state of the law there is an appeal by anyone who is aggrieved by an order certifying a collective bargaining agent of employes.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is true.

Mr. SHAPIRO. If that is true, Mr. President, I cannot see the point of inserting Section (b), the amending provision, because it will only lead to confusion. Under the present law as it exists and under clause (d) of Section 7, there is the right to appeal, as I read it, from any certification. I cannot understand why there should be specifically picked out and granted by express words the right to appeal from any order certifying a collective bargaining agent of an employe.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. In answer to the Senator from Philadelphia, it is transferred from one section to the other.

Mr. SHAPIRO. A transfer of the words in Section 7, to the Judicial Review section?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is true.

Mr. SHAPIRO. To Section 9. I understand that, but I still do not see what you have accomplished in doing that; you may not accomplish anything by it. That is what I am asking the gentleman from McKean or somebody to tell me, what was the purpose of inserting this amendment, so that I might be able to understand it by reading the bill. The present law is that anyone may take an appeal from any order entered upon valid testimony of the proceedings as set forth in the transcript of the board and that the appeal may be made a supersedeas as the court sees fit.

Now, Mr. President, this amendment does only one thing in my opinion that nobody has yet referred to, namely, prohibits an appeal from a temporary order.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I said that it was not now a supersedeas.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, if an appeal cannot be made from an order which is not final, it seems to me that you have hurt the proceedings rather than aided them. There are certain temporary orders which in their effect are final; they might just as well be. If an order to cease and desist is rendered by this board which is not final, or if an order certifying or denying somebody the right to be a collective bargaining agency is not final, by the time you get an appeal you might as well not take the appeal, and it seems to me you are hurting industry here without any real purpose.

I am in the midst of a case now representing an employer who, if he did not have the right to appeal in the situation which he is in might just as well not take an appeal. Mr. President, take the recent case of the Sun Oil Company and if the court did not have the right to issue a restraining order in that case, by the time the case was heard by the court the Sun Oil Company might just as well have bargained with these people who claimed to be and subsequently decided not to be the bargaining agency.

Mr. President, I think this bill may do a great deal of damage. I suggest that this bill go over in order so that time may be taken to study its effect. I am afraid of the effect of this bill, both on employer and employe. At the moment I see an effect on the employer which should not be imposed on the employer in fairness under the act. The board you are dealing with is a body which has very strong powers and if you are not going to give us the right of appeal from a temporary order you may be affecting employers unfairly.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I want to answer the gentleman from Philadelphia by saying there is the right of an appeal in law, but an appeal from a temporary order is not a supersedeas.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is true and it is not a supersedeas in this case, but when you take out the provision that the court, if it sees fit, may grant a supersedeas, you have told the court that it has no right to enter a supersedeas in any case, and that is what I am objecting to.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. The only thing is that you may not take a supersedeas from a preliminary order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is correct.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. On anything excepting a final order, and that is the law of Pennsylvania on all other matters. There is no change made in the general law.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is quite true, Mr. President, but the statutes have granted certain rights of appeal from even preliminary orders where experience has taught us that a preliminary order in its effect may become final, even without a final decree, so that it has become necessary for this Legislature from time to time to pass laws giving the right to appeal from preliminary orders.

We have the right today to appeal from a preliminary injunction, which we did not have before, and we should have the right in this bill to appeal from a preliminary order, the effect of which may be just as final as if it were a final order. That is what you are taking away from the employer in this case and also from labor.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 345, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, has Senate Bill No. 345 been read for the third time? Have we gone through the agony of having heard it read?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Senate Bill No. 345 has been read three times and agreed to.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree that the bill go over?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. If the gentleman desires that this bill go over in order until tomorrow, I think we ought to have an understanding that tomorrow morning we will not have to go through that agony again of having it read at length.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Such an understanding is not necessary. Senate Bill No. 345 has now been read three times at length on three different days and an understanding such as the Senator from McKean suggests is not necessary. The record shows that the bill has been read three times, and the Chair has so stated.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I have never yet refused a request to have a bill to go over in order for a day and if Senator Shapiro makes such a request I will agree.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I do so request, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree that Senate Bill No. 345 go over in order?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 348, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 361, entitled:

An Act regulating commercial strip mining; imposing requirements to engage therein, including the planting or sowing of certain lands; giving powers and duties to the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters, including issuing permits; providing for appeals to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County; and prescribing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 361, on final passage go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, here is a bill that should be referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining. I am perfectly satisfied that it shall go over in order today, but it does seem to me that the sponsors of this bill should at least have the courtesy of sending this bill, which has come out of the Committee of Forest, Water, Game and Fish, and which pertains particularly to mining, that it should be sent to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

However, that is up to them. I am not going to move that that be done, but I do feel that this bill just going over in order is hardly enough. These matters can be discussed at each of the caucuses to be held by the different parties.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is this bill now on final passage?

The PRESIDENT. It is, having been read at length for the third time.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 361, now on final passage, go over in order, if there is no objection.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection?

Mr. WATKINS. I have no objection, Mr. President.

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 397, entitled:

SENATE BILL No. 422 PLACED ON POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 422, Printer's No. 149, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the sixteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred seven (P. L. 92), entitled as amended "An act defining the duty of coroners, where death is sudden or violent, or is of a suspicious nature and character, and of police, and health authorities, in this Commonwealth, in reference to the disposition of bodies of persons whose cause of death may be the subject of inquiry by the coroner, but where it appears the cause of death is not surrounded by suspicious circumstances," by providing that investigations of deaths caused by accidents shall be made by the coroner of the county in which the accident causing death occurred

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am about to make a request of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, but first, for a moment, I would like to explain my reasons. Inasmuch as the provision in the Constitution requiring bills to be read at length is obsolete and the reason for it was that in the old days bills were not printed—I have just talked with a member of the Delaware State Senate and he tells me that down there they read bills in full when they are not printed, because they still do not print some bills in the State of Delaware.

Therefore, Mr. President, the thing only has the effect of a filibuster and I therefore suggest to and request of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, that he allow us to return to symbolic reading of bills.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, desire to answer the request.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, several years ago the Democratic Party tried to call a constitutional convention and the Republican Party opposed it. I too think the Constitution of the State is rather obsolete, but as long as we have that Constitution in effect I am going to have to ask the Republicans to keep it as our Constitution and act under the provisions of that Constitution.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 425, on third reading, entitled:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, for the information of the Senate and the gentleman from Delaware, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection The Chair hears none. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware a short time ago stated that the constiutional provision requiring the reading of bills at length was obsolete because at the time the framers of the Constitution put in that section all bills were not printed.

I should like to read for the information of the Senate Section 2 of Article 3 of the Constitution, dealing with the reading of bills. After providing for the reading of bills at length, Section 2 provides: "No bill shall be considered, unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the members." Therefore the framers of the Constitution then knew and expected that all bills would be printed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am glad the Senator from Philadelphia raised that question, and I wish to take a moment to say that what he did not think about is this, that they printed one copy, which was filed in a place convenient to the members of the Senate. Bills were not printed in quantity for the use of the Senators and all the citizens of the Commonwealth. As I say, they were printed in one copy, which was kept at a convenient place for the use of the individual Senators.

For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I would like just to read what Noah Webster says about filibusters, which is: "The action of a member of a legislature or a deliberative body, who, in opposition to the proposed action of the majority, obstructs or prevents action by the extreme use of dilatory tactics, such as speaking merely to consume time." Mr. President, this is nothing more or less than a filibuster, concocted and devised to prevent the legislative body of this Commonwealth from doing its necessary duties in these very strenuous war times. I think it is an outrage.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think that that message of Noah Webster should be read to the Minority Leader of Congress, Mr. Martin, who threatens a filibuster, unless certain legislation is passed, against an adjournment. I also think that ought to have been read to the Congressmen in Washington, most of whom were Republicans, who objected to the passage of a law which would show we were really fighting for democracy, when they were attempting to do something in the south which should have been done long ago. Those gentlemen conducted a filibuster that was a disgrace to the public.

This is a protest, and if it has to be done by a filibuster that is one thing, but it is a protest by the minority against the behavior of a majority who have continually disregarded the rights that we here represent.

Mr. HEYBURN. I know I am out of order, Mr. President, but if the Senate will permit me one minute I would like to make a short reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Has the Senate any objection? The Chair hears none. Permission is granted.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, of course, has not clearly and truthfully stated the situation in Washington, but even if he did that would be no excuse for us to do a wrong thing. Two wrongs never made a right—that is a fundamental truth that all mothers taught their children—and the Senator from Philadelphia very well knows that if the Congress did something wrong there is no reason in the world why we should.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 445, on third reading, entitled:

An Act giving the consent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the acquisition by the United States of America of a tract of land in the City and County of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, known as the Philadelphia Armor Plate Plant, and ceding jurisdiction to the United States.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, since this bill has been read at length three times and we will not be subjected to that again, and since there are provisions with which I am not quite familiar, I would like to have an opportunity to study the bill, and accordingly ask that it go over in order.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman from Lackawanna a question for my information.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COLEMAN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in the anthracite region there are a great many miners who have been certified, who are leaving the mines in order to go into munitions factories and obtain higher wages. As a matter of information I am merely asking the Senator from Lackawanna, since there is a dearth of workers to get out coal if he knows how long it takes for a man who has never been a miner to get a certificate in order to work in the mines. I am merely asking for information, how long does it take to get a certificate?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I am not familiar exactly with the law with respect to the issuance of certificates, but my understanding is that an applicant must have some years of practical experience in practical mining, he then takes an examination and if he passes favorably he is granted a certificate.

Mr. WOODWARD. How long does it take?

Mr. COLEMAN. My impression is that it takes something like ten years. I am not exactly sure.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I think the procedure is that the local mine examining committee, which is appointed by the Court of Common Pleas in the various counties, examines miners who have had from five to ten years experience in practical mining and gives them oral examinations before a certificate is recommended to the Department of Mines and then a certificate is granted by the Secretary of Mines to the foreman.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 472, on final passage go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 474, entitled:

An Act providing that the proceeds of the sale of real estate owned by the Commonwealth together with the rentals derived therefrom shall be repaid to and credited to the proper special fund from which the funds to purchase said real estate were taken

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The proceeds of the sale of any real estate owned by the Commonwealth when sold by any department board or commission thereof with the specific authority of the General Assembly as provided by existing law together with any rentals derived therefrom while the same shall have been owned by the Commonwealth shall be paid into the General Fund of the State Treasury unless said real estate shall have been purchased with funds paid either wholly or mainly out of special funds in which event said proceeds of sale or rentals shall be paid to and credited to the proper special fund

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it seems to me that this bill puts the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into the real estate business. It looks like all the property taken in connection with bridge construction and other construction for public purposes may now be leased or rented by the various departments which, as I say, places the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the real estate business.

I shall vote "no" on this bill.

COMMITTEE BE APPOINTED TO ESCORT THE GOVERNOR AND GUESTS TO THE HALL OF THE HOUSE

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 13, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee of three on the part of the Senate be appointed to act with a similar committee on the part of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee), to escort His Excellency, the Governor, and distinguished guests to the Hall of the House to address the Members of the General Assembly in Joint Session, on Wednesday April 14, 1943, at 12 o'clock noon, in commemoration of the birth of Thomas Jefferson.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR—JEFFERSON BICENTENNIAL DAY

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate a proclamation by His Excellency, the Governor of the

IN THE NAME AND BY AUTHORITY OF THE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Governor's Office

Harrisburg

PROCLAMATION

JEFFERSON BICENTENNIAL DAY

Two hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson, one of the American Immortals, was born at Shadwell, in the Crown Colony of Virginia. Two centuries have passed but his name endures as one of the great liberals of modern times. Across the years of war, peace progress and national development he stands as one of the familiar and significant figures in the deliberations that shaped the framwork of our government and laid the foundations of our free Republic. The Declaration of Independence, drawn by his hand, is his living memorial and his everlasting monument.

He had supreme and unshaken faith in the common sense and honesty of the people. He believed, as all Americans believe, that majorities should rule by right and reason, and not by armed force. Not one of the statesmen and leaders of the American Revolution left a deeper imprint upon the Nation. The verdict of History has given him a secure place among the great dead of America.

It is fitting that the bicentennial of the birth of this patriot and statesman, lawmaker, philosopher, mathematician and economist be appropriately observed. To that end the Congress of the United States established the Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission. To that end the General Assembly created a similar commission for Pennsylvania, and by the Concurrent Resolution adopted April 7, 1943, has requested the issuance of a Proclamation commemorating the 200th Anniversary of the birth of the great American who devoted his life to freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of religion and freedom of government.

Now, Therefore, I Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, April 13, 1943 as JEFFERSON BICENTENNIAL DAY, and ask all citizens to observe that Anniversary by reading that immortal document, the Declaration of Independence, and by appropriate exercises.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Harrisburg, this twelfth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

EDWARD MARTIN.

By the Governor

C. M. MORRISON
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 3:00 o'clock p. m.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elasped the Senate will be in order.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE the Chair announces as the members of said Committee the Senator from Clearfield, Mr. Letzler, the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Thomas, and the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, as the members of this Senate know, I have been deeply concerned with the question of the Parole Board for the last three years. On the basis of my experience in this Senate I have come to the conclusion that one of our difficulties is the fact that we wait until the bill is on the second reading Calendar before we attempt to do anything about it.

Yesterday a bill was introduced in the Senate of Pennsylvania which would have the effect of amending the Parole Board Act. There are certain patent defects in this bill and there are certain amendments which I feel will make the Parole Board better.

The defects, however, are so great that if this bill should pass in the form in which it has been introduced in the Senate, it would destroy the whole idea of the proper granting of paroles in Pennsylvania and parole supervision of persons released from our penal institutions.

The first provision of this bill provides for a decrease in the number of members of the Parole Board and a decrease in the compensation paid to them. I have no objection to that amendment and I am perfectly willing to bow to the opinion of the sponsor of the bill in this regard.

As far as the present board is concerned I have no interest in the personnel. All I am concerned in is that if this amendment is made and there are new appointments made, the Governor shall appoint people who are sincerely interested in the problem and will adequately administer it.

This bill takes a great part of the jurisdiction of the Parole Board away from it, in that it amends the act to provide that the Parole Board will have jurisdiction over all those persons released on parole whose maximum sentence is three years or greater. This would indicate to me that the persons responsible for the preparation of this bill are not familiar with statistics relative to the number of persons in the group between a maximum of two years and a maximum of three years. It could have no effect on decreasing costs of administration of parole, but would in principle undermine and weaken the proper functioning of parole.

Probably the most vital defect in the bill is the fact that it completely [illegible] out appointment of supervisors of parole by civil service and their protection under civil service. Persons who are acquainted with the administration of parole in Pennsylvania under the act of 1929, when it was administered by the Department of Justice, known that the whole gesture was futile and ineffective. I have talked with many of the men who worked under the Department of Justice. The first board to function in Allegheny consisted of men who were trained at the University of Pittsburgh and practically in the Western Penitentiary and I will say there will never be any department under any Parole Board that will have a finer staff of employes, but I regret to say that when the Democratic Administration came into being, these people, being political appointees, were removed and then when the Republicans came back in power they again removed the Democrats.

The supervision of parole is a matter that takes long and intelligent training. You do not have to be a college man to be a supervisor of parole—you can have a good practical understanding of human nature and the psychology of people and be a good parole officer—but certainly you have to have training of some kind or from some place in order to be a proper supervisor of parole and if we are going to make the appointees of this department political footballs in the future, I know you can appreciate how ineffective this grand idea which we adopted in 1941 is going to be.

This bill also provides that for a short period after the minimum term of any person incarcerated has passed and the parole Board had not taken definite action to release him, there can be an appeal to the Board of Pardons. I personally can not understand this provision, which would seem to indicate to me a complete lack of knowledge, on the part of the persons who wrote that into the bill, of the whole philosophy back of the idea of having minimum and maximum sentences. Whether you realize it or not, the maximum sentence is the sentence of the person sentenced to the institution and we give a minimum sentence because we feel if a man has been properly rehabilitated during his term of incarceration, we may be able to return him to society where he can take his proper place, and to dogmatically say because a man has served his minimum sentence he should be eligible for a parole seems to me to be a misunderstanding of everything pertaining to our method of sentencing.

And then too, in another section of this bill we have removed jurisdiction over parolees from our junior institutions of White Hill and Huntingdon. My investigation has disclosed to me that there has been no proper parole supervision of persons removed from these institutions in the past, and under the terms of the bill there is no provision made for proper supervision in the future, and again, unless you have other plans for supervision through parole, I can not understand why you would remove these parolees from the operation of this act.

These are only brief statements on this matter, and I hope that you will consider them in the Committee of Judiciary General, Senator Walker, when you have a meeting of that committee to consider this bill, and I hope that you will invite to that committee meeting any members of the Senate who are interested in this bill but who are not members of that committee.

I am very hopeful that perhaps in that committee we could sit down and discuss the matter on the basic of cold facts and intelligence, and perhaps be able to change some of the iniquitous sections of this bill so that when it comes out we will have something that we are proud of.

I have indicated that there are certain sections of the bill which I like. I think that the section giving additional authority to the Parole Board on flat sentences is a good thing and unquestionably is to correct an omission in the old bill.

I think the section which provides or seems to take Senatorial cognizance of the fact that the present Parole Board has not sufficiently used the data and the information which the judges and persons having supervision of reformatories have available is also a good section.

MEMORIALIZING THOMAS JEFFERSON

The PRESIDENT. Today marks the two hundredth anniversary of one of our country's distinguished leaders. Thomas Jefferson.

As you all know, he was a champion of individual liberty and one of the most important drafters of the Declaration of Independence and of our form of government, which has enabled us within the short period of one hundred and fifty years to become the greatest nation in the world.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, who desires to say a few words in commemoration of this great event.

Mr. DENT. Today, after the passage of 200 years—years that add a Holiness to the name of this great American, I wish to take a little of the time of this Senate to add a few observations to the many volumes of the written and spoken words concerning his life, his work, his ideals and beliefs. I speak, of course, of Thomas Jefferson, the man who wrote the words that set for all time the keynote of the Commonwealth of man. For when he changed the words Life, Liberty and Property; to Life Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness, he was breaking with an age old tradition, a tradition that had made the common man a slave to property since the beginning of time.

Of course, after so many years we try to remember only the oustanding achievements of his career. Every man, woman and child in America knows Thomas Jefferson for his great part in the drama enacted in and around the year of 1776, the Declaration of Independence, the Revolutionary War, the framing and adoption of our Constitution, the fight for the Bill of Rights and his life long battle to keep human rights above property rights.

Thomas Jefferson was the first man in all the world's history to acknowledge in writing, followed by deeds, the proposition that men are not only created equal, but that all men are equal. What makes this fact even more important is that his entire background was one that would have dictated a course in life directly contrary to the life he lived. Born and reared in the then traditional Early American land-holding aristocracy, he set aside the natural inclinations one would expect him to follow and gave every ounce of the thought of his fertile brain to the uplift and betterment of the common man.

In no page of history can there be found a career to parallel the life of Thomas Jefferson, he gave so much to so many, and yet, gentlemen of the Senate, in reading the life of Jefferson a person finds that it would be difficult to find any man in all American History who fathered and sponsored more radical and unsound theories. However, I personally believe that radical thoughts of men are the beginning of all reform and the spawning grounds from which all freedoms for the individuals spring.

If one were to take some of the letters written by Jefferson to his close associates and take his radical suggestions and put them into book form, that book would immediately be condemned by Martin Dies as a subversive and Anti-American document. As an example, let us recall what he said in part about debt in Government. He claimed that no generation had the right to contract a debt beyond that generation's life expectancy. He starts out with the assertion that it is a self-evident proposition that the earth belongs to the living, that the dead have neither power nor rights over it and that if a debt survives a generation which contracts it, then the heirs to the earth receive a burden imposed by and for the dead.

Again, at the time of Shay's rebellion, he said, "If the happiness of the mass of people can be secured at the expense of a little tempest now and then, or even of a little blood, it would be a precious purchase. A little rebellion now and then is a good thing, it is a medicine necessary for the sound health of government." Can you imagine the consternation of his colleagues when he ended by saying "God forbid we should be twenty years without such a rebellion—what signify a few lives lost in a century or two, the tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with a blood of patriots and tyrants, it is its natural manure."

One could go on for hours, but enough to show that along with being a genius, Thomas Jefferson was still a man subject to the ordinary mistakes and impulses that guide the least of us.

It is said by some historians that his unsound schemes on finances were caused by his dislike and distrust of Alexander Hamilton, yet it is strange when one considers the bitterness between these two men to note that without Hamilton's influence, Thomas Jefferson might never have been President of these United States. Sometimes one wonders whether Hamilton liked Jefferson less or hated Aaron Burr more in making the decision that made Thomas Jefferson the third President of this Nation.

While speaking of the election of 1800, let us recall that as a result of the popular vote Thomas Jefferson was elected President. A group of Federalist friends of Hamilton determined to set aside the will of the people and Hamilton went to see Jefferson with the proposal that his, Hamilton's friends would be kept in their respective jobs if he would support and throw the election to Jefferson. This was the only time in Jefferson's life that he was willing to endanger the very existence of this new Union and actually sanctioned the civil war rather than make a deal that would make him President by compromise. It is well to note at this time that unlike most men seeking public office, Thomas Jefferson did not seek the Presidency, but the Presidency sought him.

While Vice-President, Jefferson made the following observation: The second office of the Government is honorable and easy, the first is but a splendid misery.

Jefferson was notoriously a political visionary, his feats in seeing his new political party triumph was not a personal satisfaction, his gratification was both honorable and patriotic with little tinge of selfishness and none of malignity. His joy was for the people rather than himself and was really based on the establishment of sound principles more than on his own elevation. It was because of these high ideals that he refused the compromise with Hamilton involving political patronage. Although he kept many Federalist appointees in their offices, he did make wholesale changes in the departments jammed with job holders by President Adams even up to and including the day he left office.

I sometimes wonder if this much vaunted two party system of Government of ours will be able to survive the demands being made for permanency in governmental appointments. I believe if Jefferson were alive today he would join with other liberal and sincere Americans in fighting such un-American, un-Democratic acts such as the Hatch Act and some of the so-called Civil Service Acts. I don't believe that Jefferson ever intended that a citizen's right of franchise to participate in elections was conditioned upon the manner in which a citizen earned his living.

If any danger thereatens our form of government it will not be found in the biased political beliefs of job holders, but will be found in the biased political newspapers and periodicals which own and control the methods by which public opinion is created.

Jefferson was willing to sacrifice his opportunity to be President for the greater glory of sustaining the right of the majority to control the destiny of this Nation.

Every time an election result is changed by a group in power to suit their own selfish needs and desires, we are driving another nail into the coffin of our Democracy. I refer, of course, to actions such as that taken by this Senate when, contrary to all the rules of honor, of Justice and of Democratic principles, Senator Levine was unseated after being duly elected by the people of his district. As a direct comparison with that incident, compare the action taken in the case of a present member of the Senate, whose election was even more questionable than that of Levine. I call your attention to these matters to show you the difference in men. Here was a man who, for principle was willing to lose the greatest honor in the land as compared to men whose party interests supersede if not their love, at least their understanding of the constitutional rights of the American people.

I believe, with Jefferson, that no permanent injury can befall our institutions if left in the hands of elected officials, although civil service requirements may make for a more efficient form of government and I say this is a doubtful premise. We are witnessing a great and terrible war that was a direct growth of the so-called efficient European governments. It was the cry of Fascism, Communism and Nazism against the inefficiency of politicians, that gave them their power and made them successful. If we must sacrifice our Democratic way of life by taking away from the elected officials the power of government and giving the appointed administrators powers never intended by our system of government, then I personally feel that we may be justified in sacrificing some of our efficiency if in so doing we remain free.

Jefferson fought and won the greatest battle for commonality when our Bill of Rights was finally accepted.

The four freedoms that we are now engaged in a great war to preserve and foster are not an expansion on the principles af Jefferson, but merely an expansion of the territory and the peoples affected.

It would takes volumes to read into the records his many achievements as a scholar, an author, an inventor, an educator, a farmer, a statesman, a politician and a liberal.

I once found these words somewhere, and they left me convinced that Thomas Jefferson had a very profound and honest faith in his avowed principles, expecting indeed to gain by them, but only because he thought they were fundamentally right and therefore sure in time to prevail. He differed from the time-saving politician, because he staked his individual success upon the success of what he deemed intrinsically right principles. He differed even from the statesman who acts conscientiously upon every measure, inasmuch as, beyond devising specific measures, he set forth a broad faith or religion in statesmanship, making special measures only single blocks in the wide pavement of his road. He was sometimes insincere, often inconsistent, generally prone to shun hurt and danger to himself; but from the time when he began his graet reforms in the Virginia House of Burgesses, the general tendency and large lines of his purposes and policy held with such steadiness in the noble direction of a perfect humanitarianism. To this day the multitude cherish and revere his memory, and in so doing pay a just debt of gratitude to a friend who not only served them, as many have done, but who honored and respected them, as very few have done.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODWARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, whenever I hear a New Deal Democrat laud Thomas Jefferson, whether it is Senator Dent or Franklin Delano Roosevelt I get a bad taste in my mouth and a chill up and down my spine, because if there are some remnants of Jeffersonian democracy left in this country, the Republican Party has it. It is the Republican Party that has taken over Thomas Jefferson as their patron saint.

It does not make so much difference about it being two hundred years today since his birth—and incidentally, I think it is a shame that Governor Martin does not know the exact date of his birth—we are going to celebrate tomorrow—but the truth of the matter is it makes a whole lot of difference where a man dies. When he dies is much more important than when he is born, or where he was born.

It is interesting to note, and no doubt Senator Dent knows that Thomas Jefferson and John Adams died on the 4th of July, 1826; they were very intimate friends before their death, and during the last hours of Jefferson's life, Adams inquired whether Jefferson still lived.

I would not be on my feet, except I think some Republicans must recognize our patron saint, Thomas Jefferson. Thomas Jefferson was elected, as you know, in 1800 by one vote over Aaron Burr by the Electoral College.

Jefferson said many wise things, but I will mention only one of them, and I am sure that Senator Dent will recognize the force of this Jeffersonian principle, and also how much the New Deal has sinned against this principle. It was Thomas Jefferson who said "That government governs best that governs least." At the last count, Mr. Roosevelt has on his payroll—at least the New Deal has on its payroll—three and one half million people. Of course, it is a good while ago since Thomas Jefferson was inaugurated President, but he rode horseback, hitched his horse to a hitching post and was sworn in as President of the United States, and, of course, in all these years times have changed materially, but I submit to the Democrats who want to be Jeffersonian Democrats to remember the slogan "that government governs best which governs least," and I would like to see some of the three and one half million payrollees given one way tickets home.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I just have a few words to add to the discussion. I, too, would like to join Senator Dent and the Democratic Party in paying honor to their founder, but I would like to read the exact words of Thomas Jefferson in defining what is meant by Jeffersonian democracy.

The principle of Jeffersonian democracy, in Jefferson's words is: "A wise and frugal government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another and leave them otherwise free."

BILL ON THIRD READING

SENATE BILL No. 18 CALLED UP

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 18.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 18, on third reading, entitled:

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, when I introduced Senate Bill No. 18, which is now the subject of discussion, I emphatically stated, and it is a matter of legislative record that there is need for a strong parole law, with teeth in it but the present law falls far short of its objective. I realized that upon the presentation of this bill, I exposed myself to the risk of unfavorable criticism and possibly attacks from many sources. Needless to say, my critics did not spare me in the least, even to the point of injecting personalities and party politics into the issue in order to divert attention of the public from the important problem confronting us, and to force me to withdraw this all-important bill. However, the roar of the winds will not veer me from my chosen course.

The problem of parole has always been non-partisan. In 1941 when the present law was enacted both Republicans and Democrats voted for and against the bill. In 1942 it was treated as a non-political and non-partisan measure, and it is equally true to-day. I offered this bill without consulting leaders and members of either party. I acted on my own initiative. I challenge anyone in or out of the Senate to refute this statement I have just made. Certainly I welcome support from both sides of the House. The attempt to attach party politics to my bill is for the purpose of beclouding the issue. Gentlemen, my liberal record in this body speaks for itself. I need no apologies. I offer none. However, I am not the issue to-day. The Republican party is not the issue to-day. Nor is the Democratic party. The all-important problem is parole.

I am opposed to the Parole Act of 1941 because I consider it weak, confusing, extravagant, affords a medium for political patronage, and as falling short of its original purpose.

It is only necessary to advert to the recent decision of our Supreme Court concerning this Parole Law to appraise its true character. Justice Stern, speaking for the majority of the Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ex. rel., Elmer Banks, vs John J. Cain, plainly stated: That the Court is not concerned with the wisdom of the underlying policy of the Act. "The sole question presented to us is that of the validity of the Act."

It is clear that, in upholding the constitutionality of this law, the Supreme Court merely approved it as to form, and avoided any expression of opinion as to its substance—whether good or bad. However, Justice Drew, in behalf of himself and Justice Patterson, in a learned dissenting opinion, focussed his attention on the substance of the Act. He declared:

> "It should be a[illegible] that the [illegible] materially different from that proposed by the Commission of eminent citizens appointed by the Governor to investigate and report on the application of criminal penalties in the Commonwealth and the operation of its probation and parole systems and to make recommendations for the improvement and strengthening thereof. The law as enacted needlessly creates an extravagantly expensive system of parole, by permitting the present costly county parole system as well as that of the Board of Pardons, to continue to function although it calls for an "exclusive" system of parole; it places the appointment of an unlimited number of parole officers and employees in political hands; and it is so inartistically drawn that, even if its many and serious defects are now overlooked, it is bound to result in confusion and litigation before its true character is ascertained."

More recently, in fact a few days after Senate Bill No. 18 was introduced, the Philadelphia Inquirer which, I believe, is as much interested in decent legislation in Pennsylvania as any other newspaper in this State, asserted in an editorial that the present Parole Law is unsound; that the present Board was autocratic, and it was a matter demanding immediate attention by the new Legislature at Harrisburg. It goes on to say:

> "The first step in this direction has already been taken with the introduction in the Senate of a bill abolishing the present Board. That should be followed up by a re-examination of the parole system, leading to establishment of an improved system of prisoner release and rehabilitation.
> "The existing Board is lopsided with too much authority and deluded with million-dollar ideas for spending the taxpayers' money.
> "The five members have the final say on all matters relating to the parole of prisoners in State and county institutions in Pennsylvania. Their word is law. If they make mistakes there is no one to reverse their decisions. It is up to them alone to determine the length of a convict's term. It is up to them alone to build a huge army of probation officers, investigators, clerks and other employees.
> "The lavish scale upon which the present members expect to operate is evident from their amazing request for an appropriation of $1,650,000 for the coming biennium. No such carrying charges were ever visualized when plans were laid for inauguration of the new parole system. . . . .
> "The prime defect, however, lies in the vast, quasi-judicial powers held by the Board. Some of the present members are qualified for their posts. But there is nothing to prevent the appointment in future of those who are not qualified—untrained persons whose only interest, perhaps, would be a political or mercenary one, or who would see in this important State agency nothing better than a rooming house for lame ducks; or convict-coddlers who would unchain the prison doors for criminals unfit for freedom.
> "A Board with such broad powers might even be tempted by the possibilities of easy graft or the seeking of political favors
> "A superior authority, certainly, whether the Governor or some special agency, should have the power of review and rejection of the Board's recommendations.
> "The existing law is obviously unsound. The time to change it is right now at the outset of the legislative session. Parole reform is absolutely essential."

Moreover, it is a matter of public record that a number of prominent jurists and other persons whose names are well known to every member of this chamber and whose integrity is unimpeachable, expressed their unequivocal opposition to the existing law. At a hearing before the Judiciary General Committee, Warden Smith, whose views should command our highest respect, declared, in effect, that in the short time the Parole Board has been in operation it created more bedlam and chaos than he had ever experienced before. Major Pennington, who also appeared before this Committee, summarized his views by preferring the system which prevailed before the enactment of the present Parole Law.

Many judges and professional men could not possibly attend the public hearing on account of pressure of business. However others, eager to attend to express their views, hesitated because the critics of the bill in their desperation to cloak the true character of the bill, injected party politics into the matter. A third group, a rather timid one, wanted to avoid any involvement in a smear campaign. Their motives would have been impugned; their characters and reputations attacked by those who make a practice of hitting below the belt.

The Act was conceived, sponsored and concocted for the most part by impractical dreamers and theorists with no actual working knowledge of the parole needs of the individual prisoners and who hoped to impose their academic theories of prison reforms, regardless of cost, upon the taxpayer, a sort of Eden, a demi-paradise where their fertile imagination could thrive like the proverbial greenbay tree. It was in fact sired by the theorists and damned by the realists. Even Governor James who appointed the committee to investigate the problem, couldn't stomach it, although despairing of getting anything better, and making the best of a bad situation, he reluctuantly signed it. You know what happened in 1942 when he asked the legislature to postpone the effective date.

Thus far, we have charged the system with being weak, confusing, very extravagant, a political grab-bag and as presenting greater opportunities for graft and corruption.

I want to point out that I do not condemn the Parole Act solely because of its extravagant set-up, since if the money were wisely spent, it would be well worth the expenditure, but I condemn it because taken as whole, its fundamental vices overweigh its good points and because it has needlessly interfered with the proper exercise of judicial power and the constitutional functions of the Board of Pardons without substituting anything better or of value for it.

Further, I do not condemn it solely for the political patronage it might afford in setting up elaborate system of jobs, but the most important question is the prisoner's future. Can it best be determined by the judge who tried the case and who thoroughly studied the prisoner's background so that he could make a humane disposition of the case after sentence or by the cold impersonalized machine or robot that we call a Parole Board whose life blood is a group of professionalized social workers, and whose heart is an inflexible, unfeeling yardstick.

I am not unmindful of certain minor imperfections in our original parole system. Such imperfections are bound to arise where human beings are involved. They are not scientific mechanisms whose conduct can be determined with mathematical certainty. Yet, the proponents of the existing Parole Law would have us believe that they have discovered the exact formula of human character and can dispense justice with the precision of an adding machine.

Mr. President, the present Board may be offered as "Exhibit A" to sustain my position in ripping out the present Parole Law. Need I refresh the recollection of those who heard Dr. Robinson, and to tell others who missed the spectacle of the type of man who dominates the present Parole Board. He is the embodiment of the spirit of the Board itself and he is the Court of final appeal accountable to no one but himself, the typical p[illegible]st, to whom the prisoner is fundamentally an outcast, a case history, a derelict to whom every kindness ought to come only as a matter of condescending grace, a mere social problem—no matter what his process or hope of rehabilitation—can be consigned to oblivion because Dr. Robinson's professional prestige can not stand for long the contact with a prisoner's prison stench.

The great Board that can examine 80 some odd prisoner's in 8 hours—1 every 6 minutes. That is what they term personal contact. Do you?

The great Board that can refuse applications for parole without assigning any reason therefor. Undoubtedly disturbs the morale of the prisoner.

The great Board that can promise paroles to many prisoners, only to reject their applications. This certainly does not help the situation in the least.

The great Board that has failed to issue hundreds of discharges in instances where maximum term is up, so as to make it appear that the case load is higher than it really is—is that honesty?

The Board that has hired a conscientious objector as one of its agents—the great Board that has engaged an agent who on account of a physical infirmity can barely talk to anyone—what service can you expect under these circumstances?

It is important to note that, of the 500 cases in which paroles were granted by the present Board, as affecting the Eastern Penitentiary, 86 were arrested for violations of parole, 13 for technical violations, and 73 for actual commission of crimes. In one instance, where a prisoner was paroled, he committed murder, and to-day is a fugitive of justice. Very little is said or made of this case by the proponents of the present system, but they do, however, make much of the famous Blackie Zupkowski case whose sentence was commuted by the Board of Pardons, and later a judge of our county courts released him under probation on the remaining bills of indictments so as to give him another opportunity to help himself. Believe it or not, Zupkowski was represented by Francis Fisher Kane before the Pardon Board and obtained a commutation of sentence. A Mr. Frazier prominently connected with the prison reform society, appeared as a witness for Zupkowski before the judge who finally released him. The Pardon Board and the judge were severely criticized, but not a word directed at Mr. Kane and the great social reformer, Mr. Frazier, whose word is law with the Prison Reform Society. I wonder why? Even the great Mr. Frazier erred. Yet these very same men appeared before the Judiciary General Committee favoring the present parole system and condemning the former loose system of paroles, as they termed it.

It is characteristic of those who have an axe to grind to resort to half truths. The public is told by the supporters of the Parole Act, that the old system inevitably and consistently spewed forth murderers and recidivists on the innocent public and that vice was inherent in the system. They pointed to notorious parole violators who followed their paroles with tragic acts of lawlessness. But they have failed to tell you of the great many parole applications under the old system that were rejected in the first instance and the further fact that out of those actually paroled, the great majority of them never went back to prison and thereafter lived useful lives. Does the new Board now hold itself out as infallible? Does it want you to believe that the men they parole will never become backsliders, that no mistakes of human judgment will be made in paroling men? If they do, then they are insulting your intelligence. I have already indicated above what has happened to cases over which they exercised control.

Much ado has been made of a few parole violators who have betrayed the trust which has been placed in them. And the exaggerated manner in which these few parole violators is being presented to us is not unlike the tactics employed by the advocates of prohibition only a few years ago when, because they were able to show the evil effects of liquor in a carefully chosen number of cases, they succeeded in establishing a law which resulted in one of the darkest chapters of crime and corruption in the history of our country.

The process of rehabilitation is in my mind the most important feature of parole. It is one of the most important functions of society. The process of rehabilitating a prisoner is just as exact and as important a science as grafting new flesh on a disfigured face. It is not a machine process, but the handiwork of a skillful and sympathetic hand. It requires a great and humane understanding of human wants and needs and the effect to be obtained. So far as the prisoner is concerned, in my humble judgment, it can best be done by the practical worker on the bench and those under his supervision provided you furnish them with enough funds to do the job well. He alone considers the human grist as it passes thru the mill; he alone analyses and dissects and understands. To him alone comes the human feeling stated by Shakespeare in the "Merchant of Venice" that "Earthly power doth then show likest God when mercy seasons justice."

Thus far the work done by the present Board has been disappointing, and I may say disgraceful. In Philadelphia M. M. Payne, the Parole Supervisor, is now establishing a Gestapo, akin to what is taking place abroad, excepting for the use of arms. His work and methods are certainly not conducive to rehabilitation. Parolees have been ignored, in many instances taken away from their employment for several hours at a time, causing them to lose valuable time. On the slightest provocation they are being threatened. They are being haunted and forced to leave jobs in order to take other jobs. The so-called helpful hand is merely a whipping hand. I can cite specific instances to bear out what I have said, but time is too short.

The parole officers in Philadelphia, in this advanced machine age, are in love with any new-fangled machine as long as it makes a clatter and turns out a monotonous stamped product in mass production. But he seems to forget that in some lines the custom built article is still more desirable than the machine product.

Considering all these circumstances, do you believe that the present Board has accomplished more than the judges and Board of Pardons accomplished under the former system? My answer is "No." If anything, much more good was done for the benefit of society and the prisoner under the former system.

Have we lost faith in our judicial system and Board of Pardons? Would you prefer to have this plan administered by appointees, subject to the appointing power, to the system formerly administered by the judges, judges who are elected by the people and by the Pardon Board, two of whom are elected by the people? My answer is let us return to the former system, but give the Pardon Board sufficient funds for machinery and personnel. Let the counties appropriate sufficient money to set up the machinery necessary to administer a proper parole system.

In conclusion, may I state there is no doubt in my mind that every Senator in this body is in favor of a strong parole law.

There are many here who agree with me. There are some who disagree and I have the highest regard for the sincerity of their convictions. This bill has provoked considerable comment and discussion in and out of the body, and I sincerely hope that as a result of it some plan will be evolved to improve the existing system. If it is the wish of the body to refer Senate Bill No. 18 back to the Committee for further study and to substitute another plan that will correct the present system, I shall not stand in the way.

However, I do feel that in a matter so highly controversial the minority party should be consulted.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, in another hour this Senate will have been in session for almost twelve hours.

I can not let this speech of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, go unanswered. I do not think it would be fair, however, to the gentlemen of the Senate to attempt to answer it at this time. I intend at a time when the Senate is not pressed with its business to answer this speech because, as I have indicated many times, the passage of the parole act was the ratification of a great ideal for which the people of Pennsylvania have fought for many years, and I can not in all conscience permit an attack as unjustified to be made on that ideal without an answer on my part.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

POSTPONED CALENDAR

SENATE BILL No. 80 CALLED UP

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call from the third reading calendar postponed Senate Bill No. 80, appearing on page 13 of today's Calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 80, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine, (P. L. 34), entitled "An act authorizing the judges of the courts of common pleas and orphans' courts in counties of the third class to employ stenographers typists and clerks to facilitate the business of the courts, and to provide for the payment of their compensation by the county, and validating former employments and payments therefore"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I admit, as to this particular bill, I am not too familiar with exactly what it does. My judges and judges from various other first class counties have contacted me and said that they were opposed to this particular piece of legislation. I therefore contacted a group in the State whose judgment I respect in matters pertaining to acts concerning courts, and they tell me that the act has a proper place on the statute books and should not be repealed.

However, I personally want to say that it was my understanding, and I so wrote to the persons interested in the bill, that they would be notified before the bill was called up. I knew nothing of it being called up today and therefore, if they insist on voting on it the only thing I can do is vote "no."

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, by way of explanation in answer to the remarks of Senator Dent, I may say that this bill was placed on the postponed Calendar in order to give all third class counties an opportunity to contact their judges and to determine exactly their attitude. The judges have corresponded in these counties between themselves and have ironed out their differences of opinion, so that today, of the five counties involved, four of them are in favor of the bill. The counties in favor of the bill are the County of Luzerne, from whence I come, the County of Delaware, represented by Senator Heyburn, and the County of Montgomery, represented by Senator Edmonds. Each of the gentlemen in turn consulted their court and their court has approved of the bill I am informed by the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, that he was requested by his judge to support the bill I believe that this bill, which refers directly to counties of the third class, since it has received the affirmative votes of the judges of those counties, should be adopted by the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, when I see a bill on the Calendar which repeals an act of 1929, and which authorizes the Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts in counties of the third class to employ stenographers, typists and clerks to facilitate the business of the courts and to provide for the payment of their compensation by the county and validating former employments and payments therefore, the question naturally arises in my mind as to what happens to the employes, since this repeals the act authorizing the employment of these men. An investigation discloses to me that there is a purpose in the bill with which I am not in accord.

Under the existing law, the Act of 1929, Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and the Orphans' Courts in third class counties are permitted to hire employes, the salaries of whom shall not be in excess of $2,500 a year, and as I understand the purpose of this bill, it will repeal the Act of 1929 and permit the Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and the Orphans' Courts to appoint clerks and employes, under the County Act of 1931, and which would, to use the language of the bill, permit them to hire employes, the total salary of whom shall not be in excess of the court stenographer's salary. Now, as I understand it, court stenographers in third class counties receive $4,500 a year, and I understand that the real purpose of this bill is to permit Judges in the third class county courts to hire a law clerk, for the purpose of checking up on the law and to aid the court in arriving at decisions on statutes and cases that are brought before the courts.

Accordingly, notwithstanding the fact that one of the Lackawanna County Judges spoke to me and said that he was contacted by a Luzerne County Judge who insisted on the passage of the bill, I am against the passage of the bill, because it has the effect of increasing the salary of an employe in the particular counties involved from $2,500 to $4,500 a year, and, accordingly, I ask my colleagues on this side of the House to vote against the passage of this bill.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, voted on this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Senator Barr is not at this time present in the Chamber; for the information of the Senator he is working on some amendments.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I just wanted to know.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24

Becker,
Carr,
Crider,
Crowe,
Deitrick,

Less than a constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the negative.

PERMISSION REQUESTED TO CHANGE VOTE

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

Mr. SHAPIRO. I object, Mr. President. The vote has already been counted and announced.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair sustains the position taken by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro. The vote having been announced, it is too late for a Senator to change his vote.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. My point, Mr. President, is that I am here and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, is not, and I therefore suggest, with all due respect, that one of these nine or ten sergeant-at-arms or perhaps all of them, fetch Senator Barr, so that he has to sit here. He got us into this scrape, and why can he not be present and scrape along with us?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I respectfully suggest that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, while he may be temporarily absent from the Chamber, is on Senate business, procuring some information for the Senate, and I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to just be patient for a few moments and the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, will return.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, on my escutcheon I hate to recognize any "Barr sinister."

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 72, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045), entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters and providing procedure" providing for the divestiture of judgments obtained thereunder by tax sales heretofore or hereafter made.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (f) of section two thousand three and paragraph (e) of section two thousand five of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled, "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined" by extending the authority of the Department of Highways to rent and sell certain equipment and material.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for athird reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CRIDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 92, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost, and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 127, on second reading, entitled:

An Act permitting certain organizations to conduct the playing of the game of bingo under certain circumstances; providing for the issuance, suspension and revocation of licenses therefor and for payment of a registration fee, and providing penalties.

be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, last week Senate Bill No. 127 was reported from the Committee on Law and Order, and the vote was about 100 per cent for the bill. I can not see the use of holding a meeting of the Committee on Law and Order, reporting a bill out and then sending it right back to committee again.

I was instructed to have amendments ready for this bill, and I have them here and I would like to submit the amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to say for the benefit of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh, that this bill is being sent back to committee because I understand, with all due respect to the Senator, that there is a better bill coming over from the house—so the Chairman of the Committee on Law and Order told the Caucus. This bill is going back to committee for further study.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, if there is such a bill coming over from the House, send that to the Committee on Law and Order, because this bill of mine was presented about five or six months ago. I understand that this bill that is coming over from the House has perhaps the wording of my bill. In this bill that is coming over from the House, you give the handling of this matter to the courts of Philadelphia, and I maintain that this bill should be handled by the Revenue Department, as I think the Revenue Department is the proper place for this bill so I would like, Mr. President, that this bill be either voted on the floor and killed or else. I can not see the purpose of sending it back to the committee that reported it out with thirteen members voting for the bill—perhaps twelve, and one "no".

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCREESH. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like some information from Senator McCreesh from Philadelphia about the game of bingo, which I never played myself, and at which game I know he is adept, and I would like to ask the simple question whether or not it is not a gambling game, and therefore, I am voting against it.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I did not hear the question.

Mr. WOODWARD. I simply want to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if bingo is not a gambling game.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, somebody called bingo a horse racing bill. Now, bingo, and horse racing are altogether different. It is not a gambling game. You are gambling with your life perhaps every day in the week. The only thing I am asking for, Mr. President, is that this bill be voted on on the floor and not sent back to the committee that reported it out one hundred per cent. I do not understand why we should waste time. This bill was reported from the Committee on Law and Order and I am one of the members of that committee, and I hate to sit all day voting, and then have the bill go right back to committee, and then within an hour and a half a House bill will come over here and be reported out in preference to a Senate bill.

We have men with great brains on the Committee of Law and Order, and I think this action is reducing the caliber of the Senators.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I would like to say for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, that he need not worry about the Law and Order Committee voting on this bill again. If the Committee on Law and Order wanted to pass this bill, they would not send it back to Committee at this time, and he can rest assured that this is the time that he should say what he wants to say, because he will never get another chance on this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe it was Confucius who said; "Once bitten by a snake you fear every rope."

I had this very unhappy experience happen to a liberal bill that I presented. I was congratulating myself, on behalf of the thousands of soldiers in this vicinity and other vicinities which did not have Sunday movies, because I had a bill on the Calendar which would allow soldiers to go to Sunday movies, but all of a sudden it was sent back to committee for a public hearing, and I am afraid that same fate awaits the bill of my good friend, John McCreesh.

According to the House History, House Bill No. 86, which covers the same subject, was committed to the Committee on Law and Order on April 7, so that bill from the House is already in the Committee on Law and Order, and I subscribe to the thought expressed by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, that that is exactly where it will remain.

Mr. President, you know it may be funny to those of us who can afford to do things that a lot of poor old people can not afford to do. Every man in this Senate knows that bingo is a poor man's and a poor woman's game which is played mostly in our vicinity by aged persons who have not sufficient funds to go to moving pictures and other things. They sit around playing bingo for a nickel or a quarter or maybe fifty cents for a whole evening, they win prizes, which in most cases total something like sixty-five per cent of the entire take.

It is all right for those of us who are young and have a lot of things that still interest us, but is not proper to say to a lot of old folks that they can not play bingo. Personally, I could never understand how anybody can have the patience to sit all night for a nickel. I play for higher stakes and so do a great many of the other members of this Senate.

You know, Mr. President, it is just things like this that makes one believe that you have not read Jefferson at all. This is Jefferson's two hundredth birthday. The freedoms that he fought for are embodied on this type of legislation. If the old folks in this country of ours and in this State of ours want to play bingo, I for one say, let them play it, and besides, there is not a man in this Senate if he is honest but can tell me that he knows of bingo games being played in and around his vicinity and yet you do not do anything about it, just like you do not do anything about breaking the Blue Laws in and around your vicinity. Cigar stores stay open, newspapers are peddled by little kids in bare feet, all sorts of things are done on the Sabbath Day, but you will not legalize it, no, because that might put your vote of approval on something that you may try to tell me that you do not believe in.

If you do not believe in bingo, then clean it up. You are in charge of the State Police of the Senate of Pennsylvania. Stop it all over the state and see how long it will be before protests will come rolling into Harrisburg that will make you reconsider your action. Why take away from these old pensioners, as it were, who have but few days left on earth, the privilege to enjoy the one thing that they can do cheaply, play and enjoy an innocent game of bingo? Why, I think that it is disgraceful for men to sit here and deliberately kill this bill by sending it back to committee. Take an open vote on the question and let us vote like men, not mice.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, when the Committee on Law and Order reported this bill out, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, stated very definitely he would like to have it out on the floor so that it might be studied, and, while it was on the Calendar, he would get some amendments ready to introduce.

Since this bill has been on the Calendar, a bill came over from the House together with a note stating there were some features therein that were very acceptable, and the sponsor of the House bill felt that some of those features in the House bill could well be adopted probably to the Senate bill. It was therefore felt that the proper thing to do would be to recommit this bill to the Committee on Law and Order so we could make a comparison between the two bills, and if we found that one had some advantage over the other, proper amendments could be adopted in Committee.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I think I abided by the decision of the committee, and I have my amendments now prepared. I feel sorry that this Committee on Law and Order should do one thing and then come right on the floor in a few days and forget altogether what they did, their promises.

Why not let the bill go along and kill it when it comes up for a vote? I have 855,000 people back of this bill. I have 800 lodges and committees and Fraternal orders back of the bill. This bill is a money raising bill for the State of Pennsylvania; it is not a gambling bill, it is a bill where you are doing a lot of harm to the poor old people of Pennsylvania, and you are certainly creating a lot of trouble when you say you are going to vote on the bill.

Yesterday you said you would vote "yes" for this bill.

We have thirteen members of the Committee on Law and Order, and to be frank with you, I do not believe in attending those meetings of the Committee on Law and Order if we are going to lie today and tomorrow we will do something else.

I attended the Committee meeting and I feel that I know what I am doing, and if I say "No" on a bill I will come out here on the floor and vote "no." Here we have thirteen members saying "yes" and then come out a few days later and forget what they said in committee, forget all about their promises. You come in here in the morning and attend meetings and have no respect for what you have said. These men here, are all true, good, and honest men, but something must have happened. Let this bill get the same consideration that other bills get and I will be perfectly satisfied. I agree with the gentleman from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, that the bill got a fair chance in committee and that he did his very best, and I hold the highest respect for him, but something must have happened, and I will be satisfied if my bill is killed on the floor.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, since the merits of this bill are under discussion at the present time, I do not feel I should keep silent.

A great deal has been said here about the necessity for old people playing bingo, in order to amuse themselves, when they can not spend money otherwise. I am asking one simple question here: if these old poeple were asked to congregate together and play bingo just for the fun of it, when there was no temptation in the form of a prize offered, would they be there? If those old people were asked to gather together and congregate for the purpose of playing bingo and nobody was getting any gain out of it, if every cent those people laid down on the table to play this game came back to the people playing it, nobody would dare to advance this bill as a proposition for enactment into law in the State of Pennsylvania. Up until the present moment the State of Pennsylvania has not legalized gambling in any form and whether you call it gambling, whether you call it innocent fun or what ever you call it, when people put more money into a game than they get out of it, that is gambling pure and simple, and the fact that some organizations have resorted to this means to keep themselves in funds is certainly a good criterion by which to judge such organizations which demand such a thing as this bill in the name of religion or in the name of a lot of other things around which they can wrap the flag.

I say to you, my fellow Senators, that this is a step in the wrong direction. If we begin to legalize gambling in any form, it is the first entrance and always when anything like that gets an entrance, very soon it wedges itself in and eventually other things must follow in its path. For that reason I shall oppose this bill throughout all the time that it is under consideration, both in the Law and Order Committee and on the floor of this Senate, if it ever comes up for a vote.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I would not say that the money that is derived from this bingo game would be illegally spent. This money will be well watched and well taken care of, used perhaps for paying the interest on a small mortgage or something else.

The gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr, I consider is doing his duty when he speaks his mind, and I know that the fact that these old people want to play bingo does not alter his opinion or mine either. These old people, perhaps, do not go to the tap rooms, they do not go to the dance halls at eighty-five or sixty-five, they do not go running around the streets all night, and perhaps, if you let them play a game of bingo, you will prevent them from going to the Philadelphia General Hospital or somewhere else, you get their minds off something else. You take an old lady or an old gentleman, and all day you keep them pottering around the house, eventually you will drive them crazy, and sooner or later they will have to go to the Philadelphia General Hospital or somewhere else.

Members of the Senate, I feel you are doing a very unjust thing when you are depriving some old gentleman or some old lady that does not want to go into a tap room, if you do not allow them to get togeteher some place every month or two, or every three or six months and play a game of bingo, and the money that is derived will prevent some place from going up for public auction or a sheriff's sale.

I say, let us vote on the bill, and if the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr, want to vote "no," I will be perfectly satisfied. That is all I want.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McCREESH and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21

Bowers,
Carr,
Crider,
Crowe,
Deitrick,
Ealy,
Edmonds,
Farrell,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred)

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, as one of the members the Committee on Law and Order, I should, I suppose, vote "yes," on this motion, but I am going to vote "no." I want to make another statement before we are through, and that is, if this other bill comes on the floor for a vote, I expect it will get the same consideration from you as my bill got.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of Parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODWARD. I desire to inquire as to how the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Barr, voted on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The record shows that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, is not recorded as having voted.

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, why is he not here?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, Senator Barr, from Allegheny county, is at present engaged with Senator Geltz and Senator Walker from Allegheny County on a matter of business concerning the Senate.

If the gentleman from Philadelphia has such an affection for the Senator from Allegheny, if he can not stand the absence of the Senator for a few moments, I will arrange personally to bring him back, so that his affection shall not be disturbed.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Schuylkill will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WATKINS. I desire to know whether or not the Lawrence-Barr filibuster or slowing down is still in effect.

The PRESIDENT. Does any Senator wish to reply to the Senator from Schuylkill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not know that there was such a member. May I answer the gentleman from Schuylkill.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not know that there is a member of the Senate by the name of Lawrence.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I read in the daily press this morning an article to the effect that Dave Lawrence was directing the filibuster.

Mr. DENT. I might say to the gentleman from Schuylkill, you know we Democrats do not take any stock in what appears in the daily press.

Mr. WATKINS. I am not seriously concerned about what is in the daily press. I am wondering if Dave Lawrence who dictates the policy of the Democratic party is directing the filibuster.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask permission to make a short statement.

The PRESIDENT. Is the statement that the gentleman from Allegheny desires to make in connection with the Calendar.

Mr. HOLLAND. No, Mr. President, it is in answer to the charge that Mr. Lawrence is dictating the policies of the Senate, which charge was made by the gentleman from Schuylkill.

The PRESIDENT. That question has been asked, and the gentleman from Allegheny has a right to answer it.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I have listened to the gentleman from Schuylkill asking this Senate whether Mr. Lawrence dictates to the members of the Democratic party.

First of all, Mr. President, Mr. Lawrence, quite in contrast with the leaders of the Republic party, Mr. Grundy and Mr. Pew, does not dictate, he sits in Caucus, and we as Democrats decide the policy that we will pursue in the Senate. Mr. President, I know the gentleman from Schuylkill can not honestly state that his party can do likewise, unless they at least pay off the moneys they owe Mr. Grundy and Mr. Pew, because, after all, the Republican party is in hock and when they are in hock they can not do the proper thing for the people of Pennsylvania, and I might add, for the information of the gentleman from Schuylkill, that we are still wondering where the Chairman of the Republican party got the $50,000 that he loaned to the Republican party.

SENATE BILL No. 272 CALLED UP

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I desire to return to page 15 of the calendar and call up Senate Bill No. 272, Printer's No. 226, which was passed over temporarily.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am about to offer amendments to Senate Bill No. 272, but before doing so I should like to state for the information of the Senate that these amendments are merely to correct a typographical error. As the bill is now worded, a borough in Allegheny County is spelled as "McGees" and this amendment merely corrects that typographical error by inserting "McKees" and also to correct a second typographical error on Page 2 beginning at line 9 to insert the thirty-third district, which was omitted by the printer.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 272, entitled:

An Act to apportion the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into congressional districts.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WALKER offered the following amendments:

Amend Senate Bill No. 272, page 5, line 16, by taking out the word "McGees" at the end of the line and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "McKees."

Amend bill, page 2, line 12, by inserting between the word "twenty-third" and the part word "thirty-", the following: "thirty-third."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second and third sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill as amended, on second reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am going to ask the sponsor of this bill if he would mind holding this bill on second reading. Of course, I do not think that probably any request of mine will get very far. However, I would like to say, Mr. President, that while I was absent from the floor of the Senate, I was talking with two Republican Senators from Allegheny County and other Republican officials and we think we may get some place in this reapportionment bill as far as it affects the county of Allegheny.

I am merely asking that Senate Bill No. 272 be held on second reading until we have time to adopt these amendments or talk further this evening about them.

Mr. HEYBURN. I am sorry, Mr. President, I have to object to Senate Bill 272 going over in order. We are so tied up with the Calendar here that we must proceed to read and dispose of all bills we possibly can.

Mr. BARR. I may add, Mr. President, that it is just those tactics which is the reason we are in the muddle we find ourselves in here in the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill as amended, on second reading?

It was agreed to.
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,
The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 486, entitled:

L. 198), entitled "An act to establish a county court for the county of Allegheny and prescribing its powers and duties; regulating the procedure therein and providing for the expenses thereof," by conferring upon said county court jurisdiction in appeals from the Workmen's Compensation Board.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 506, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand thirty-three of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation; and providing for refunds," extending the provisions of such section for a further period of two years.

This afternoon before leaving the floor of the Senate, I told the Majority floor leader where I was going, together with two colleagues from Allegheny, and we went downstairs and tried to work out some solution of this reapportionment bill. We thought we were getting along very well and when I returned to the floor, I understand that one of my colleagues was criticised by his own colleagues for even sitting down with me and he told me that all negotiations on the reapportionment bill were over, so my negotiations will have to continue.

King of our lives we gratefully acknowledge Thee as Son of Man and Son of God. In Thy walks and works among mankind, the centuries have acclaimed Thee as the greatest and best of heaven's gift. Today, we pause to give thanks for the indwelling of Thy Spirit in the life and labors of Thomas Jefferson who contributed so largely to the foundation structure of our republic. As he gave himself devotedly for the establishment and exercise of personal, political and religious freedom so may we be worthy successors as we keep alive these inalienable rights.

This we ask in the name of Him who came that all might have life and have it more abundantly. Amen.

CONVENTION DELEGATES WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the C. I. O. Convention meets in Harrisburg and that there are a number of delegates attending the session this morning. The Chair would ask them to rise in their places and receive recognition. We are happy to have you with us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, several weeks ago for some reason still unknown to the minority, a series of bills was suddenly considered in Committees and reported out on the floor of the House before any of them had even been printed in pink, and before even the Legislators had had an opportunity to have the bills for any time to read or to consider, let alone taking them back home to consult persons or constituents who might be interested in the legislation. We got over that one, and we were able to help remedy the situation somewhat by not moving those bills too rapidly, so that there would be an opportunity for study. I thought, Mr. Speaker, snarls of that sort could be avoided by more careful action in the future. But today we have another situation that deserves comment. Many of the Members on this side of the House, in fact all of the Members on this side of the House, and I know of several on the other side who came to work this morning—I don't know what time a lot of them came in, but I came in at 10:30, and as I got off the elevator I got off with Members of the majority and of the minority party, and for the first time, looking at the black board, I found that Committee meetings were being held. In fact one of the Committee meetings had started at ten o'clock. There were meetings set for eleven o'clock and twelve o'clock. I don't know how many members on the other side of the House had notice of those meetings. All the Members know that the Committee on Judiciary General and the Committee on Welfare hold Committee meetings at ten o'clock and eleven o'clock every Tuesday of the session, so that there can be no complaint as to those Committee meetings, but on these other Committees at least the minority was left out. Whatever members happened to come along and happened to see the Committee was meeting, were able to go into the Committee meeting, but I think some of the Members on the other side of the House did not have a chance to go into the Committee meetings, and I think most of the Members of this side of the House had no chance to go into the Committees to discuss or to approve or disapprove of the bills. I should not like to think, Mr. Speaker, that it was a sort of a plot to get certain bills out without certain people being around. If it is such a plot, of course, it stands roundly condemned, and we are going to continue to condemn and oppose bills if they reach the floor of this House without proper, full committee consideration being given, after notice of Committee meetings has been given to the Members of the House.

I should rather think, Mr. Speaker, that it was not a diabolical plot, and for that reason, I make the suggestion that all these bills that were reported out today, if they appear on the calendar, either be held on the calendar until a full committee meeting is held or they be recommitted so that the committee may study them. I don't know what any of these bills contain, and neither do the members on this side of the House because we haven't studied them. We want a chance to study the bills. They may be o.k. and they may all not be o.k., we don't know, but we certainly want the right to go into these bills and know what they are about before they take their order on the calendar.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to briefly reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I understand that the Bulletin Board was very plainly marked as to the time and place of the various committee meetings this morning, at the time we adjourned this House, and I don't see any reason why that was not plenty of notice in good time for any of the members who cared to get up early enough this morning to attend committee meetings. I certainly do not see any reason personally for holding any of these particular bills on the calendar.

After all, if the shoe pinches, and and the Members were not able to get here this morning, let us put the shoe on the foot of those who want to wear it. There has been plenty of time to study these bills. They have been in committee for many days, and there have been practically no bills introduced for the past few weeks.

If we can be shown where any of these bills that were reported out of committee have just been there for a matter of a few days' time, that these men have not had the opportunity to study them and scrutinize them, that is one question, but I certainly am opposed, just because certain men could not get to certain committee meetings because of circumstances and things that happened in this House for which this side of the House is certainly not to blame, if they could not get there it is just too bad.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have made it a practice around here when we adjourn at the end of any particular session, be it at night or in the daytime, be it at eleven o'clock, two o'clock in the morning or six o'clock in the afternoon, to close up shop. I am usually the last man to leave the floor on this side of the House, and before I leave my office, I usually take a look in again to make myself sure that everything is all right.

When I left the hall of the House last night, Mr. Speaker, I looked at the Bulletin Board as I usually do, and the Bulletin Board had nothing on it. There were no Committee meetings on that Bulletin Board last night when I left, and certainly I do not think it is the duty of the Members of the House to stand out there and wait for the man who has been delegated to mark up the Bulletin Board to come out and mark it up. I am not complaining about these bills, I do not know whether they are good ones or bad ones. The chances are that they are all good. That is not the point. I am not talking about the fact that we may or may not have had a chance to study these bills, as all good Legislators ought to know what every one of these eleven hundred bills introduced in this House contains. You are supposed to read them all. What I am complaining about is that once having gone to the trouble of studying them you don't get a chance to discuss them in committee. That is what committees are for, to voice your objections, to point out defects, to make suggestions for betterment. That is what I am complaining about, Mr. Speaker. I am complaining about the fact that there was no announcement by the Reading Clerk last night that there would be committee meetings. That is what usually happens in this House, announcements are made. I am complaining that these announcements were not on the Bulletin Board last night. I cannot blame any Member on this side of the House if he wants to sleep a little bit longer. If he knew that he had to get up to attend a committee meeting at ten o'clock in the morning he would probably get here in time. We might have someone on this side of the House who does not read all the bills. I think these people should get a badge of merit and valor for doing all that work so that they may have a chance for a discussion of the bill in committee. I am complaining about being blanked out and being shut out from consideration of the bills that are put out, good or bad.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, has it not always been the policy in the past that the Reading Clerk announce the place and time of committee meetings?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, that has been the policy. As the gentleman from Philadelphia said, that has been the usual policy. I might say that last night we seem to have run into the unusual so far as the operations of the House are concerned.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, after the House adjourned last night I left here with the rest of the members with nothing on the Bulletin Board. I came back here about 2:25 or 2:30 this morning, being the only Member in the House at that time, and I really know that at that time the Reading Clerk was marking up the committee meetings for this morning.

BILLS READ AT LENGTH

Mr. COHEN. I request, Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the terms of the Constitution of Pennsylvania that all bills be read at length.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman insist that all bills be read at length?

Mr. COHEN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, the sponsor of this measure.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. ROOT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman, referring to section 6, which is known as the repeal section, why is it necessary to repeal the Act of 1939?

Mr. ROOT. Of course, the act—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield please? Did the Chair understand the interrogation was directed to section six?

Mr. TATE. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. We are considering section 1 of the bill. Will the gentleman yield until we have reached section six?

Mr. TATE. May I ask the gentleman some general questions about the bill?

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman's questions refer to section 1, he may do so.

Mr. TATE. Yes, Mr. Speaker, they do.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman as to what happens to the period of redemption which follows after the discharge of the lien.

Mr. ROOT. There isn't any period of redemption on the tax lien provided for in this bill.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker. I desire to know from the gentleman if the Receiver of Taxes in the City of Philadelphia desires by this bill to strike from the records taxes on which the liens have already been discharged by operation of law, and can the gentleman tell me what amount of taxes are involved.

Mr. ROOT. I cannot, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. Can the gentleman tell me whether it may be one million dollars?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, the amount of money that is involved I don't know, but it does not represent any asset of the City of Philadelphia because the tax liens have already been discharged by law.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me whether or not this situation refers to any specific case?

Mr. ROOT. It does not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me what departments of the City of Philadelphia are objecting to carrying these taxes on the tax records?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, the Receiver of Taxes and all good business practice requires that you do not carry upon the books of any business or any municipality tax liens that have been discharged by law.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether any group of citizens have objected to this practice.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, I would say that all citizens of the City of Philadelphia desire to see this bill passed, because they do not want the city to carry on its books liens that have already been discharged by law.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman whether or not he has received any communications from any citizens or groups of citizens favoring this measure.

Mr. ROOT. I do not think that this is an issue that requires any citizen to write a letter upon the subject.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me why the citizens favor it if they don't know anything about it?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia knows, being a good business man, that no one carries on his books assets that are worthless and the City of Philadelphia wishes to follow the same procedure.

Mr. TATE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth and fifth, sections were separately read and agreed to.

The sixth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROOT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman why he is repealing in this section the Act of 1939 which was supposed to have taken care of this situation?

Mr. ROOT. Because the Act of 1939 does not take care of the situation, Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced and that is why we are repealing the old act.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me why it does not take care of the situation

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, under that act tax liens are kept on the books of the Receiver of Taxes even though they are worthless and cannot be collected.

Mr. TATE. Can the gentleman specify what the Act of 1939 provided?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, the Act of 1939 provided that the Receiver of Taxes keep records of all taxes assessed until collected.

Mr. TATE. Does not the gentleman know that the Act of 1939, P. L. 322, specifically states that the Receiver of Taxes is to certify the liens that have been discharged to the Board of Revision of Taxes, and that the board may order stricken from the record the specific liens which have been discharged by operation of law

Mr. ROOT. In answer to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, the Receiver of Taxes desires to keep a clean set of records and does not wish to wait for the Board or Revision to tell them when to strike off these liens.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me whether or not the Board of Revision of Taxes has been delinquent in this respect ?

Mr. ROOT. I don't think so. The Board of Revision of Taxes is attending to their duties, and this is merely an additional help from the Receiver of Taxes to do this job more perfectly and more accurately.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I take it then that there is no reason for this bill. I thank the gentleman.
